On the 20th, Gaptain Stevens arrived with a party of Ledians, who said that the day previous they had captured a boat of the enemy, and killed nine out of ten of the orew. Same day, Galves cent a flag of truce, threatening, but saying it was not his intention to burn the shipping, King's building, or town. For several 'days the passage of enemy's vessels by the fort (the Clifts) is noticed. 'On the 16th the Six-teenth and, Sixtieth regiments left Pensacola and took up stations at "the redoubls.'' On the 25th the Indians brought in twenty-three of enemy's fact weighed anchor and took up position between Moore's and Sutton's lagoons. A British detach-ment of one hundred men, under Capt. Byrd, was senf out to meet them. These were joined by 250 Indians, under Capt. Cameron. It seems that the British made free use of the Indians during this siege. The Spanish and French ficet now numbered forty-two sail. On the 20th the Indians came in, reporting a brush will the enemy beyond Sutton's lagoon, in which they drove in the pickets three times. The enemy's greenadiers fired four thes, and then retrested, wounding four Indians. We suppose this excuse was satisfactory to the British commander. On the 30th, Captala Kennedy, of the Marylaud "Loyalists (i. e. tories) retreated to "Neill's Men-dows" before the irro of the enemy. Alterwards some Indians, supported by some British, moved forward, and, with the additional aid of filty ne-grocs, forced the enemy to rotreate under over of their shipping. The Indians brought in, as trophles, four drums a head, and "a number of scalps." On the 5th of April the Indians (whoeseem to have dome, so far, a large part of the work) attacked both wings of the enemy's camp, and kept them under arms all night. On the 7th, a Waldock, (Fleming) a descriter from the enemy, reported the enemy Eadly off for provisions. The same day there arrived in 'osmp, from St. Augustine, an ex-press, saying that Lord Cornwallis had killed 3,000 of the rebels (our revolutionary sires) at Hillsboro, North Carolina. Same day five negroes took a Spaniard at Gull Point. April 221, another descriter from the enomy tells the old story how badly the enomy are faring for provisions—"one man gets only three ounces of beams a day." The 24th was a basy day. The enemy's loss was great, while the storming party had only two killed and two wound-ed. The storming party consisted of "provincials" (American loyalists-tories) and the "Waldcok," a body of German troops in British pay. A lieu-tenant of the Irish Brigade was brought in wounded, and dying the next day, was buried with the honors of war. Perhaps, at this late day, it is not a matter of interest to say that his name was O'Dunn. On the 5th there was a brisk firing from both sides. The enemy fired 35 shotand 43 shells. The journal adds: "We had nobedy hurt." This phrase has kept its place in our vernacular. The oth was another lively day on the part of the aneny, who fired 503 shot and 200 shells. This fire was continued with greatly.

The Transit of Mercury. It is well known that the inferior planets, Mer-cury and Venus, occasionally pass directly between the earth and san, on which occasion they are seen as round black spots traversing the solar disc. This phenomenon is Known smoog astronomers as a transit of the planet. With Mercury these occur-rences are separated by Intervals of seven and thirteen years, while with Venus the intervals of time between such passages are eight and one hun-dred and five years and upwards. The last transit of Venus scores the solar disc occurred in 1760, and nother will take place in 1874, the interval being one hundred and five years. The transits of the latter planet are of the highest astronomical im-portance, furnishing, as they do, the best means of determining the solar parallax, whereby the exact distance of the earth from the sun is dotermined. The sun's parallax is the most important element in the whole solar system, being used in every calculation which extends to any of the comical bodies. The Transit of Mercury.

BThe transits of Mercury likewise furnish a means of estimating the solar parallax, but only approxi-mately. Their frequent occurrence takes from them the novelty which attaches to phonomena of for several hours it was immovable. After the tide commenced to run down, yesterday morning, about T o'clock, nearly an hour clapsed before the iso be-eme separated and again commonced to move. The surface of the river presented a desolate look yesterday, with huge fields of snow-covored ice floating flowly along and no signs of life oxcept an occasional tug of forry boat struggling desperately through the ice barrier. The forry boats which ply between the city and Camden took long resting spells between their trips, much time being con-sumed in the pussage from point to point, to the in-convenience of school children and others. The first trip made by the Camden fork long resting spells between their trips, much time being con-sumed in the pussage from point to point, to the in-convenience of school children and others. The first trip made by the Camden ferry boat took nearly two hours. The boat at times became perfectly tightened in the ice, and the powerful machinery was unable to more. In the afternoon the trips, uithough slow and tedious, were made with more ro-gularity. The floating ice did considerable damage to the different boats and their machinery. The City to Boat has not yet been put in condition for the performance of her legitimate duty since her re-cent hard service upon the Potomac. There are several vessels at the Delaware Breakwater which are bound up; their chances of getting into port at a very entry period are not very great at present. The temporary shutting up of then navigation has had the effect of making Delaware avenue very dull, and the iongeshore men are thrown almost entirely out of employment. Owing to tho ice in the river and the indemency of the weather, the work at our navy yard was considerably interfored with. A number of the mechanics had to suspend opera-tions in consequence thereof. The dry docks have been hauled in for protection, and no vessels will be placed on them during the cold weather. to the person forwarding the second highest number by the rates published above. Keller, a member of Company B, First California Regiment, who died at Poolesville, Md., took place yesterday afternoon, from the residence of his mother, Fifth streat, below Master. A portion of Col. Frishmuth's regiment was present. Thomas R. Birch, first lioutenant of Company II, Ninety-nint Regiment P. V., will be buried to-morrow morning, from his father's residence, No. 1707 Vine street. The lioutenant died on Friday last at Atexandria, Va. He was a graduate of the High School, and universally estoomed by a large eircle of friends. ENTIMELY UNCALLED For.—Judging from the number of ash barrels and boxes that are stand-ing along the curbs in some parts of the Second ward, we may infor that ashes are at a discount. The boxes have become plethoric since the ash-man's last visit, much to the chagrin and inconve-nience of the lousekeepers in that section. It is evident that if the ash-men have made new rules with the new year they work badly, and a change from the present condition of things will be highly appreciated by numerous residents in the Second ward. Rush's camp, two oil painlings, illustrating the arrival of the regiment at Washington. One represents the arrival by day-light, December 13, and the other gives them at their camp fires at night, at the same station, they having been delayed there by the non-arrival of their horses.
