

Washington News.

(Correspondence of the Phil. Ledger.)

WASHINGTON, April 20.

The compromise committee has been appointed a little differently from what I had reason to suppose, owing to the different view on Benton's amendments the day previous.

The committee have taken a fortnight for their labor. They will report earlier, however, and in a single bill provide for the admission of California as a State, and for the establishment of territorial governments in Utah and New Mexico. The other subjects in controversy will be disposed of in separate bills. There is not an earthly doubt that the bill reported by the committee will pass the Senate by a decided majority. But what then? The bill will be sent down to the House; and there a vain effort will be made to separate the two bills—the admission of California from the Territorial Bill. Should that effort succeed, which is extremely doubtful—the separate bills will go back to the Senate. In that case the Senate will either take up the Territorial Bill first, and strike out the Wilmot Proviso contained in it; or if a motion to take up California first should prevail, Mr. Clay stands pledged to hitch the Territorial Bill to it. The vote on putting the two bills into one will be a stronger one than the vote for appointing a compromise committee; it will exceed that vote by at least three-by seven in a full Senate. Mr. Douglas has pledged himself to vote for the union of the two bills.

Should the House agree to let the Senate bill, providing for the admission of California and the establishment of territorial governments, stand, then it is not improbable that the Wilmot Proviso will be added to it; but if this be done, it will be more to satisfy constituents than the individual convictions of members. A great majority of these want the question settled; and as all sensible men here in Washington agree that, practically, it does not matter three straws whether the Wilmot Proviso is attached to the bill or not, no such desperate fight will be made on that point as might be expected at a distance.—If, however, the Wilmot Proviso be attached to it, and the bill goes back to the Senate, it will be stricken out by a very large majority, and the House will ultimately agree to the Senate bill by what would now seem an impossible majority. And thus the question will be settled.

Yesterday, the Democratic Senators held a caucus. It was agreed that Cass should be proposed as Chairman of the compromise committee, inasmuch as Cass was the first to stay the torrent, and his party the most powerful in Congress. But the old General rose and declined the honor which he conceived due to Henry Clay. Had Clay been in that caucus, and heard the voluntary tribute paid to his genius and character by men, the most prominent in the land, and opposed through life to his politics and measures, how it would have warmed his heart and increased his faith in the generosity and virtue of his countrymen! After the adjournment of the Senate, Clay, being surrounded by ladies, as usual—and women are better judges of character than men—Several Senators passed him, when, remembering the old adage "business first and pleasure afterwards"—the old Roman cried, "I shall call the committee together to-morrow!"

OBSERVER.

WASHINGTON, April 22d, 1850.

The two Houses are now in the best condition for a settlement, and it is with infinite pleasure that I can now say the bill will pass both Houses.

Mr. Douglas's bill for the admission of California, which, together with the territorial bill, will no doubt be adopted by the compromise committee, is by some supposed liable to lead to the alienation of the public domain; but this, I believe, is a mistake. The Supreme Court has ever and over again decided that question in favor of the United States. To grant against accidents, however, (it being rumored that certain families had pretty well feathered their nest that way.) Mr. Douglas himself prepared an amendment to this effect:

Section 3. That California shall be admitted into the Union upon the express condition that said State shall do nothing to impair or question the title or the United States to the public lands within her limits, nor interfere with the disposal of the same, nor impose any taxes on the public lands; and that her navigable waters shall be public highways for ever, free from taxes, &c.

This third section will be explicit enough for all reasonable purposes, and completely meet the case. The original bill had only two sections.

In the House we have had Mr. Richardson's resolutions up to investigate the claims which passed through the hands of the Secretary of the Interior, by the appointment of a committee with power to send for persons and papers. I have no doubt in my mind a third committee will examine the State Department, and the agency of certain persons with the Francis claim.

The Convention with England, of which I wrote you on Saturday last, has actually been signed. So the Nicaragua question is now settled. The treaty was sent into the Senate to-day, and read in secret session. I gave great satisfaction, and will no doubt be ratified, nem con, I give you a synopsis of the treaty in my column of yesterday.

A CALIFORNIA TREE.—The editor of the Mobile Advertiser has seen a letter from a gentleman of integrity and veracity, now in California. He writes as follows: "I send you the dimensions of a redwood tree near my camp, measured by myself. Height of the tree 363 feet; circumference, six feet above the ground, 17 feet 4 inches; height to the first branch, 50 feet; estimated diameter at the first branch, 6 feet. The body of the tree is perfectly round." Fifty-seven feet 4 inches circumference would give very nearly 19 feet diameter. Think of that, ye whose parlors are less than 19 feet square.

FLY TRAP.—A patent was granted at Washington, last week, to a man in Massachusetts, for a trap for catching flies.

A CARD FROM MR. BENTON.—The following letter, we learn from the National Intelligencer, was, on Thursday, communicated to the United States Attorney for that District: C STREET, April 18, 1850.

To Philip R. Fendall, Esq., United States District Attorney, Sir—A pistol was drawn upon me yesterday in the Senate Chamber, and, although the Senate has taken notice of that act, and commenced a proceeding upon it, yet this proceeding is no bar to the action of a court of justice, and, besides, the power of the Senate is limited. I think it a proper subject for a court of justice, and wish it to be brought before the Criminal Court of this District for the examination and decision which the laws would give it. I enclose a National Intelligencer of this morning, an official reporter of the Senate proceedings, and have marked the passages to which I invite attention. I do not send the paper as evidence; but as a guide to the inquiries of the Grand Jury, and have to add that I will be ready to appear before that body, if required, and perhaps give the names of some persons as witnesses.

Respectfully, sir, your ob't servant, THOMAS H. BENTON.

JOKING WITH A BARBER.—A correspondent tells us a story of our "Joems," which we intend to tell again for the edification of the public. Stopping for a day or two at a little village a short way out of Boston, Joems went to get shaved. On entering and casting his eyes about the room, he perceived that the barber drove the double trade of tonsor and grocer. "Shave, sir?" said the barber to his customer, whose face sufficiently indicated the object of his visit. Joems made no reply, but drawing himself up to a lofty height, proceeded, in the attorney fashion, to interrogate the barber as follows: "Sir, are you a barber?"

"Yes, sir, have a shave?" "And, sir, you have a shaver?" "Yes, sir, have any others?" "Well, sir, this double occupation of yours gives rise to the most horrible suspicions. It is a serious thing, sir, to submit one's head to the manipulation of a stranger; but if you can answer me a couple of questions satisfactorily, I should like to be shaved."

The barber said he would try. "Well, sir," said Joems solemnly, "do you shave with your razor knife?" "No, sir," said the barber smiling. "One question more," continued the interrogator; "do remember you are under oath, or rather, recollect that this is a serious business—the barber stated—one question more—do you never open oysters with your razor?" "No, sir," exclaimed the barber indignantly, amid the roars of laughter from the bystanders. "Then shave me," said Joems, throwing himself into the chair and untying his neckcloth, with the air of a man who has an unshaken confidence in human nature.—Boston Post.

A FATHER SHOT BY A SON.—On the 8th inst., at Cornum, Michigan, a boy, 12 years of age, laid in wait and shot his own father with a rifle. He only wounded his parent and attempted to finish his brutal work with the butt of his gun. As he approached him his father grasped a bullet of wood lying near by, and as his son came up, knocked him down with it. The neighbors found father and son lying senseless upon the ground.

A deaf and dumb couple were married at Pittsburg, on Tuesday last. The ceremony was performed by writing. They are said to be wealthy, and highly respectable.—There is no danger of the lady being a "scolding wife."

The recent session of the Legislature of Ohio chartered 50 companies for the construction of plank roads.

WILLIAMS' ANTI-DYSPEPTIC

Is the most valuable medicine offered to the Medical Faculty and the public for the cure of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, and all diseases arising from it, such as Nausea, Headache, Bilious Vomiting, Burning sensation at the pit of the stomach, Constipation, Nervous System, Liver complaint, Oppression after eating, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the pit of the stomach, or towards the right side, Indigestion of food, Depression of the spirits and Irritability of temper, &c. of the bowels.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

For the Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, CROUP, ASTHMA, WHOOPING-COUGH AND CONSUMPTION.

The uniform success which has attended the use of this preparation—its salutary effect—its power to relieve and cure affections of the Lungs, have gained for it a celebrity equalled by no other medicine. We offer it to the afflicted with entire confidence in its virtues, and the full belief that it will subside and remove the severest attacks of disease upon the throat and Lungs. These results, as they become publicly known, very naturally attract the attention of medical men and philanthropists, and we are glad to see their opinion of the CHERRY PECTORAL may be seen in the following:—

VALENTINE MOTT, M. D., Prof. Surgery Med. College, New York says: "I give my pleasure to certify the value and efficacy of Ayer's CHERRY PECTORAL, which I consider peculiarly adapted to cure diseases of the Throat and Lungs."

CHIEF JUSTICE JUSTIS, of Louisiana, writes: "That a young daughter of his was cured of several severe attacks of Croup by the 'CHERRY PECTORAL.'"

ASTHMA AND BRONCHITIS. The Canadian Journal of Medical Science, states: "That Asthma and Bronchitis so prevalent in this inclement climate, has yielded with surprising rapidity to Ayer's CHERRY PECTORAL, and we cannot too strongly recommend this skillful preparation to the Profession and public generally."

Let the relieved sufferer speak for himself.—HARRISON, Jan. 26, 1847. Dr. J. C. Ayer—Dear Sir:—Having been rescued from a painful and dangerous disease by your medicine, gratitude prompts me to send you this acknowledgment, not only in justice to you, but for the information of others in like affliction.

A slight cold upon the lungs, neglected at first, became so severe that spitting of blood, a violent cough and profuse night sweats followed and fastened upon me. I became emaciated, could not sleep, was distressed by cough, and a pain through my chest, and in short had all the alarming symptoms of quick consumption. No medicine seemed at all to reach my case, and I provisionally tried your CHERRY PECTORAL, which soon relieved and now has cured me.

Brown's Essence of Jamaica Ginger.

Prepared only by Frederick Brown, at his Drug and Chemical Store, North East Corner of Fifth and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia. THE Essence is a preparation of unusual excellence and of varied properties. In all cases where a powerful and safe stimulant is required, it is invaluable for efficacy as well as its immediate action. To the traveler and to the family circle it is invaluable, as a few drops dissolved in sugar and water present a safe and agreeable remedy to the invalid who requires immediate relief, as well as to the convalescing patient who needs a gentle tonic. In a Southern climate, where the relaxation of the system so generally induces that for stimulants, it will always be found an excellent substitute for those tempting beverages which debilitate the stomach and cause a morbid condition of the bowels. In dyspepsia, in relaxation of the bowels, in indigestion and in weakness, it is an active and safe as well as a pleasant and refreshing remedy, and is prescribed by the most eminent of the medical faculty.
