that the weiffere of our country demands? They gave up the very conforts of life without a murmur; can we refuse when a sacrifice of feminine venity is done required? Can we hestate to yield up luxuries that are so unbecoming, when the very earth trembles under our feet from the tread of armed men going down to battle, and almost every roof throughout the land shelters some mother lamenting the son who has fallen gloriously with his face to the foe, or a widow whose husband lies buried so deeply anong the masses of slain heroes, that she will never learn where to seek for his grave? When the wife of a great prince, whose husband was absent at the signe of Troy, was wiged by her friends to put on her voyal vobes, and be cheerful, she answered : "My husband is under the walls of Troy; shall I adorn any hair while he carries arms? Not my raiment shall be like his hard labors; and the mother of the like his herd labors; and the mother of the words while he carries arms? Still the women of America are not unworthy of their ancestors. Thoughtless they may be, and leads are write and graftle feelings, and the women of this day will prove themselves expande of as noble deeds as ever marked the struggles of the Revolution. Convince them of the evils their thoughtlessness is producing, and the converted struggles of the leads as were marked the struggles of the prevolution. That thought would cover us with shame before the na-tions of the earth. No; our women of the Union only lack knowledge of the means by which they can prove themselves true help-mates of the heroes who are fighting our battles. Impress it upon them that in discouraging exces-sive importations and adopting goods manufactured at home they keep gold in the country, roduce the Government, and they will prove how far patriotism can rise above feminine vanity in the hearts of American women. Government, and the wint provide now hat bottom can rise above feminine vanity in the hearts of American women. In order to invoke this spirit of self-sacrifice, it is important that the great object of the covenant we have made should be broadly circulated and tho-roughly understood. It discourages profligate ex-penditures of any kind, recommends the use of do-mestic fabrics wherever they can be substituted for those of foreign make, and advises simplicity of attire both as a matter of policy and good taste. It asks the great sisterhood of American women to aid in this reform before it is too late. Thank Godl science has given us the means of reaching thou-sands on thousands in a single hour. While we make this covenant, the thought that thrills our hearts may tremble in fire along the telegraph, and awake kindred inspiration throughout, the entire hearts may tremble in fire along the telegraph, and awake kindred inspiration throughout the entire land. By every means of communication in our power, let us urge the necessity of prompt action. In every town and village throughout the Union, some woman who loves her country is implored to establish an auxillary society, and forward the names of the ladies invited to act for the State in which her duty lies. We ask shaultaneous action, carnest work, and general self-sacrifice at the hands of our sister women. With their ardent help, a work will be accomplished so important in fits results, that the woman who shares it may, hereafter, leave the emblem of our object as the richest jewel that she can leave to posterity. can leave to posterity.
