Next season, I trust several vessels from Eric, Pennsylvania, will ongago in this trade. We have five steam-saw mills, capable of supplying lumber enough for a fleet of vessels. It is now generally conseded that Superior can supply the entire lake with lumber, etc. This is caused by our position, harbor, and vast tributary forests adjacent. One vessel left our harbor last July, with two hundred and seventy-five thousand feet of lumber, etc., bound to Portage Lake, a distance of three hundred and fourteen miles.
