Mongio Unload. [Philadelphia Press.]

The Republican cause is far more important than any one man. The restoration of Republican unity is above all personal considerations. No candid and fair-minded Republican in the State, whether he be a regular or an Independent, disputes that it is Senator Cameron's wilful and proscriptive boss rule which has produced the widespread disaffection and revolt No such Republican doubts that, if Senator Cameron were out of the way, the party would be again united and triumphant. Why should one man be suffered to weigh down the great Republican organization with its splendid history and its still untirished mission? When there is but one obstacle to Republican harmony and progress, why should in be premitted to blast Republican hopes and aspirations? Why continue a long and disastrons struggle when we can end all practical differences and enter upon a new career of triumph by unloading Senator Cameron?

But how unload him? What practival step can be taken to promote a result which every carnest Republican recognizes as a consummation devoutly to be wished? The question has been asked in many quarters. It is a reasonable question and deserved a frank answer. Unload him, we reply, by proclaiming that he cannot be re-elected to the United State Senate. and by earrying the issue into every district which elects a State Senator with a vote on that question. The members of the lower branch of the Legislature chosen this year do not participate in the election of the suc cessor. It is not necessary, therefore, to raise the issue in their cases. Republicans are not called upon to imnose any personal tests or to exact any personal pledges in uniting to secure a Republican House of Representatives. The question need not be carried any further than is essential to secure an abject which is vital to the future welfare of the party. Two years hence, unless the matter shall be rightly setthat before that thus, it will be legitimate and important to present the bane in electing every member of the Legislature; but for the present it may properly be confined to the choice of State Senators.

One half of the State Senate is to be elected this year, and every Senator thus thosen will have a vote upon the question whether Mr. Cameron shall be returned to the scat he now holds. Here, then, is the direct, immediate, decisive opportunity to unload. Here is the pripable way to strike at the real object without imperiling anything else. Let these twenty-five Senstors, most of whom come in Re-publican districts, be men who obey the will of the Republican masses, Let them be asked to declare whether they will follow the unmistakable Re publican sentiment of the State and vote for ome Republican more acceptable than Mr. Cameron. It is not only legitimate but eminently right can this test should be applied. Mr. Cameron seeks re-election he is tarring practically a candidate in is beeley practically a candidate in these twenty-five districts, and it is an undealably just demand that the proble should be enable to speak intelligently on the question. He must be prepared to pass the public ordeal like any other candidate. It is entirely fit that the people should propounce directly on the question of Senator as on that of any other public Senator as on that of any other public officer. The last time a Senator was ebesen Mr. Grow made an open pop ular canvass, and the people declared their will on the subject, and they have the rightteask that Mr. Cameron duall accept judgment in the same If he is not prepared to meet this sone in the broadest form, he can relieve the public mind by declaring that he is not and will not be a candidate for re-election. Such a declaration would solve the political problem in Pennsylvania. It would do more to clear up the clouds and restore the sanshine of Republican peace than all other measures. It would bring thousands of votes to General Beaver and remove the ground of opposition. But if Mr. Cameron is not ready to has given him such high honors, then let the party unload him. Let the question be carried into the Senatorial districts and addressed to the Republican candidates. Such a movement lowed out would speedily settle the matter. It would very quickly be determined and proclaimed that a majority of the Republicaus and their representatives were opposed to Mr. Cameron's re-election; his return could be shown to be impossible; and by that act the party would effectually ankand him. In the last contest the machine candidate for United States Scantor was beaten, and that, too, at a time when public sentiment had not been fully groused. There is no in-telligent Republican but believes that, with an energetic fight against it, Mr Cameron cannot be re-elected. Why, then, is it necessary to turn the State ever to Democratic hands in order to, accomplish his defeat?

> 501 N. Fremont St., Baltimore During the war I was injured in the stomach by a piece of a shell, and have suffered from it ever since. About four years ago it brought on paraly-sis, which kept me in bed six months, and the best doctors in the city said I could not live. I suffered fearfully from indigestion, and for over two years could not eat solid food and for a large portion of the time was unable to retain even liquid neurishment. I tried Brown's Iron Bitters and now after taking two bottles I am able to get up and go around and am rapidly improving. G. DECKER.
