

Grand Ball!

There will be a Grand Ball at Hyde's Opera House, on Friday evening, Nov. 3, 1882. All are cordially invited to attend. Music by Miller's orchestra. Hall tickets $1.

By Order of Com.

Boards Wanted. L. C. Dickinson, at west Ridgway, is prepared to take a few first-class boarders. Apply at his store.

Several heavy frosts lately. Vote for Montgomery for Assembly.

Company H departed on mail west Tuesday last for the Bi-Centennial celebration at Philadelphia.

The lumber is on the ground and work commenced on E. J. Miller's new building on the west side of the court yard.

A. C. Craig is now in eastern cities laying in a large stock of goods in his line. His stock of fancy goods will be very complete.

There is a dog tax in the Borough of Ridgway. From the number of dogs one sees, it would seem that the revenue from that source must be something immense.

A Card.

The undersigned embrace this opportunity of returning their sincere thanks to those of their friends who did so much by their sympathy and kind offices to lighten the burden of the affliction placed upon them in the death of their only child on Sunday last. Words cannot express their gratitude, nor can anything but death obliterate the memory of the deeds of love and kindness performed in that dark hour of bereavement.

A Deer Captured.

On Sunday last a deer ran into the clearing at Laurel Hill. All hands at once turned out, and it was but a short time before the nimble-footed animal was captured. It seemed bewildered at the number of men and dogs which it encountered at every step. This was quite a piece of luck for the citizens of Laurel Hill, and an unlucky thing for the poor deer, who was soon served up for the Laurel Millites' dinner.

Madden's Humpty Dumpty troupe gave an entertainment at Hyde's Opera House last Monday evening. The audience was a large and appreciative one, the large hall being filled. Charley Madden the celebrated clown, whom our citizens were so well pleased with, in Hillard's circus last year, was the chief attraction and an entire show by himself. The entire company were excellent. The Slack wire performance excited loud applause. The musical pair are hard to beat. The Irishman's dancing and songs were tip top. The singing by Miss Stove gave great satisfaction. Chas. E. Griffin with his babies brought down the house.

A terrible accident occurred at Winterburn a few days ago in which a man felled a tree upon his son instantly killing him. Mr. Rudolph, the father, had left his son with a family and for some reason the man started to take the boy to his father in the woods. Rudolph was busy felling a tree, and was not aware of his approach, and when it fell he made the fearful discovery that he had killed his son. The man who had accompanied the boy barely escaped sharing the same fate. The boy was a bright little fellow only about seven years of age. -Dreftwood Gazette.

Justices of the Peace have a right on their own personal view to cause the arrest of an individual violating the Sabbath or indulging in the use of profane language, and fine him according to the provisions of the act of Assembly in such case made and provided. They are not obliged to wait for information to be made before them. They are conservators of the public peace and can institute summary proceedings against Sabbath breakers and persons using profane language. We think our Justices must be both blind and deaf, as the amount of Sabbath breakers in this place are numberless. -DuBois Courier.

It is now announced that the gross receipts of the Post Office Department for the last fiscal year were more than five millions greater than those of the previous year. Auditor Elia believes that when the returns of expenditures have been ascertained there will be found a neat revenue for that year of a million dollars. It is well known that the Post Office receipts still continue to increase very fast, so that it is fair to presume not only that no appropriation at all will be required from Congress next winter, but that the end of next June will see a surplus of several millions, which the Department will not know what to do with. Shall this be left to excite the cupidity of the star route and other thieves, or shall letter postage be reduced to two cents? -New York Sun.

Elk County S. S. Association. A Sabbath school service will be held at Dagus Mines Saturday afternoon and evening, Oct. 28th, under the auspices of the Elk County S. S. Association.

Obituary.

KLINE—On Sunday, October 22, 1882, of cholera infantum, John Jay, son of M. S. and Carrie V. Kline, aged 1 year, 4 months, 17 days.

Baby is dead. Yes, it is too true. "This well with the child," we know. Little Jay needs not our tears nor pity. "Safe in the arms of Jesus," what more could we ask? But the aching hearts left behind. The loving mother, fond father, and dear grandparents; to these with streaming eyes and tenderest sympathy we would say, "God's will be done."

Jay was a remarkably bright and beautiful child. Sick only since last Wednesday, it does not seem possible, that to-day we have laid his dear little form in the dark tomb. The cherished treasure of his home, the almost idolized pet of grandma; yet 'twas God that said, "Bring me the child." And although the little dimpled hand will no longer tap on the window, and the sweet voice call "Drama," your little one waits at heaven's window, a bright beacon light for your tired feet, when they shall "Cross the river," and angels' voices welcome you home.

"It matters not the time When we shall end our pilgrimage below; Whether in youth's bright morn, or manhood's prime, Or when the frost of age has whitened o'er our brow.

The child has blossomed fair, And looked so lovely on its mother's breast, The source of many a hope and many a prayer, Why murmur that it sleeps when all at last may rest?

Scathed from a world of ween, Where they must suffer most who longest dwell, It vanished like a flake of early snow, That melts into the sea, pure as from heaven it fell.

The youth whose pulse beats high, Eager through glory's brilliant course to run, Why should we shed a tear or breathe a sigh, That the bright goal is gained—the prize thus early won?

Yes, all we know, must die, Since none can tell the exact appointed hour, Why need it cost the virtuous heart a sigh, When death doth crush the oak, or nip the opening flower?"

Offices Offered Stewart. WELLSBORO, October 20.—Senator Mitchell, in introducing Senator Stewart to the audience at the mass meeting here yesterday, spoke as follows in reference to the charges that Mr. Stewart had sought office from the general government:

"Mr. Stewart has been charged with self-seeking and thirst for office. I desire to say here that, while his name was mentioned in connection with a prominent place in the diplomatic service of the Government, it was solely at the suggestion of his friends, and never did he solicit the interference or influence of myself or my colleague in connection with any office or position for himself. Indeed, it is within my own knowledge that without suggestion from himself or friends, he was tendered positions in the service, which he declined because of his unwillingness to accept office from the appointing power."

Independent Republicans, Hold a Mass Meeting. At the court house on Thursday night last week, Maj. Merrick, of Wellsboro, Independent Republican candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs, and A. M. Martin, of Lancaster, addressed a good sized audience on the issues of the day.

The meeting was organized by the election of C. E. Holiday as Chairman. Mr. Holiday took the chair, made a pleasant little speech, in which he touched on some important points of the campaign, he then thanked the audience for his election as chairman. A long list of prominent citizens, throughout the county were named as Vice Presidents.

Also a number of Secretaries were chosen. Mr. Martin addressed the meeting first and was followed by Maj. Merrick.

—Demand it, and take no other iron preparation except Brown's Iron Bitters. It is the best.

—Baking powder freshly made twice a week at Day's drug store.

Democratic Pow Wow.

At the court house on Friday evening last the Democracy of Elk county held a large and enthusiastic meeting. Brass bands were at the meeting, one from St. Mary's and one from Dagus Mines. A special train brought a large delegation from St. Mary's. The court house was packed.

E. J. Miller was chosen chairman, and in a few well chosen remarks thanked the audience for the honor which they had conferred on him.

A long list of vice presidents was read by C. H. McCauley.

G. C. Brandon and W. C. Henly were elected secretaries.

President Miller introduced the orator of the evening, A. G. Curtin. Mr. Curtin made a speech which those who do not agree with him in many particulars are willing to acknowledge was an effort worthy the fame of the old war Governor. Many things he said were true from all standpoints. Many times he was interrupted with applause, so that he could scarcely proceed. He said of Stewart, the Independent candidate for Governor, "He is the peer of any man in the State, both as to natural abilities and in culture." Mr. Curtin was listened to with rapt attention throughout his remarks.

After Curtin came the delegate, Or S. T. B.

And he spouted, With windy, windy, windy words. Gesticulated with unheard of antics, Like unto an ape in dire agony. The audience came near Taking pity on him, and putting him out of misery by shooting. All he said was froth.

There were tongues in the audience, And the Silly-Tongued Bloat knew it not.

He told dirty stories, Filthy as rot, Until ladies withdrew indignant, And men could scarce refrain from hissing him to scorn.

And yet he knew not common decency, But blatted and blatted. Shame, shame, O shame, That such an one should follow Curtin's manly effort.

And yet S. T. B. survives! Not on the principle that the fittest should survive. But that it takes all kinds of people to make a world.

But that you were Democrat We should assail you more, For if that party can stand you and live It's none of our funeral, But we'd hate to be a Democratic party.

That's all.

The Next National Senate. (Philadelphia Press.)

Some of our esteemed contemporaries see in the Ohio election and the division among Republicans elsewhere grounds for anticipating not only that the next House, but the next Senate as well, will be Democratic. The gain of eight congressmen by the Democrats in Ohio undoubtedly favors the conclusion that that party will control the next National House of Representatives. The Senate, however, changes slowly, and there are no new senators to be chosen this year in Ohio, Pennsylvania or New York, the three States which Republican disaffection gives the Democracy a transient strength. The Republicans have already lost one senator in the person of Kellogg, of Louisiana, who will be succeeded after March 3 next by Randall L. Gibson. This, however, is offset by the election of Riddleberger in the place of Johnston, of Virginia, as he will undoubtedly follow the example of Mahone and act with the Republicans. This would maintain the tie if the other Republican senators whose terms expire next March are succeeded by those of like faith, but the election of a Republican Legislature in Oregon insures the choice of a Republican senator in place of Mr. Grover. This will make thirty-eight Republicans, two Readjusters and thirty-six Democrats in the next Senate, unless the Republicans meet with some unexpected losses. The senators of that party, besides Kellogg, whose term expires next March, are Chilcott, of Colorado; MeDill, of Iowa; Plumb, of Kansas; Frye, of Maine; Hoar, of Massachusetts; Ferry, of Michigan; Windom, of Minnesota; Saunders, of Nebraska; Rollins, of New Hampshire, and Anthony, of Rhode Island. The last named senator has already been re-elected, and Wilson, Republican, chosen to succeed MeDill. The September election in Maine insures a Republican from that State, while the chances of the Democrats capturing the Legislature of Colorado, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska or New Hampshire, are not very great. The Republicans, on the contrary, have a fair prospect of choosing senators of their own party from both New Jersey and Illinois to succeed John R. McPherson and David Davis.

The Judgeship. [Cameron Press.]

The judicial conference, which has been in a "dead-lock" for the past four weeks came to a close last Saturday with the withdrawal of S. F. Wilson from the contest. Two of the Toga delegates voted for A. G. Olmsted, thus nominating him on the 322 ballot. Messrs. Wilson and Smiley appeared before the conference and in neat speeches indorsed the nomination and pledged their support. The end of this "dead-lock" is hailed with delight by all good Republicans. The nomination of Mr. Olmsted insures his election. He is well and favorably known throughout the district as a lawyer of large experience and has for years occupied a front rank in his profession. His election is a foregone conclusion.

CONGRESSIONAL CONFERENCE.

The Republican Conference of the 20th Congressional District met at Bellefonte, on Tuesday, the 10th inst., and organized by the election of Gen. J. Irvin Gregg, chairman, and M. J. Watt, Sec'y.

Samuel H. Orwig, of Union Co., was unanimously nominated as the candidate for Congress.

MR. ORWIG'S NOTIFICATION. Bellefonte, Pa., 10th Oct., '82. Hon. Samuel H. Orwig, Dear Sir—We beg leave to inform you that, at a meeting of the Republican Congressional Conference of the 20th Congressional District, composed of the counties of Union, Clinton, Clearfield, Centre, Elk and Mifflin, you were unanimously elected the nominee of the Republican party in said district for Congress.

Very respectfully, Your Obedient Servants, J. IRVIN GREGG, Chairman. M. J. WATT, Secretary.

MR. ORWIG'S LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE. LEWISBURG, Oct. 13, '82. GEN. J. IRVIN GREGG, Chairman. M. J. WATT, Sec'y. Republican Conference, 20th Congressional District.

GENTLEMEN: Your letter of the 10th inst. is received, informing me that, at a meeting of the Republican Congressional Conference of the Twentieth Congressional District, composed of the counties of Union, Centre, Clearfield, Clinton, Elk and Mifflin, I was unanimously chosen the nominee of the Republican party in said district for Congress.

The six counties included in this district embrace a portion of the State in which agriculture, manufacturing and mining are leading industries; and a frugal, industrious and happy people pursue their several avocations measurably undisturbed by political agitation. Democrats and Republicans alike, are interested in, and demand, good government, and a just and economical use of political power in whosoever hands the same may be placed. Their devotion to the Union was manifested when rebellion threatened its destruction; and from almost every farm, workshop, mine and forest the bravest and the best went forth to offer their lives on the altar of their country.

It would be a high honor to represent so industrious, intelligent and patriotic a constituency in the Congress of the United States; and, if elected, whatever of ability or energy I have would be devoted to a faithful discharge of the duties of the office.

It will be the imperative duty of your representative in Congress to labor zealously not only for the reduction of public expenditures but for a return to a system of severe economy. A just complaint at this time is that more revenue is assessed upon and collected from the people than is required for the proper demands of government.

A plethoric public treasury begets needless extravagance in expenditures, and, as a consequence, useless offices are created, and the public revenue is largely appropriated to the payment of salaries to officials, whose services, like their salaries, are a burden, and only a burden upon the people. The system of Internal Revenue needs thorough revision. The system which brings revenue into the treasury and at the same time brings a just reward to labor and the products of the mine, the factory and farm, is the protective tariff.

I recognize the fact that former elections indicate that the district is largely Democratic, and that my distinguished competitor has attained high honors in both political parties; and, while I sincerely hoped that this nomination might be conferred upon some one better qualified, I do not feel at liberty to decline the call, and submit the matter of election to the voters of the district.

Very respectfully, SAMUEL H. ORWIG.

Fight With a Catamount. AN ADVENTURE OF A HUNTER IN THE WOODS OF PIKE—A NARROW ESCAPE.

Willonsville, Oct. 18.—On Friday last as William Cosner and his cousin, Abner West, aged respectively twenty and eighteen years, were traveling the woods in this vicinity in search of game they heard a cry similar to that of a child, coming as they supposed, from a small thicket, and concluded to investigate. Cosner started around this thicket in one way and West went the other. The latter had not gone more than thirty feet when he espied a large catamount in a tree directly over his head. Before he had time to bring his gun to his shoulder Cosner, who had also seen the same object, fired, but his gun being loaded with line shot, only enraged the animal, which sprang upon West before he could get under the tree. A tussle ensued, and Cosner coming to the rescue, shot the beast with his revolver. West was pretty severely scratched, and had his clothes nearly torn from his body, but escaped without serious injury. The animal measured a little over four feet from tip to tip.

ELECTION PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, In and by the 13, section of the Act of General Assembly of Pennsylvania, passed July 2, 1869, entitled "An act relating to the elections of the commonwealth," it is enjoined on the sheriff of every county to give notice of such elections to be held, and to enumerate in such notice what officers are to be elected. In pursuance thereof, I, Thomas Sullivan, High Sheriff of the county of Elk, do hereby give notice to the
