By an announcement elsewhere, it will be seen that Dr. R. Shelton Mackenzie, Literary Editor of The Press, will deliver a lecture in the new National Hall, at Chester, on laturday evening, the 21st instant, on "The Lights and Shades of Irish Character." the proceeds to be given to the Volunteer Refreshment Saloons of this city. We need hardly say to our numerous readers in Chester, respecting this lecture, that, while they will b assisting in a graceful act of patriotism towards our voluntecrs, they will have the opportunity of enjoying a rich literary treat.

LAST LECTURE OF THE SEASON BY HENRY WARD BEECHER .- The last lecture by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, in Philadelphia, this season, will be given, at Concert Hall, this evening—the seventh of the People's Literary Institute course. Mr. Beecher is on of the few living public lecturers, the announcement of those names invariably attracts a crowded audienc There are special reasons for his lecture to-night being the most spiry he has ever given in Philadelphia, and we advise our readers, therefore, to go carly to insure adsittance. The demand for tickets, we learn, has been

LECTURE ON THE "MAMMOTH CAVE OF KEN-TUCKY."-The Rev. George W. Smiley, of this city, is mounced to deliver a lecture on Thursday evening ecember 26, at Handel and Haydn Hall, on the " Mam. moth Cave of Kentucky." Mr. Smiley's peculiar fa-miliarity with bis proposed subject—having for several years been a resident of Kentucky-and his brilliant powers of description, will render this lecture one of the et attractive of the season, and it will, doubtless, be Charles Krouse, Esq., 726 Spring Garden street, or of M. E. Stellwagen, No. 632 Market street.

An Auction Sale for the Ladies .- We re sure that one of the most interesting publications in The Press of this morning, for the Ladies, will be the advertisement in another column of the great Auction Sale of Cloaks, to take place at the Ladies' Cloak Store of Messrs Carl Peters & Co., Tenth and Chestnut streets, on Saturday morning next, at 11 o'clock. Catalogues are now ready for examination. Their stock comprises a magnificent assortment of fashionable cloaks, of every description, and as the sale will be peremptory, to close out for the season, we have no doubt it will afford a rare opportunity for bargains.

STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS .- We invite attention to the advertisement of Mr. Edward Parrish, Eighth and Arch streets, in another column, of fine Stereoscopic Views, which he offers at much below the usual rates, on account of his being about to relinquish that branch of his business. His stock of fine articles for the Toilet, containing many suitable things for Christmas presents, is also worthy of special notice. In perfumery, the exuisite Verbena Water, sold by Mr. Parrish, is a univer-ARTICLES FOR THE HOLIDAYS .-- Of the thou-
