REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

For Governor, JAMES A. BEAVER, of Centre County. For Lieutenant-Governor, W. T. DAVIES, of Bradford County. For Judge of the Supreme Court, WILLIAM HENRY RAWLE, of Philadelphia. For Secretary of Internal Affairs, JOHN M. GREER, of Butler.

For Congressman-at-Large, MARRIOTT BROSIUS, of Lancaster.

CLEAR THE DECK FOR ACTION.

Buffalo Commercial Advertiser. If the Independents should refuse to accept this offer, their selfish and disloyal designs would at least be exposed and their ability to draw away Republican votes would be greatly lessened.

LET BOTH TICKETS BE RETURNED.

Philadelphia Inquirer. If the party can be more thoroughly united, better prepared in its unity for securing a victory over its natural opponent, by the retirement of both tickets and the nomination by a new Republican Convention of a new ticket, from which all the present candidates of both factions shall be excluded, then let it be done.

WHAT IS THOUGHT OF THEM BY REPRESENTATIVE NEWSMEN.

THE INDEPENDENTS JUSTIFIED. Boston Advertiser. But it is clear that the sympathies of the Republican party of Massachusetts cannot be with Senator Cameron. His rules have been quiet too selfish and arbitrary, and the only wonder is that it has been tolerated so long.

SHOULD UNITE THE PARTY.

Republican State Committee in Pennsylvania in its action has done everything possible to bring about reconciliation between the two wings of the Republican party. In agreeing to a new convention, the committee has met the hopes rather than the expectations of Republican papers like The Courier, which have seen in such action the surest path to harmony.

An Incident Worth Quoting Throughout the Campaign.

General Beaver visited Phoenixville on the Fourth of July. The reception given him by the people was most cheerful. General Beaver created good feeling by saying that the rain and the mud had subdued him and had forced him to forego three speeches which he was waiting to launch upon the Chester county voters.

Unconditional Surrender Demanded.

Philadelphia Evening Telegraph. This action of four of the independent candidates, while, as we have said, it emphasizes their mischievous Republicanism, is really a misconception of their prerogatives. Colonel McMichael alone having clearly comprehended the situation. Again has the spirit of devotion to Republican principles been emphasized in a manner which cannot fail to strengthen the cause of Reform.

Right here," answered Beaver in the silence that followed, at the same time extending his wooden leg; "here is the only 300 medal I carry."

"This immediately enthused some of the old soldiers present, and they began a running fire of questions about the war. Some of them had fought under Beaver. D. F. Moore, who keeps a large tin and hardware establishment, listened to the talk as long as he could, in silence, and then spoke. "General Beaver," said he, "I, too, am an Independent."

"The best evidence of success is success," and that is why Prof. Guilmette's French Kidney Pads have had such an enormous sale, for it positively cures all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs.

Good Grit.

KNOCKED DOWN TWENTY-SEVEN TIMES IN FIFTEEN MINUTES WINNING $1,000. New York, July 17.—John L. Sullivan and "Tug" Wilson, the English champion, fought in Madison Square garden to-night. During the course of the fight Wilson was knocked down twenty-seven times, but succeeded in standing out for the entire four rounds, winning the money.

At 8 o'clock there were about 10,000 people in the garden—a motley gathering, mainly thieves and ruffians, though many respectable people were present. The entertainment was opened by a sparring match between a lot of well known boxers, but the vast crowd soon tired of this, and finally hissed them off the stage and demanded the production of the champions. At 9:30 Wilson and Sullivan accompanied, the first by Arthur Chambers and Geo. Holdeu and the latter by Billy Madden and Joe Goss appeared in the ring. The vast audience rose and cheered the two men and were wild with delight.

Death of Mrs. Lincoln.

THE WIFE OF THE MARTYRED PRESIDENT DIES IN SPRINGFIELD. Springfield, Ill., July 16.—Mrs. Lincoln, widow of the late President, died in this city at 8 1/2 to-night. She had been ill for a long time. A few days ago she grew worse. Saturday evening she suffered a shock of paralysis, and from that time lay in a comatose state till she died. Robert Lincoln left Washington to-night for this city. The announcement of the funeral will be made later.

[Mrs. Lincoln, whose maiden name was Mary Todd, came of a prominent Kentucky family. She was married to Abraham Lincoln when he was thirty-three years of age, and had attained prominence as a practitioner in the courts of Illinois. Taking more pleasure in her household duties than in society, Mrs. Lincoln played an inconsiderable part in the remarkable career of her illustrious husband. She never recovered from the shock of the assassination, and since then her vagaries have been the subject of painful concern to her family and friends. While she was in New York last winter under treatment for her eyes the attention of Congress was directed to her condition and her pension was increased. She left New York for her home in Springfield, partly cured of her eye trouble, but still suffering from nervous debility.]

New York Democrats.

A STRONG PROBABILITY THAT MR. TILDEN MAY BE NAMED FOR GOVERNOR. New York July 16.—The call for a meeting of the Democratic State Committee at Albany on the 8th of August is taken as an indication of a desire of an early Convention and an aggressive campaign. As to the place in which the Convention will be held, it is probably that Albany will be selected as the most convenient locality. The western politicians concede the leading nomination to the eastern end of the State, and they will make no objection to holding the convention at Albany. Perhaps there never was a time when a State Committee will meet with less cut and dried sentiment than now, and less wish to force a fixed programme upon the delegates who are afterwards to assemble and decide nominations as to candidates for Governor, the prevailing idea appears to be to remain noncommittal as to men, but positive as to policy. In reference to the list of possible candidates, as mentioned in newspapers, while there is a general impression that Mr. Tilden will not allow his name to go before the Convention, there is a great many who believe he will be a candidate, not that he wants to undertake the onerous duties of the office, but because he fears that should a popular candidate be elected for Governor, his chance for the Presidential nomination two years hence may be lessened. His friends insist that he is the best available man for 1884. The uncertainty as to Mr. Tilden seems to keep the canvass of names in a backward state, as it is known that several gentlemen heretofore prominently mentioned will withdraw their names in case he comes before the Convention asking the nomination.

Defeat Better than a New Deal.

Buffalo Express. It is a little late for this sort of thing. The Independents were ready to make any honorable terms before the conventions were held, but the Cameronites insisted on running things in Boss fashion. Now that defeat stares them in the face they want to try a new deal. But defeat is better than any more deals. The Independent are perfectly justified in all they have done. If the Cameronites want to avoid defeat let them support the Independent candidates.

The Independent Course the Fairest.

Philadelphia Times. The Independent candidates propose to remove all personal antagonism from the contest by stepping down and out, so that an entirely new ticket may be nominated which would have a chance of success at the polls in November. To any unprejudiced observer this will commend itself as by far the more unselfish and conciliatory course. Colonel McMichael's letter, however, will appeal very strongly to the class of Independents who believe they are engaged in a deadly conflict for a righteous principle.

Bad Counsel the Danger.

Philadelphia North American. We regret the proposition for a new convention based on the Republican votes, and elected by popular vote, as practically retiring both tickets. The masses are to exercise their free choice as to candidates, or the idea of a new convention is absurd. The gravamen of the charge against the former convention is that the people were not properly deferred to. Should the candidates retire and pledge themselves not to accept nominations from a new convention, that would be something beyond the committee and entirely outside of their right to do so. There can be no objection to such action by the candidates, who are masters of their own choice and amenable to their own consciences. The difficulty that now threatens is bad counsel, of which there will be no lack.

Look out for a fellow who is tramping over the country selling a powder which he alleges was made by Edison for the purpose of increasing the illuminating power of coal oil to that of electric light. He asks $3 per box for it. It is a fraud of the first water. If the cheery scamp visits any of your readers he should be made to "light out" without ceremony.

THE BEEF FAMINE.

Facts and Figures on the Subject. THE PRESENT SCARCITY OF MEAT PREDICTED YEARS AGO AND ANOTHER LIKE IT TO BE EXPECTED IN 1885. General S. Brisbane writing from Fort Keogh, Montana, to a New York paper, says that the beef famine prevailing in some parts of the East has excited great interest in the West. Beef cattle of all kinds have gone up $3 to $9 per head, although the stock raisers say they see no good reason for such a rise. The beef famine is merely a panic and will soon be over, but it is a warning of what may really occur if we do not take pains to raise more beef. He says that three years ago he predicted this famine of 1882 and another like it in 1885, unless more cattle were raised, and he adds: It is my opinion that we have been in a beef famine for the last ten years, though we did not know it. A four-year-old steer can be raised on the plains for $7, and the meat of the animal ought not to command in any part of the United States over ten cents per pound dressed. That a cattle raiser should make twenty, thirty, forty and even fifty per cent annual profit on the money he has invested in cattle is outrageous, but he will yet make still more than that if more people do not go into stock raising as a business. A careful examination of the statistics of cattle production in the United States will show that the increase of cattle has not kept pace with the increase of population, and the only wonder is that beef is as cheap as it is.

Last year we had in the whole United States 11,000,000 horses, 32,000,000 cattle, 39,000,000 sheep and 34,000,000 swine as against 50,000,000 inhabitants. A little figuring will show the pitiable condition we have arrived at for a supply of fresh meat. Nor did we get all we raised, for 185,700 cattle were exported from this country last year worth $14,304,103. Last year also 699,421 new people were added to our population from foreign sources, and fully 1,000,000 from domestic sources. To put it in other words the increase of cattle was as one and a half per cent, to an increase of two per cent, of people. How long will this continue no one can tell, but if it keeps on long the poorer classes will have to eat beef only once or twice a week and depend on mutton and swine for the rest of their meat diet. There is, however, a great prejudice in the minds of the people against hog meat. The little worms which infest the flesh of swine are dangerous to human life unless the meat is well cooked, and in any event it will be a long time before pork can be made popular. Good beef at reasonable prices is what the people want, and that is just what the people cannot get now.

While the manufacturing and cereal and vegetable interests of the United States have advanced fairly the stock interests have comparatively stood still. We are to-day raising beef for only 40,000,000 of people, whereas we should be raising beef for 80,000,000. The reasons for these are various, chief of which is the fact of the scarcity of land in the East. Farmers have found that in heavily populated districts it does not pay them to raise cattle. The large number of acres required for grazing purposes is incompatible with small farms, and to stall feed in large numbers is not practicable. So the Eastern farmer devotes his land to cereals and vegetables, and often buys his own beef. The distance of the plains from the East, and the danger from Indians, have heretofore deterred Eastern capitalists from seeking investments in stock raising out West. Happily that difficulty is now removed. The railroads have opened up the West, and the Indians, with the exception of a few in Arizona, have been conquered. The pastoral lands of the West have never been understood or appreciated by the people of this country or the Government. The day will come when the national Treasury will derive more taxes from the grazing country than the best agricultural regions. Those arid plains so long considered worthless are the natural meat producing lands of America, and in a few years 50,000,000 people will draw their beef from them. Where are the great grazing grounds, do you ask? They are in Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, Dakota, Wyoming, Montana, Washington and Idaho.

He then goes on to say: For the next ten years I believe cattle raising will be one of the most lucrative callings in the States, and those who have the good fortune to be able to engage in it will rapidly grow rich. The best way is to associate capital and raise cattle in large numbers. It costs no more to take care of three thousand steers than it does one thousand, and the profits are more than three times as large. Every year the stockmen start the story East for the benefit of the "tenderfoot" that the stock business is overdone and the good ranges all taken. This is done to prevent new men from going into the business. The stock men know they have a good thing, and wish to keep it as long as possible. They would like to see beef $1 per pound, and would ask $100 for a steer worth $10 without the slightest compunction of conscience if they thought they could get it. If I had two or three thousand head of cattle, I doubt if I would write this letter, but, unfortunately, not having any herd of my own, I am only interested in getting beef as cheaply as possible from those who have herds.

A Great Blow at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, July 17.—A terrible storm passed over this city at 5 o'clock this morning. Trees were uprooted and the trunks hurled great distances. Several houses were unroofed, and the towboat Alex. Foster, which was at work near the mouth of the Allegheny River, was blown over. Its occupants all made narrow escapes. Daniel Scobie, the driver of a brewer's wagon was blown off his high seat and sustained injuries from which he died a few hours after. The top of a physician buggy was also torn off and carried over a number of houses. The storm lasted only five minutes. Its fury was greatest in the higher portions of the two cities.

A MODEL VERDICT.

Lancaster, July 14.—The Coroner's jury empaneled to inquire into the death of Mrs. J. P. Showers, by drowning reported in The Press of yesterday, returned a verdict of which the following is a verbatim copy: "Elmira Showers came to her death on Tuesday night, July 11, by being there alone in a creek called Conococheague creek, half a mile from the village of Roomstown, herself voluntarily and feloniously drowned; and so the jurors aforesaid, upon their oaths aforesaid, say that the aforesaid Elmir Showers, in the manner and form aforesaid, and feloniously, as a felon of herself, killed and murdered, against the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

Look Out for it.

Within a week hundreds of clever imitations of the ten dollar greenbacks of the issue of 1875, have been put in circulation, and our readers will do well to keep on their guard. No such deluge of bad money has been spread since the five dollar counterfeit on the Tamaqua National Bank of Pennsylvania, were distributed here five years ago, and the matter has occasioned much alarm among the treasury officials. The bad bill is well calculated to deceive. Among the points of difference between good and bad is a slight irregularity in the shape of the letters in the line on the top of the face of the counterfeit. "This note is a legal tender for ten dollars." On the counterfeit there is no space between the words "for" and "ten." In the word "printing," just below the words "for ten" the last four letters "ting," are in italics. In the counterfeit the numbers are very irregular, and the lath work, particularly in the upper right hand corner, is blurred.
