TION SETTLED Professor Page, in the Lectures which he is now delivering before the Smithsonian Institution, states that there is no longer any doubt of the application of this power as a substitute for steam. He exhibited the most imposing experiments ever witnessed in this branch of science. An immense bar of iron, weighing one hundred and sixty pounds, was made to spring up by magnetic action, and to move rapidly up and down, dancing like a feather in the air, without any visible support. The force operating upon this bar he stated to average three hundred pounds through ten inches of its motion. He said he could raise this bar one hundred feet as readily as through ten inches, and he expected no difficulty in doing the same with a bar weighing one ton, or a hundred tons. He could make pile-driver, or a forge-hammer, with great simplicity, and could make an engine with a stroke of six, twelve, twenty, or any number of feet.

The most beautiful experiment we ever witnessed was the loud sound and brilliant flash from the galvanic spark, when produced near a certain point in his great magnet .-Each snap was as loud as a pistol; and when he produced the same spark at a distance from this point, it made no noise at all. This recent discovery he stated to have a practical bearing upon the construction of an electromagnetic engine. Truly, a great power is here; and where is the limit to it?

He then exhibited his engine, of between four and five horse power, operated by a bat- electing delegates to the Democratic County Contery contained within a space of three cubic feet. It looked very unlike a magnetic machine. It was a reciprocating engine of two G. M. YORKS, feet stroke, and the whole engine and batte. WM. B. KIPP. ry weighed about one ton. When the power was thrown on by the motion of a lever, the engine started off magnificently, making one hundred and fourteen strokes per minute; though, when it drove a circular saw ten inches in diameter, sawing up boards an inch and a quarter thick into laths, the engine made but about eighty strokes per minute. There was great anxiety on the part of the spectators to obtain specimens of these laths. to preserve as trophies of this great mechanical triumph. The force operating upon his magnetic cylinder throughout the whole motion of two feet, was stated to be six hundred pounds when the engine was moving very slowly, but he had not been able to ascertain what the force was when the engine was runteresting point, however, is the expense of the power. Professor Page stated that he had reduced the cost so far, that it was less than steam under many and most conditions, tical difficulties to be overcome; the battery had yet to be improved; and it remained yet to try the experiment on a grander scale, to -Nat. THE WOODS.

Ain-Susanna.

There's a charm in those simple words, Come to the wood, Where we have roamed in childish glee, Through its mountain solitude, Where oft we've gathered berries bright When our path was strewed with flowers, And wandered to our hearts delight, Beneath those wild wood bowers. Come to the wood,

O! come to the wood, We love its cool and shady dells, Its mountain solitude Now, the wood's are green and gay,

Sweet with perfume, Fanned by the summer gales, In flora's gayest bloom, The forest lyres sweetly tuned Swept by the mountain breeze, Chaunt their own sad lullaby, The music of the trees. Come to the wood, O! come to the wood,

We'll pay our respects to the brave old Which for centuries have stood. There's music in the mountain rill. To lull the care worn breast,

To loll the care worn breast,
And the mossy bank is free to lay,
The weary limbs to rest.
Whilst through the old tree tops,
The zophyrs gently play,
And the wood nymphs dance in their fair
And thus pass old time away.
Come to the wood,
O! come to the wood,
We love its cool and shady dells. Sunbury, August 1850.

"The Hospland's Childrenter Greman Betters for the cure of Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsis, Chronic or Nervous Delaity, is deservedly one of the most popular medicines of the day. These Bittees have been used by thousands, and a friend at our show says he has himself received an effectual and persuasent cure of Liver Complaint from the use of this remety. We are convinced that, in the use of these Bitters, the patient constantly gains strongth and vigor—a face worthy of great consideration. They are pleasant in taste and smell, and can be used by persons with the most delicute stounchs with seferic, under any circumstances. We are speaking from experience, and to the afficied we advise their use."

Judge M. M. Noan, a gentleman with great scientific and hierary attainments, said in his "New York Weekly Messenger,!" January 6, 1850.

"Dr. Hoofhand's German Bitters.—Here is a preparation which the leading pressees in the Union appear to be mannimous in recommending, and the reason is obvious. It is made after a prescription rushed by one of the most celebrated physicians of modern times, the late Dr. Chr stepher Wilhestin Hoofhand, Professor to the University of Jena, private Physician to the King of Prussia, and one of the greatest medical writers Germany has ever produced. He was emplainteally the enemy of humbar, and therefore a medicine of which he was the inventor and andorser may be confidently relied on. He specially recommended it in Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Debitty, Vertigo, Acidity of the stomach. Constitution, and all complaints arising from a disordered condition of the stomach, the liver and the intestines. Nine Philadelthia papers express their conviction of its excellence, and several of the editors speak of metalicine of our readers to the present present proprietor's (Br. C. M. Jacks w.'s) praparation, but in recommending the article to a 1 afflicted "

More Evidence. The "Philadelphia Saturday Gazette," the best family newspaper published in the United States, the editor says

Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters. Dr. Hooftand's German Bitters.

"It is seldon that we recommend what are termed Petent Medicines to the confidence and patronage of our readers; and, thetefore, when we recommend Dr. Hooftand's German Bitters, we wis it to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the nostrums of the day, that are muscal about for a brief period and then forgotten after they have done their guilty race of muschief, but of a medicine long established, universally prized, and which has not the leastly approval of the Faculty itself,"

That this medicine will cure Liver Complaint and Dyspepsin, no one can doubt, after using it as directed. It acts specifically upon the stomech and later—it is preferable to colonic in all billious diseases—the effect is immediate. They can be islaninistered to Female or Infant with safety and reliable benefit, at any time.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS. This medicine has at ained that high character which is necessary for all medicines to attain to induce counterfeiters to put forth a spurious article at the risk of the lives of those are innocently deserved. LOOK WELL TO THE MARKS OF THE GENUINE They have the written signature of C. M. JACKS spon the wrapper, and the name blown in the bottle, wo nor which they are spatious.
