ONE DAY LATER FROM EUROPE.

COMMERCIAL SUMMARY, MARKETS, &c. The prospects of the harvest throughout aging and satisfactory.

The reports from the continent of Europe relative to the growing crops are conflicting; but upon the whole, the appearance of the growing crops is encouraging.

All the leading grain markets of England are dull, and prices, as the harvest approaches, show symptoms of a decline. FRANCE.

The National announces that Prince Canino, the son of Lucien Bonaparte, and Ex-President of the Roman Constituent Assembly, had been arrested at Orleans by order of the Government on his road from Marseilles to Paris.

It is said that having a claim against his cousin, Louis Napoleon, for money lent in aid of his election, the Prince came to France to demand it, the conduct of his cousin against Rome having stirred his ire. It is said that the Prince will not be imprisoned. but that he will be forced to embark for England or America.

The question openly discussed are about a Consulate for life for the empire-Henry V and the Compte de Paris.

Cardinal Picoli and the Marquis Cacchetti arrived in Rome from Gaeta on the 8th .-The latter is grand chamberlain of the Apostolic Palace.

Preparations are making at Rome, which tends the belief that Pius 9th is expected to return to the Quirinial. All the wounded have been removed from

On Monday last, when the 2d Battalion of the 18th Regiment of the Prussian Landwehr, which is garrisoned at Randers, was ordered forest, a man named Christian Schreiner, a soldier of that battalion, was found missing, and did not return until the following morning. On being brought before a court martial, Schreiner was declared guilty of having concealed himself to avoid facing the enemy. and he was condemned to be shot. Schreiner petitioned for pardon to Lieutenant General Prittwitz, commander-in-chief of the German troops in the Danish States. That officer commuted the sentence, and ordered that he should receive 100 blows on the bare back with sticks. Schreiner underwent his punishment yesterday morning, in presence of our garrison, and of five men and one sergeant of each company quartered in the neighborhood of Randers. He was stripped to the waist, and then tied to the post, when two drummers, each armed with a square sharp edged stick, took their stand by his side. On the signal being given by the officer, the two drummers struck the man simultaneously. At first, Schreiner shrieked most fearfully, but by degrees his voice weakened. and at last he became speechless. At the 42d blow the head of the sufferer fell on one side, and his body dropped. It was then found that he was a corpse; his spine was where, excepting in a few towns in the fractured .-- Brussels Herald.

INSULT TO THE AMERICAN FLAG AT

An affair took place on the 6th, which may perhaps cause some difficulty between the French and our own Government. You must know that our Consul, as well as the English Consul, has been very actively engaged in giving passports to the poor devils who have been compromised by the course of events. There was a crowd of these people before the house of our Consul when a picquet of French soldiery passed, for some reason or other, probably from some injurious words from some in the crowd, the soldiers immediately turned, and entered the house of the Consul, and took two men prisoners. Mr. Freeman, our Consul for Acons, happened to be in the house, and he protested against this violation of our flag -for the American tern commanding the picquet. Freeman immediately proceeded to Oudinot, who expressed himself very much annoyed at the acts of his soldiers. In the evening Cass wrote, on the complaint of Freeman, to Oudinot, demanding an apology for the insult. The answer has not yet arrived. In the meantim ur flags have been taken in from the houses the Consul and Charge and if an ample wy is not made, Cass will leave immedio stand affairs at present

"Our Councils had the streets and alleys of our Borough, strewn with quick lime on Thursday last. This is right and will impose no expense upon the Borongh; for the en-hanced value of the street manure will make the operation a good speculation. We hope it will be repeated."

The above is from the West Chester Record. If the suggestion of friend Evans flag was floating before the house. No no-tice was taken of this protest by the subat. the editor, who is something of a farmer, is correct, our Borough cannot loose anything in distributing the six hundred bushels of lime appropriated by the councils for that purpose some time since. Inquiries have been frequently made when the lime is to be distributed. In some towns, we believe, the authorities distribute lime at every door at certain periods, to be used by the citizens in various ways for cleaning and purifying their respective premises.

E. W. Hutter, Esq., has retired from this paper for the purpose of connecting himself with the printing and book establishment of the Lutheran Observer, a paper of extensive circulation, published at Baltimore by the Lutheran Church.

The Intelligencer has probably never been so well conducted, as it has been during the past eighteen months under the charge of Mr. Hutter. Although an ardent and zealous democrat, he did not deem it advisable or in good taste to fill his whole paper with ultra political matter. Mr. Hutter has the tact as well as the talent to make the Lutheran Observer an interesting, as well as a useful paper, which, in candor we must say, is not generally the character of our religious newspapers. It requires something more than talent and learning to edit a paper properly. We trust that Friend Hutter may realise his fondest hopes in his new position. Geo. HOW TO CONDUCT A NEWSPAPER.

In 1788. Dr. Rush wrote a letter to Mr Brown, the editor of the Federal Union givto attack a Danish post which had taken up Court House on Monday last and appointed ing him directions how to conduct a newsa position on the borders of the neighboring David Taggert, Esq., Representative dele- paper in such a manner as to make it innocent, useful and entertaining. The paper is a very interesting one, and may be read with instruction at the present day ..

4. Never suffer your paper to be a vehicle of private scandal or of personal disputes .-If the faults of public officers are exposed, et it be done with decency. No man has a right to attack the vices or follies of private citizens, in a newspaper. Should you, under a false idea of preserving the liberty o the press, lay open the secrets of families and thereby wound female honor and delicacy, "I hope our Legislature (this is the language of Dr. Rush-Ed.) will repeal the law that relates to assault and battery, and that the liberty of the bludgeon will be as sacred and universal in Pennsylvania as your liberty of

If a printer offends ron, attack him in your paper, because he can defend himself with the same weapons with which you wound him. Type against type is fair play. Dr. Rush enlarges upon this, and then says: "If you had been in twenty Bunker's Hill battles, instead of one, and had fought forty duels into the bargain, and were afterwards to revenge an affront, upon a man who was not a printer, in a newspaper, I would not believe that you possessed a particle of true courage." 9. Let the advancement of agriculture manufacturers, and commerce, be the principal objects of your paper. A receipt to destroy the insects that feed upon turnips, or to prevent the rot in sheep, will be more useful, in America, than all the inventions for destroying the human species, which so often fill the columns of European newspapers.

WILMER'S TIMES ON HUNGARY.

The European Times, after a long silence, has come out at last boldly in favor of the cause of Hungary, expressing the hope that the Magyars will achieve their independence and take an honorable stand among the free ations'of Europe. The Times says: "Without attempting a description of the strategic operations of the contending armies, which, indeed, from the imperfect information which reaches us from the seat of war, is next to impossible, it seems evident that the Austrians and Russians are gaining possession of the plains of the Danube and the Theiss, the Hungarians having up to this time avoided anything like a serious resistance. A battle has been fought near Comorn, and Haynau, the Austrian commandern-chief, claims the victory; but it was evidently quite an indecisive action. In short, the great battle which is to decide the present fate of Hungary has yet to be fought .---In the meantime Count Teleki has reached London, with the object of procuring the reognition of the independence of Hungary by the English Government. The bait offered is one peculiarly tempting to our Liverpool and Manchester tastes. We are offered the free trade, under a most liberal tariff, of 14 millions of customers, all agriculturists, who is superfluous. are incapable of manufacturing for their own wants, and who only seek to be disenthralled from Austrian despotism, and the threatened yoke of Russia, to form the closest political and commercial relations with ourselves and the other free States of the world. Happy indeed would it be for Europe if so desirable an object was attainable. A body of Quakers have petitioned the House of Commons to procure the independence of Hungary, by any means except by the sword. Our peace friends are well aware, however, that the independence of any country has never been achieved by any mode except "by the sword." Unless, therefore, we are prepared to declare war against Russia in her hour of need, in fact convulse all Europe, we are compelled to look on calmly, as a strict neutral power, earnestly hoping that constitutional freedom will prevail over the combined efforts of Austria and Russia, and that the brave men of Hungary will succeed in the
