The mathed out with a sonbaam in the heaven. The mathed below and source is often for t his face, and he needed only to stretch forth steady hand to pluck and resure it. But, also how saily, how very fadly, have these bright expectations been disappointed! How is main the observation is shored and the observation of a plantiful have these golden opportunities been misimproved ! Instead of an energy figsthering of a plantiful haves to peace and of praise, he has justly earned an elmost universail heritage of oblogy and repreach. The causes of this are manifold and manifest. We can only giance at the most prominant. Mr. Bachana came into power, claiming to be a Demostrat, pay eccelleries, of the strictest and straitest sect. Originally a Federalist, all his na-a Democrat, par excellence, of the strictest and straitest sect. Originally a Federalist, all his nastrattest sect. Originally a Federalist, all his na-tive impalses were in complete unison with the most aristorratio and high sounding exclusiveness of that ancient and venerable party. He came over its the Democratic side during the over-whatming tide of the personal and political popu-larity of Andrew Jackson. Once over, he illus-trated, by his new-born seal, the truthfulness of the undertained of that if or personal is more for Douglas! And if one be caught in the act, or even suspected, no matter how competent, how honest, or how faithful, or how long and how connonest, or now faither or now long and now con-sitent his past devotion to the President himself, he is at once summarily dismissed, and is succeeded by some pliant tool of Executive caprice, who is himself tresh from the altars of apostacy! With solemn seriousness may it be asked: " Is the Preant adage, that " one renegade is worse sidency of the United States, then, an office 60 barren of duty that its incumbent can find leisure than ten Turks.". This is an indisputable axions that sudden converts from opposite extremes gene-rally seek to preve the genuineness of their confor such paltry work as this? Are there no higher purposes to claim his time and attention? Alas! version by an impetuous ardor which the originals in the same faith seek in vain to imitate. It was purposes to claim his time and attention? Als : that the high dignity of the office, with all its im-mense and august responsibilities, should ever have fallen into such hands! Between the office and the deep moral degradation of the incumbent, it is a matter of profound regret that it is not pos-sible to draw a line of demarostion. Gladly would we dissolve them were it in our power is the set of the power is the set of the in the same faith seek in vain to initiate. It was so with Mr. Buohanan. Traditionary resolies-tions, not of the most pleasant nort, had ascribed to him, should he, with misroscopic agency, be able to defect a solitary drop of Ds-mocratic, blood in his arbeinal system, the declaration of an absolute determination to evenue it by means of philobolamy an ope-tion when the set of th evacuate it by means of phlobotany-an ope-ration which not a few ovil-disposed per-sons, at the time, supposed he could very readi-ly submit to, and not grow the least pale by the depiction ! Be this as it may, his early and vohe-ment Federalism was plainly notorious. And now, to demonstrate the genuineness of his conversion, he proceeded to the outer verge of Democratic radicalism. But, the sequel has proved, "that what is bred in the bone does not disappear at the fiesh." The ancent Federalism of Mr. Buchsman, it would seem, is too ingrain ever to be rooted out more harably than his perfidy and reoklessness leserve. Thank God ! his Administration is rapidly drawing to a close. Its epitanh has already been written, and is plainly to be read in the deep and universal excoration of the American people. Let who will be his successor, (should it be the re-doubtable Jo Lane himself,) the next Administration cannot fail to be an unspeakable improvement on the present. The Executive history of James Is would seem, is too ingrain ever to be rooted out, Long, and artfully, and more will be rooted out, Long, and artfully, and more will be too easily, but only the more wirelent was its outbreak, at last; for, whatever else the impartial instorian may affirm concerning the Administration of Mr. Buchanan, we are very sure, will stand without a rival on the page of American history. It will be itself its only parallel. For treachery, venality, and imbesility, coupled with a rare admixture of consummate and despote arrogance, we predict Buchanan, not one, we are confident, will be bold we shall never look upon its like again. Our paenough to claim that it has been signalized by the least regard for the pure and elementary princi-ples of Democracy. On the contrary, it has been, triotic and sagacious forefathers, who framed the Constitution, we verily believe, must have had ust such a President and just such an Administraand is now, in practice, as ultra and as thoroughly. Federal, as, was ever the Administration of the tion in view, when they restricted the term to four years. Unspeakably calamitous would it be to der Adams, with its Allen and Sedition Laws have to endure such's National curse for six or If Democracy consists, as it does, in bringing power, as nearly as possible, to the people, whose will is the primary seurce and whose welfare is the eight years. The most welcome sun that has ever shone upon the American people, we are very cer-tain, will be that which consigns Mr. James Buultimate aim of all government, then, judged by this standard, the Executive branch of the American Government, as administered by Mr. Buohanan, has well nigh obliterated every remaining, vestige of old-fashioned Jeffersonian and Jackson peracy. Yes, if Mr. Bushanan's Administration has been, or is now, a Democratic Administration has been, or is now, a Demooratic Administra tion, then we will have to take our first lesson in Demoorary over again, and the fathers, from whom we learned it, will have to return from their graver, and configue that they did not understand it. ce, by chicanery and bribery, to stiempt to ing, which was in direc bey took no part in fram tion to their almost unanimous wish, and r than live under, they would have rerted to the sword ? We refer. of course, to Mr. Suchanan's attempt to force upon the people of Cansas the Lecompton Constitution -- an Instrument lich even a Southern Senator declared " ought have been kicked out of Congress"-and which re the whirlwind of popular indignation, has ad into " the receptacie of things lost upon the arth." Was that Democratic, not only to do evil maself, but to insist on others becoming svilas well, or consent to political estracism agh the requirement violated their proundest moral conviction ? Was that Democratic th lightning speed to commission J. Glancy lor and unworthy man, to a court, on the very day it had be teined that the people of old Berks had Was that Democratic to resist the of Stephen A. Douglas, when it was slear as the sun at high noon that the people pre ed him above all others? Under former Ad ns, what is known as the "outside is. wthe opinions and wishes of the both in the sattlement of measures and of Democratic pelley is utterly ignored. Now the office-holders are everything, the people nothing. In a Convention held, the people must be kept out of the gelleries! Are nominations made, they nade by custom house and navy-yard alf so much dread of holy water as have Mr. Buhanan and his satraps of the people. And yet he iaims to be a Democrat, and challenges for his n the praise that it is co ncient Jeffersonian principles! Mr. Buchapan is ople-bater by intlinet, and it has come to pass the contempt is equitably reciprocal. If he the people despise his opinions quite as cordially. Mr. Buchanan entered upon his high office with he most solemn asseveration that it would be his ramount aim and desire to draw more closel can States as a Confederacy. Scarcely a message has the "old public functionary" sent to Congress, ot a sceech has he delivered, not a letter has he ave not constituted the staple. Over the dangers that imperil its existence he has shed as many tears as ever did Jeremiak, the "Weeping Prophet". the desolations that threatened his beloved salem. Not only has Mr. Buchanan written for the Union, and wept over it, but he has even prayed for its preservation-in public, certainly. Whether he has ventured to do so in secret, is doubtful. But, unfortunately for Mr. Bu-chanan's fame, these tears are proved to have of the crocodile sort, and these prayers th as the highest conceivable authority as s us the God of Heaven will not hear. In the same hour, indeed, that he has affected all devotion to the Union, he has been in secret tion with its sworn enemies, and has at gth been driven by the tempest of unrestrained n to place himself in the very fore-front of their ranks! No man has written and spoken mar nst Disunion. No man has done, or is now doing, ore to strengthen the hands of the Disunionis and render their machinations formidable. Even at the present writing, he is "cheek by jowl" with Yanesy and his little hand of confederate Union-breakers, and is doing more, mangre all his tears and prayers, to imperil the Union, than any man of his day and generation. A more figaus tears and prayers, to imperii the Union, that aby man of his day and generation. A more fa-grant and fagitious disregard of plighted faith it would be difficult to call from the darkest page of mankind's moral history. grant and fisglifous disregard of plighted faith it would be difficult to call from the darkest page of mankind's sport history. Prominent among the causes that shall sink the same of James Baskanin into a grave of obloary which shall know no resurrection morn, will be the receited on of his base ingrafting to the host of early and devoted friends who clang to his poli-tical fortunes in their darkest and most uppromis-ing how. ng hour, and upon whom, no sooner had he reach-id the goal of his earthly ambition, than he unously and ingloriously turned his back coremonically and ingloriously turned has back ! Than he, no mass ever had truer and more distint-rated friends. Than he, as the signal has proved, no man has ever deserved them loss; for no man has ever repaid the generous offerings of years of homest and said forein unconcern. We speak not aldedanful and forein unconcern. We speak not now of the bestewal of office. This is a considera-tion which is the consistent alars into Lilliputian insisticance.
