The Late Dr. Lardner. The English newspapers announce the death of the Rev. Dr. Dionysius Lardner, well known in this country and in Europe as electurer upon science. The New York newspapers of yesterday teem with biographies of this gentleman. Of these, that in the Tribune is the most racy, and, as far as our personal knowledge onables us to judge, the most correct. Dr. LARDNER was an ordained clergyman of the Church of England, but, since 1840, when he showed such an ignorance of the distinction between meum and tuum, as to run away with the wife of Captain HEAVISIDE of Brighton, he had the decency to put his clerical character out of view, and has ever since figured in lecture programmes, on the title-pages of books, and in such society as would receive him, as plain Dr. LARDNER, a layman. We do not think that the Church had much loss in him. When the London University, suggested by

Nobody is so popular now as a penitent rebel, ready to confess in sins and to worship the treachery he has hereto fore decounced. The honor of dining with Mr. hanan has not been much sought after, must say, since he has been elected, but the fac that he is willing to extend his hospitalities at men of your stripe, is surely a sign of the times that deserves to be recorded. The case of Osirioks & C., against the City of Pittsburg, involving the validity of bonds given by the city for railroad subscriptions, which has been on trial for several days in the United States Circuit Court, before Mr. Justice Grier, was devided vesteday.

oy the city for railroad subscriptions, which has been on trial for several days in the United States of Circuit Court, before Mr. Justice Grier, was decided yesterday.

Four classes of bonds were involved in the suit:

1. The bonds given by the city of Pittsburg for its stock subscription to the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company.

2. The first issue of bonds, given for subscription of the city to the Pittsburg and Steubenville Railroad Company.

3. The bonds given for subscription by the city to the stock of the Chartiers Valley Railroad Company.

To all these bonds, a great number of objections were raised by the defence, most of which were overruled by the court. The court sustained the validity of the bonds to the Pittsburg and Steubenville railroad, and also the bonds given to the Chartiers Valley Railroad Company. But the first issue of bonds to the Pittsburg and Steubenville. Company were made transferable only on the books of the city, the court held, that until that was done, a sult could not be maintained on the coupons. A verdict was taken in favor of the plaintiffs for the smount of the coupons hold by the plaintiffs on the second issue of the Pittsburg and Steubenville Company, were withdrawn by the plaintiffs to avoid a verdict under the ruling of the court, and to bring new suits on each class.

Judge Grier held, that the bonds given to the Alleghony Valley Railroad were void, because the not of Assembly had only authorized the city to subscribe to the stock of the company, and had not workers held the stock.

PREPARED FOR THE SEASON .- In a visit to their establishment yesterday, we found that the popular caterers to the raiste in the confectionery line.—Messar, E. G. Whitman & Co., Second street, te ow Chestnut— had been making the most ample preparations for the Summer trade For some years past very few faw illes baye thought of leaving the city during any part of Scamer without a supply of E. G. Whitman & Co's superior candles, and we are qu'te sure, after the "thousand and one" delicious new thisgs invented by hem expressly for the present season, that their place will be made still more the centre of general attracion. There is this consolation, more ver, that per-ons who are so situated as not to be able to leave the city at all, can, nevertheless, indulge in what little folks rould regard as good a thing, viz B. G. Whitman & Jo.'s superfine, richly flavored confectionery.
