Speech of Hon, W. D. Kelley. The Hon. W. D. Kelley, of this city, delive speech in the House of Representatives on Friday last, which has attracted a great deal of attention. As our space prevents us from reprinting it in full, we republish some extracts. A POLICY WANTED.

A POLICY WANTED.

The Administration would, in my judgment, do well to announce a policy, clear, well defined, and thorough, which should address itself to the suppression of the rebellion and the punishment of those who are participating in it. Such a course would reanimate the public mind and heart; it would irspire with invincible enthusiam our army, now diminishing by desertion, disease, and death, and deteriorating from long-continued inaction; it would invigorate the public credit; the people would again pour out their money with confidence that it would be applied to the preservation of that portion of their property which might remain in their possession.

Changes have been rung on the words fanatic and conservative; and the idea has been suggested that there is such a thing in the world as a demagogue, and that possibly one may have crept upon this floor. Sir, the words fanaticism and conservatism are much sbused; of the demagogue nothing too vile can be said. Fanaticism is zeal—an enthusiasm in the cause. The fanatic is frank and honest as he is earnest. Fanaticism swells the rolls of heroes and martyrs. The despised fanatic of today is often the adored idol of the future. With the fanatic the demagogue cannot be compared; FANATICISM. day is often the adored idol of the future. With the fanatic the demagogue cannot be compared; they can only be contrasted. The business of the demagogue is deception. Artifice, trick, and chicane are his means. His ways are devious and tortuous, and you track him by the slime he deposits as he crawls. A funatic may bless mankind; but a demagogue is an evil here and everywhere. Of the Apostles, eleven were designated by the people of their time as fanatics—the twelfth was a demagogue. He spoke fair words and kissed, and increased his estate by thirty pieces of silver—the price of Him he kissed.

THE POSITION OF THE PRESIDENT. It may be that we have fanatics and demagogues mongst us; but the President belongs to neither lass. He is a conservative man, alike loyal to the class. He is a conservative man, after by a to the love of liberty, with which he is so plenteously imbued, and his duty to the Constitution which he has sworn to preserve, protect, and defend. He is a conservative man, not in the sense in which that word is used on the other side of the House—not a a conservative man, not in the sense in which that word is used on the other side of the House—not a man who came into the world one generation too late; whose vision is from the back of his head; who goes through the world as the oarsman does his voyage, looking ever at the land he has passed, never at that which he is passing, or the point toward which he is moving; so timid that he dreads a crisis that would jolt him out of the ruts of routine, and throw him upon his discretion, as the mariner upon a lee shore dreads the gales of March and November; whose more generous instincts lie undeveloped, or are blunted or perverted; who mistakes the sobs of the prison-house and the groans of the middle passage for the sweet voices of the angelic throng who hymn the beatitudes around the throne. Abraham Lincoln, sir, is a truly conservative man, invested with the power to preserve, and he will preserve, the Constitution and the integrity of our country, although the army called into being by his words crush out every iniquity which that instrument tolerates under its broad provisions. He will not permit the Constitution, laws, ordinances, or institutions of any State to stand in the way of the re-establishment of the supremacy, entire and perfect, of the Constitution of the United States over all its territory.

PENNSYLVANIANS AND KENTUCKY. Sir, the people of the North do not want to throw Kentucky off. The thousands of Peonsylvanians Kentucky off. The thousands of Pennsylvanians who are there in arms are not there to drive her out of the Union, but to keep her in: and, under the power of God and the Constitution, they and the men of the North will keep her in, and in this patriotic work they will, I believe, have, as they have now, the power of Kentucky to aid them. She has no disposition to go; and the time has gone past for threatening, in her name, to appeal to any other arbiter than the Supreme Court of the United States to decide upon the constitutionality, or validity, or perpetuity of an act of Congress approved by the President.

CONFISCATION AND EMANCIPATION. Sir, who on this floor has intimated that this war should be converted into a war of emancipation? Who on this floor has suggested any other object for it than the crushing out of this rebellion? Men have differed as to the means of crushing it out; but no man, not even my friend from Illinois, [Mr. Lovejoy,] about whom so much is often said, has suggested any other object for this war than the crushing out of rebellion. We have all said, as the President understands, that the way to do it is to deprive the enemy of their resources, and to bring—as the commanders of the army and fleet at Port Royal have done—the services of every loyal man to the standard of his country, although his skin should not be colored like our own. My colleage misrepresented grossly the majority on this floor when, by inuendo or assertion, he sent to the country the impression that we are endeavoring to Sir who on this floor has intimated that this war country the impression that we are endeavoring to man."

That is the suggestion of an impious fancy used for the slander of a body of honorable men. No man on this floor has uttered a sentence from which such an inference could be drawn. But, sir, after all this, what becomes of the gentleman's theory? Why, sir, under the probing of half a dozen gentlemen, it leaks out reluctantly that he, too, is in favor of confiscing the property of rehels. I do favor of confiscating the property of rebels. I do not know whether there was joy in heaven over the conversion of that sinner; but I know that a thrill of delight went through this House at finding the gentleman ready to come squarely and steadily into the support of what the President has been doing, and in support of the view which seems to control a majority of this House.

AFRICANIZATION AND AMERICANIZATION. AFRICANIZATION AND AMERICANIZATION.

Sir, brief time is left me, and I hasten to the point of the Africanization of American society and American labor. I have said that we are not the advecates of reopening slave trade; that we are not the advecates of extending the colored institution through the whole free Ferritories of the country; that we are in favor of opening means by which colored men ean leave our country and find a happier home. Sir, Nature works by invariable laws. It is by no freak of Nature that the light of day paints the likeness of our loved ones. It is by no such freak that the wire bears the message of joy or woe over land or under wathe message of joy or woe over land or under water. He who traverses our continent finds on the Pacific slope of the Rocky mountains the grandest arboriferous vegetation of the world. On the eastern slope, divided by a narrow strip, which produces its effects on the clouds, you lose which produces its effects on the clouds, you lose all arboriferous vegetation. You find only the red sage; you find nothing larger growing there. The same skies are over; the same God watches; but He watches through the same wise laws, and teaches men to look to him through Nature for guidance. On the Pacific slope the earth is refreshed by ninety inches of rain each year, while on the east but five fall. The negro is the creature of the tropics. Submit him to the guidance of his own instincts and volition, and he will find his way to the tropics, or lands lying near them. ture of the tropics. Submit him to the guidance of his own instincts and volition, and he will find his way to the tropics, or lands lying near them. The cruclest monument of "man's inhumanity to man" that I can point to to day is that negro colony of fifty thousand American negroes living in the cold wilds of Canada. As well might you expect the tree of the Pacific slope to thrive in the region of the sage, or the sage to thrive under its broad shadow, and with ninety inches of rain falling in the year. The negroes will wilt, and dwindle, and die prematurely there.

We know, the gentleman knows, and those with whom he votes—who give kind words and hard blows to the Administration—know that it and its real friends on this floor are in favor of the recognition of the republic of Liberia, of giving to Hayti commercial relations, of procuring within our own tropics lands where the negro, made free by the crimes of his master, may go and dwell as Nature intended him to. This the President recommends, and all this the majority on this floor intend to consummate. We are for giving the Saxon, the Celt—the Caucasian family—that portion of this continent which was intended for them. They who misrepresent us are for infusing black blood into the veins of the country. Sir, this opens a wide field for discussion. I care not now to enter into it. The hammer will soon fall.

The President whom we support honestly, conservatively. or fanatically, but whom we support.

it. The hammer will soon fall.

The President whom we support honestly, conservatively, or fanatically, but whom we support, recommends us to pursue what has long been the object of those with whom he has labored politically for years. I would allude to Liberia at the present time only far enough to show that it refutes the theory of the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. Wadsworth), that the negro's only idea of freedom is relief from labor. There, upon the western coast of Africa, where the white man cannot live, we have sent ten thousand freed bondmen, or the dehave sent ten thousand freed bondmen, or the de-scendants of such. And what have they done? Performed a miracle. They have created cities, towns, schools, universities, and churches. They have assimilated, christianized, and civilized those ten thousand freed, poor, illiterate bondmen, and have civilized and christianized two hundred thou-sand heathen semi-barbarians. In favor of allowing each State to assess and collect such direct taxes as Congress may impose, in accordance with its own laws and through its own officers.

with its own laws and through its own officers.

Resolved, (if the Assembly concur). That our Sonators and Representatives in Congross be requested to procure, if possible, such a modification of the acts already passed, and such provisions in acts hereafter to be passed, for the purpose of raising revenue, as that the entire amount to be raised in any State, by any mode of taxation, except by duties upon imports, may be ascertained by some reasonable method of estimating the same, and that each State be allowed to assume the payment of such amount, and to assess and collect the same in accordance with its own laws and through its own officers.

Resolutions of the Legislature of Michigan in Favor of a Speedy Suppression of the Present Rebellion. Whereas, The Government of the United States is engaged in putting down a causeless and wicked rebellion against its authority and sovereignty, inaugurated by ambitions men to obtain political power; a Government, the safety and perpetuity of which must ever rost upon the loyalty of its citizens and in an adherence to the Constitution; and whereas. The welfare of mankind, the usefulness and power of the nation, are involved in the events and issues of the present condict: Therefore, be it be it

Resolved, (the House concurring,) That Michigan, loyal to herself and to the Federal Government, realizing her and ing hostility to traitors, her aviding love for freedom, and her confidence in the wisdom and patriotism of dom, and her confidence in the wisdom and patriotism of the National Administration.

Resulved, (the House concurring.) That the people of Michigan deem it the imperative duty of the Government to speedily put down all insurraction against its authority at devereignty by the use of every constitutional means, and by the employment of every energy it posesses; that Michigan stands firm in her determination to sustain, by men and treasure, the Constitution and the Union, and claims that the burden of loyal men should be lightened, as far as possible, by confiscating, to the largest extent, the property of all insurrectionists; and that, as between the institution of slavery and the maintenance of the Federal Government, Michigan does not localists to say that, in such exigency, slavery should be swept from the land, and our country maintained.

Resolutions of the Legislature of Ohio,
In favor of such an amendment to the laws for the naturalization of Foreigners as will secure Letters of Citizenship to foreigners honorably discharged from the Anny of the United States.

Whereas, Many worthy men of foreign birth, not enjoying the rights and privileges of citizenship, have volunteered in the service of the United States, and are now hazarding their lives and fortunes in defence of our Constitution and laws: Therefore, be it

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That our Senators be instructed, and our Representatives in Congress requested, to use their endeavors to procure such amendment to the laws for the naturalization to such free white persons of foreign birth as may produce, before any court of record in the United States, in the present war, and of an honorable disclarge therefrom

Resolved, That the Governor be requested to transmit copies of the above resolution to our Representatives in Congress. Resolutions of the Legislature of Ohio,

PURE COD-LIVER OIL PURE COD-LIVER OIL.

The repugnance of most patients to COD-LIVER OIL, and the inability of many to take it at all, has induced various forms of disguise for its administration that are familiar to the Medical Profession. Some of them answer in special cases, but more eften the vehicle neutralizes the usual effect of the Oil, proving quite as unpalatable and of less therapoutic value. The ropugnance, nansea, &c., to invalids, induced by disguist of the Oil, is entirely obviated by the use of our CAPSULES. COD-LIVER OIL CAPSULES have been much used lately in Europe, the experience there of the good results from their use in both hospital and private practice, aside from the naturally suggested advantages, are sufficient to warrant our claiming the vittues we do for them, feeling assured their use will result in benefit and deserved favor. Deputy Quartermaster General. DROPOSALS FOR STAMPED EN-VELOPES.

Post Office Department, January 13, 1862.
Sealed Proposals will be received until 3 P. M., on the 13th day of February, 1862, for furnishing all the "Stamped Envelopes," "Letter Sheets and Envelopes combined," and "Newspaper Wrappers," which this Department may require, during a period of four years, commencing 1st April, 1862, viz:

STAMPED ENVELOPES.

No. 1, or note size, 2% by 4% inches, of white paper.
No. 2, or letter size, 3% by 6% inches, and extra letter size, 3% by 6% inches, of white, buff, or cream-colored paper, or in such proportions of either as may be required.

10 2-5 inches, and of buff paper, embossed with the onecent postage stamp, or any other denomination that may be required.

Proposals are also invited for furnishing straw or manilla board boxes, or others of equal or superior strength, for packing parcels of envelopes, of letter sheets and envelopes combined, and of newspaper wrappers, containing from one hundred to five hundred each, and for water-proof weeden cases for packing parcels of four to twenty-five thousand.

The envelopes and wrappers are to be made in the best manner, of paper of approved quality, manufactured specially for the purpose, and with such water-marks as the Postmaster General may direct. They must be gummed for scaling, the former at least 4½ inches on the point and ene end of the latter; they must be banded in parcels of twenty-five, packed without charge for packing, and furnished complets in all respects, ready for use with all reasonable despatch, and in such quantities as may be required to fill the orders of postmasters, and must be delivered daily, either at the place of manufacture or at the Post Office Department, at the option of the Postmaster General, to an agent duly authorized by the latter to inspect and receive them.

An agent of the Department will furnish the address for each parcel, which is to be pasted on the box by the manufacturer without charge.

The dies for embossing the postage stamps on the envelopes and wrappers are to be executed in the best style, and they are to be provided, renewed, and kept in order at the expense of the contractor. The Department also reserves the right of requiring new denominations of stamps and any changes of the dies or colors without additional charge.

Didders are expected to furnish samples of paper with their bids of the envelopes which they propose is supply, and also specimens of the envelopes unstamped, and of boxes.

In addition to bids for furnishing plain envelopes of
