Miscellancous Matter.

HOW TO CURE A BAR TEMPER. David, a man of meek and kindly spirit, had long suffered from the platter-clatter, never-ending, scolding tongue of his worse

One day an herb doctor greeted David, at his work, with a Well, Master David, how be you?

Oh, I be very well, thanks to ye, but my wife's not so nicely.' It at the Indeed, saie the herb doctor, with a quick ear for an ailment, 'what may be the matter wi she, Master David ?' "Well," said David, in his usual dry quiet way, 'she hey a bad breaking out about her month every now and then, that troubles her and me verry sore, I 'sure ye, Master Doctor.' ,Well, said the latter, I could makes a grand cure of her, I'll warrant; I hev a salve 'at I makes fra the juice of the juniper tree, and biling up a lot of different kind o' things 'at snite cures that in no time!' 'Deed,' said David, 'and what might your charge be, now, for a box o' 'intment 'at would quite cure her ?" 'Oh.' said the herbist, looking anxiously

Well, that's dirt cheap,' said David. If you cures her I'll give you eighteen pence,

With this offer, the doctor set off home to prepare his nostrum, and straightway hied the next day to David's house, box in hand. There he found Mrs. Price, and went at once

Well, Mrs. Price, your master tells me you her betimes a bad breaking out about the mouth, and I've brought a box of fine 'inment 'at will cure ye!'

With this announcement, Mrs. Price fired up at once, seeing her husband's jest, raised the brush with which she was sweeping and pummelled the doctor to his heart's content, even following to beat him a field from her, he screaming out all the while, 'Oh, Missus Price, be you gone mad?' From that day, however, Mrs. Price has been wholly cured of her scolding habits.

David has only to look up in her face and sap, I'll get a box o' that 'intment,' and there's an end of the matter.

David honorably paid the doctor his 1s. 6d, and treated him to make him forget his punishment.

SOCIETY UPSET IN CALIFORNIA .- There appears to be what the French call a bouleversement -a complete overturu-of the usual arrangements of society, at the gold region; at the for a specimen of which see the following extract from a San Francisco letter in the Boston Courier:

Since my arrival I have seen a lieutenant of the navy, and a New York merchant dragging a handcart, at on conce per load; a few days since I met a professor in one of your first colleges, driving his ox team, hauling emigrant' "traps" to the "diggings," at $20 for one hundred pounds. A Georgia planter cooks my salt pork, and does the flap-jacks keeps my books, and two young gentlemen from jobbing houses in Pearl street take care of the mules, havl lumber and act as porters in the store; each from $10 to $16 per day, with board. In California all labor, and one is easily furnished with innumerable sources of amusement by meeting old friends in such comical employment. Imagine our friend -, the artist, with buckskin trousers, red flannel shirt, and California hat, peddling newspapers; "Sam, Herald and Tribune, sir! latest date from New York, only two dollars

BROWN'S ESSENCE OF JAMAICA GINGER

PREPARED and sold only, at FREDERICK BROWN'S DRUG and CHEMICAL Store, N. E. corner of Firm and Carsaur streets, Philadelphia. This Essence is warranted to possess in a concentrated form, all the valuable properties of Jamaica Ginger, and will be found on trial an excellent Family Medicine. It is particularly recommended as a topic, to persons recovering from fever or other diseases, a few drops imparting to the stomach a glow and vigor, equal to a wine glass of brandy or other stimuland, without any of the debilitating effects, which are sure to follow the use of liquor of any kind: and it is therefore especially serviceable to children and females. To the aged, it will prove a great comfort; to the dyspeptic, and to those who are predisposed to gout or rheumatic affections, it gives great relief; and to the inebriate who wishes to reform, but whose stomach is constantly craving the noxious liquor, it is invaluable-giving tone to the digestive organs, and strength to resist temptation; and is consequently a great agent in the cause of temperance. DYSPEPSIA.

No fluid or medicina has ever been discovered which so nearly resembles the gustric jusce or saliva in decomposing food and strengthening the organs of digmation as this preparation of Sarsoparilla. It positively cures every case of dyspepsia, however severe or chronic.

Bank Department, Albany, May 10, 1845.

Dr. Townseds—Ser: I have been affleted for several years with dyspepsia in its worst form, attended with a outness of stomach, lose of appetite, extreme heartborn, and a great aversion to all kinds of food, and for weeks, (what I could cat) I have been unable to retain but a small portion on my stomach. I tried the usual remedies, but they had but little or no effect in removing the compalant. I was induced, about two months since, to try your Extract of Sarsoparilla, and I must say with little confidence; but after using marry two bottles. I found my appetite removed and tha heartborn entirely removed; and I would carnestly recommend the one of is to those who have been afflored as I have been. Yours &c., W. W. YAN ZANDT.
