It is signed, "For the President," by a string of mysterious-looking Echaractere, apparently a cross between Sanorit letters and Egyptian hiero-glyphics, which, as near as we can interpret them, speil Ellery. Probably the clerk was heartily ashamed of the picayune business at which he was employed, and was resolved not to be known in the matter. This sorry-looking attempt at money making, which throws the sea-shell currency of the Africans and the soap currency of the Mexicans entirely in the shade, has for its vignette a train of cars-the same, we suppose, that Buckner stole from the Louisville and Nashville railroad-and at the up-per corners fac-similes of the old Spanish bit with the crown, pillars, and inscription: "Hispanize et Ind. Rex,"-that is, "King of Spain and India." What a motto and emblem for this self-styled Re-public! The paper of the bill is of the same quality used by tallow-chandlers in their could-back. We think the bill is, on the whole, very appropriately gotten up and embellished. It is as filmsy, mean, and dirty as the Confederacy itself, and quite as worthless. Its very smell and touch aug-gest bankruptey, repudiation, and out-at-ellouv-ness. Still, we think we could suggest some im-provements for the next issue. We like originality along with appropriatenes. The designer has the whole book of natural history to choose from, and all the mythology, and the minor embellishments may be taken from alligators, Eumenides with their snaky heads, pellicans, harpies, rattlesmakes, buzzards, Tantaius, Ixion, the Titan iabor of pilling rocks to reach the skies, burning torches, whips of soorpions, and "terror, rage, paleness, and death," the attendant ministers around the throne of Pluto. We wonder what we were begun for. The bill might also read: "The Bank of Ten-nessee will never pay the bearer," as overy one knows that not one of this wretched spawn of bank-ruptcy will be redeemed. The Pillars of Hercules are appropriate as a legend to this bill, if read aright, to show that it requires God-like powers to sunder a continent as the straits of Gibraltar now flow between Abyla and Calpe. There is a volume of eloquence in this insig-nificant scrap of paper, akin to that which speaks so touchingly and forcibly from the rags and squalid wretchedness of a prodigal, whose vice and riotous career have plunged him into the depths of misery and want. What a com-ment does it offer upon all the lofty vauntings we were wont to hear from the DeBows and Keitts, and Wigfalls and Memmingers, on the inexhaus-tible wealth of the cotton States, which we were in-sultingly told were to ware their sceptre triumph-antly over the prostrate form of all countries that reised nothing but grain, meat, and globacco! Cotton, the pitliess tyrant, was to put his heel on the head of the prostrate world, and all were to do him reverence. And here, on a little strip of pa-per, we read the shameful refutation of the pro-phecy. It speaks in thunder tones of the faischood of the Southern leaders, who have precipitated their people into a vortox of want, bankruptcy, and shame. Every glimpse which we obtain of the Southern Confederacy proves its terrible failure, and.

From Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 30.—The remains of General Zollicoffer and Bailie Peyton, Jr., arrived at Munfordsville to-day in charge of Zollicoffer's brigade surgeon, temporarily released on a parole of honor. On Wednesday evening a locomotive and tender, going northward for water, collided with a freight train, killing James Whitley, a fireman, and inuring several others. There is no news from below. No forward move-ment in Southern Kentucky is expected for some time, the condition of the roads making tranportation impossible.

Colonel S. S. Fry.

Colonel S. S. Fry. The name of Colonel Fry, commander of the Fourth Kentucky Regiment in the battle of Lo-gan's Cross Roads, who is beliered to have shot Zollieoffer, has become already a "household word" with loyal Kentuckians. Colonel Speed Smith Fry is now about 44 years old, having been born in 1818, and a man of mild, amiable disposition. He is the grandson of old Joshua Fry, of Danville, who has been dead about twenty-six years, and the son of Thomas Fry, also of Danville. When the present Colonel was about sixteen years old, his father moved to Crawfords-ville. Indiana. After his father's death Speed Smith Fry returned to his native town, where he remained till the beginning of the Maxing war. During that war, he was captain in the regiment commanded by Colonel McKee, and distinguished himself on the battle-field of Buena Vista. It is well known to many that he killed his man in that commanded by Colonel McKee, and distinguished himself on the battle-field of Buena Vista. It is well known to many that he killed his man in that memorable battle. The circumstances we repro-duce here. A Mexican, detached from his com-rades, was seen to load and fire, with great delibe-ration, three or four times at Captain Fry's mea. The Captain took a musket from a fallon soldier, and fired, and the Mexican was never seen again. It is useless to tell how that regiment came off the field covered with glory. In that bloody battle Colonel McKee was killed, and, if we mistake not, the licutenant colonel also, Major Cary Fry, a cousin of Speed Smith, taking command of the re-giment. This incident in Mcxico, and the death of Zollicoffer, prove Colonel Fry to be a man of coolness, decision, and unfinching bravery. After his return from Mexico, at the end of the war, he applied himself again to his profeesion, the law, in which he was eminently successful. At the breaking out of the rebellion, he was judge of the county court of Boyle county, and while many others were fearful of opening their mouths against seccession, he boldy attacked the robellion on the stump and elsewhere. He was the first to move in raising troops in Kentucky, and camping at Diek Robinson, recruited successfully two regi-ments, the Third and Fourth Kentucky. All honor to Kentucky's noble sons.—Lowisville Democrat. From Bowling Green.

From Bowling Green.

From Bowling Green. The Louisville Democrat of the 28th ult., says: We have just seen a letter from Columbia, dated the 23d, in which the writer states that there had been an arrival there, direct from Bowling Green, of parties who left on the 17th. These parties state that there are about 30,000 troops at that point, and the largest guns are thirty-two-pounders. Judge Underwood, who had been in town the day before these parties left, told them that fifteen or twenty thousand had arrived, or were expected, from Columbus, but were, we presume, kept back by the expedition from Cairo. The news is not of much importance, but it is stated as a fact that great stokness prevails among the troops in that vicinity, and that as many as fifteen and twenty die, on the average, every day. The rebels say if McCook does not move down and make an attack before long, they will come up and attack him.

THE MASON-SLIDELL QUESTION.

Reply of the English Cabinet to Secretary Seward's Despatch.

EARL RUSSELL TO LORD LYONS.

Majesty's covernment for their consideration, and to remain at my post until I receive further orders. I have the honor to enclose a copy of the answer which I have made to Mr. Seward's note. I have confined myself to stating that I will forward a copy of it to her Majesty's Government, and that I will confer with Mr. Seward personally on the ar-rangements to be made for the delivery of the prisoners to me. In my despatch to you of the 30th of November, after informing you of the orcumstances which had occurred in relation to the capture of the four persons taken from on board the Trent, Istated to you that it thus appeared that certain individuals had been forcibly taken from on board a British vésel—the ship of a neutral Power— while such ressel was pursuing a lawful and inno-cent voyage—an act of violence which was an af-front to the British flag and a violation of interna-tional law. I concluded by directing you, in case the reperation which her Majesty's Government expected to receive, should not be offered by Mr. Seward, to propose to that Minister to make such redress as alone would satisfy the British nation—namely, first, the liberation of the four gentlemen taken from on board the Trent, and their delivery to your lordship, in order that they might again be placed under British protection; and, secondly, a suitable apology for the aggression which had been committed. I received presterday your despatch of the 27th ultimo, enclosing a note to you from Mr. Seward, which had been committed. Proceeding at once to the main points in discus-sion between us her Majesty's Government have carefully examined how far Mr. Soward's note, and the conduct it announces, complies substantially with the two proposals 1 have recited. With regard to the firster-wiz : the liberation of the prisoners with a view to their being again placed under British protection—I find that the note con-cludes by stating that the prisoners. Will be cheer-fully liberated, and by calling upon your lordship to indicate a time and place for receiving them. No condition of any kind is coupled with the liberation of the prisoners. With regard to the suitable apology which the British Government had a right to expect, I find that the Government had a right to expect, I find the the Gover

The Morning Herald comes to the rescue of Slidell and Mason, and denounces the journals which have calumniated them. It says they are gentlemen of the highest position and the most un-blemished character, and as to their being slave-owners, wby, Washington himself was one, and some of England's best friends are slaveholders. It claims that "Mason and Slidell are entitled to be received in England with courtesy and honor, as men of the highest distinction themselves, and as the representatives of a gallant, chivalrous, and friendly nation." or on any other neutral vessel, at the place where it occurred or disewhere. I find, further, that the Secretary of State ex-pressly forbeau to justify the particular act of which her Majety's Government complained. If the United States Government had alleged that al-though Captain Wilkes had no previous instruction for that purpose he was right in capturing the per-sons of the four prisoners, and in removing them from the Trent in board his own vessel, to be after-wards carried into a port of the United States, the The Late War Panic and the Press.

sons of the four prisoners, and in removing them from the Trent in board his own yessel, to be after-wards carried into a port of the United States, the Government which had thus sanctioned the pro-ceeding of (aplain Wilkes would have become re-sponsible for the original violence and insult of the act. But Mr. Seward contents himself with stating that what has happened has been simply an inad-vertency, consisting in a departure by a naval offi-er, free fram any wrongful inotive, from a rule un-certainly stablished, and probably by the several parties conterned either imperfectly understood or entirely unhown. The Secretary of State goes on to affirm thit for this error the British Government has a right to expect the same reparation which the United States, as an independent State, should ex-pect from Great Britain, or from any ether friendly nation in a similar case. Her Majcäty's Government having carefully taken into their consideration the liberation of the prisoners, the delivery of them into your hands, and the argument of the similar the same reparation when the The Late war Fanic and the Fress. [From the Lendon Star.] The people and press of the United States deserve-the highest credit for their demeanor during this trying crisis. With the exception of one journal, which really may be taken as an exception when praise of any kind is spoken, the newspapers of the United States evinced throughout this dispute a calmenes and a moderation as honorable to them as rebuking to some of their Britisk cotemporaries. Only those who were compelled by duty to watch and study the tone of the Americanjournals during the late period can form any true idea of the manner in which it contrasted with the temper and the lan-guage of two, at least, of the principal London newspapers. Any Englishman who desires to learn what extent of brutal bullying may be tolerated and encouraged in a moment of national passion, can do nothing better than to read over, in a calm moment, the leading columns of the Times and the Morning Post for the past three or four weeks. We think with shame, as English journalists, of the manner in which, day after day, these two English newspapers have been slandering, taunt-ing, insulting the Government and the people of the United States. No language more foul and bitter could have been employed by either jour-nal if the very name of American had been the acknowledged synonym of all that is false, base, and cowardly. People talk here of the New York Herald in terms of just contempt and detestation. When has the New Yorld Herald written anything so coarse, so slanderous, so vulgar, so false, as the Times and Blorning Post have written of the [From the London Star.]

taken into their consideration the liberation of the prisoners, the delivery of them into your hands, and the explanations to which I have just referred, have arrived at the conclusion that they locostr-tute the reparation which her Majesty and the British nation had a right to expect. It gives her Majesty's Government great satis-factoriable to the maintenance of the most friendly relations between the two nations. I need not discuss the modifications in my statement of facts which Mr. Seward says he has derived from the reports of differs of his Government. was by no means desired, might show the Confede-rate authorities that it would be well not to en-croach too far on the instincts of our hospitality. But to send Mr. Mason is a yet more daring proceeding. They must have supposed that we either did or did not know that Mr. Mason is the author of the worst law that is on the statute book of any civil-ized nation-the fugitive slave law. If we did not know it, it was taking advantage of our ignorance to seek our friendship and good offices through such an agent; and, if we did know it, it was an insult to English feelings to place that man, face to face, with if as all. The worst consequence to us of Captain Wilkes' troublesome escapade is its having compelled us to act as protectors to the man who has traduced our state of society, cast con-tempt on the working class of every country, de-clared us incapable of freedom because we give and take the rights of indury through the whole range of our society, and created the machinery of law by which 20,000,000 of free citizens were made the kidnappers of the slaves of half a million; by which the brave and strong negroes who had escaffed were delivered back to the whip and the chain, and the passions of their tyrants. When these elect gen tlemen, sent to represent Southern society here, ap-pear among us, we must make sure that everybody knows how they regard themselves and us. They think it low to work, or to pay others for working for them. They think that political freedom means a very few persons doing what they places with all the rest of society. They think this a low state of enforcing it, it was found impossible to execute the large orders for arms, and some of the makers ap-plied to the Government, representing the hardship of their case, and asking if they would take a por-tion of the weapons off their hands. In reply, specimens were taked for, and these having been supplied were sent to Colonel Dickson, superin-tandent of the small-arms factory at Enfield, with instructions to report upon them. We are informed that upon examization and trial they were found to be of most inferior make, and that many of the so-called "tiftee" ost inferior make, and that many of the socalled "rifles" were merely grooved a few inches from the muzzle - Morning Post.

called "rifles" were merely grooved a few inches from the muzzle.—Morning Post. A PROSPECTUS has just been issued of a new un-dertaking, to be called "The London and South of Ireland Direct Telegraph Company;" the object of which is to bring the South of Ireland into more direct communication with London, by means of an unbroken line from the latter place via St. David's Head, Pembrokeshire, across St. George's Channel to Werford, and thence by Waterford, &c., to Cork and Queenstown, a distance of 454 miles, whilst the existing route is 739 miles. Already the combany have obtained the exclusive privilege of establish-ing a station at Roche's Point, the place where, Aus-bry, and which is also largely used as a port of call by the vessels engaged in the Mediterranean, Aus-tralian, and other trades. The company have likewise arranged to connect by special submarine wires the Tuskar Rock Lighthouses, off Carnsmore Point, and the North and South Bishop Light-house, of St. David's Head, with the coast upon either side. These lighthouses sight each other, and all vessels passing up and down the chan-nel will be immediately reported to the various shipping ports of Great Britain and Ireland. The lighthouses will thus be in durect communication with the Lifebast station at Carna. Semsphore signals will also be established at the Old Head of Kinsale, by which means vessels will be sighted and communicated with some hours before arrival at Queenstown. It is proposed that the capital of the company shall be £1000,000, to be raised in shares of £10 each, with a deposit of £2 per share --10s. on application, and 30s. on allotment. Already a considerable part of the capital has been subscribed, and a contract has been entered into with Messrs. W. S. Silver & Co., for the manufao-ture of the cable. The whole line, it is announced, will be ready for use early in the spring, and its maintenance guaranteed for a term of years. Initial it low to work, or to pay others fer working for them. They think that political freedom means a very few persons doing what they please with all the rest off scolety. They think it is a low state of cirilization when members of society enjoy, as nearly as may be, the benefits they earn by intelligence or toil; and they extol, as the highest refinement, the scheme by which the smallest number take possession of the largest share of the earnings of others. Old England and New England are alike in a vulgar and pitable condi-tion, because every man is theoretically a worker, or the payer of other men's work, and because every individual has an interest in the common weal; yet, the superfine gentry who so regard Old and New England are trying to gain over the one against the other by soft words and sordid induce-ments, and these men are the agents sent to rouse our minds against our free kindred of the Northern States, and to soothe our selfsh fears about cotton. Let them pass on one side. We have simply nothing to say to them. Let them pass on their way in the perfect safety of perfect neglect. THE CLYDE. By dint of dredging, outting, ex-cavating, and embanking, to the tune of about a million and a half sterling, the navigable dopth of the Clyde has been increased, within the last 50 or 60 years, from three feet to twenty feet, and the revenue from £3,000 to £90,000 per annum. EPANCE usual at this season of the year, the sales are unim-portant. MOLASSES is very quiet, there being but, little inquiry; sales of Cuba Muscovado at 364c, and New York Syrup in lots at 32a35c cash and time. NAVAL STORES.—The stock of Rosin is very light, and it is held firmly; sales of common at 56.75 per bbl; modium grades at $7.25a7.60, and No. 1 at $8a12, as in quality. Tar ranges from $9 to $10, and Pitch from $7 te $8 per bbl. Spirits of Turpentine is somewhat unsettled; sales at $1.45a 1.50 per gallon. FRANCE. M. MIRES, finding that, in consequence of his case being removed from the Court of Cassation to the Imperial Court of Douai, his preventive imprison-ment might be prolonged for an indefinite periad, applied for permission to be removed to one of the Maisons de Sante of the capital. That permission was granted, and he is now in the establishment of Dr. Lee, in the Avenue Montaigne. In the first three days of the new year, two Turpentine is somewhat unsettled; sales at $1.45m 1.50 per gallon. OILS.—Prices of Fish Oils are very firm. There is a steady store demand for crude Whale at 58a60c, on the usual credit. Linseod Oil sells freely at 55a86c. Lard Oil is dull at 70a75c, eash and on time, for Western and city-made. Coal Oil is lower; sales of refined at 35a40c, and Kerosene at 430

In ithe first three days of the new year, two million visiting cards passed through the Paris post-office, besides the ordinary letters. 43c. RICE is inactive, and selling in a small way at 7a 72c. SALT.—There have been no further arrivals, and HOMCE OF ATHY.—By desire of the Emperor Napo-leon, the foundation of achair of homceopathic me-dicine at the faculty of Paris has again been brought forward. The medical corps has, however, so energetically pronounced itself several times against this system, that it is hardly likely the Go-vernment will dare to oppose that body very stre-nuously. [We should think not.] prices are tending upward with some speculative-inquiry. SEEDS.—The receipts of Cloverseed have fallen off, and it is in limited request at the close at $4.373a4 624; mostly at $4.50. Timothy ranges from $1.50 to $1.75. Flaxseed is selling at $2.16a 2.20, which is an advance. STRITS.—There is no change in Brandy or Gin, and little or nothing doing. N. E. Rum is steady at 31a33c. Which y is held firmly, but the demand is limited; sales of bbls at 25c for Ohio, 25c for Penna, and 233c for drudge. Stork is not so firm, and there is very little in-quiry either from the trade or the refiners; sales of Cuba at 7a83c for low-grade and good quality, and 27d boxes Havana brown at 74c. TALLOW is unchanged; sales of city-rendered at 91a94c, and country at 83c per pound. TEAS have again advanced, and prices for both Blacks and Greens are better; there is a fair trade doing for the season. TOBACC.—Trices continue to rule high for both

PORTUGAL.

A PROPESAL has been submitted to the Portu-guese Chamber of Peers to the effect that the King be prayed to provide for the succession to the throne by arranging his marriage with the least possible delay. IT IS ANNOUNCED that some volumes of essays are about to be published which were written by the late King of Portugal. They are described as treating chiefly of political subjects, and are said to breathe a liberal and enlightened spirit. ITALY.
