ELEVEN DAYS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE DANIEL WEBSTER.

HALF A MILLION IN GOLD.

New York, Jan. 11. The steamer Daniel Webster, from San Juan, whence she sailed on the evening of the 1st inst., and Havana the afternoon of the 6th inst., arrived this forenoon.

She brings dates from San Francisco to the 15th of December, 255 passengers, and $560,000, principally in the hands of passengers.

The United States steamer Saratoga, Commodore Parker, arrived at San Juan on the 1st inst., and her visit was supposed to have reference to the recent outrage upon the steamship Prometheus by the British brig of war Express. The event created great excitement at San Juan.

The British Admiral has ordered the brig-of-war Express, from San Juan to Kingston, in order to investigate the commander's conduct in reference to the Prometheus.

The papers contain contradictory statements relative to the gold discoveries in the Bear Valley; some asserting that the claim has the appearance of being worked out, whilst others affirm that the first accounts have been fully realized, and that it is a reliable fact that the original discoveries have sunk their hole to the depth of 12 feet, and have taken out $100,000.

Seaman's wages were firm, and engagements were difficult at late rates. Laborers obtain $5 to $6 per day, and carpenters and masons from $7 to $10. Other mechanical branches are prosperous.

The telegraph line of stages run from Sacramento to Nevada, a distance of eighty miles, in less than eleven hours.

Seven hundred and ninety-four loaded wagons, averaging over three thousand pounds each, and drawn by over two thousand horses, mules and oxen, passed east by Plum Valley House, Nevada, in one week.

Beavers are said to be very numerous on Dry River, a branch of the San Joaquin.

Snow had fallen to the depth of six feet in the country above Downville.

A SINGULAR HOMICIDE CASE.

Yesterday, Sarah Gerber, 14 years of age, was tried before Judge Kelley and Allison, charged with the murder of Florence Miller, an infant of ten months. The facts disclose an interesting and peculiar case. The parents of the deceased child reside in the city of Lancaster. They employed the defendant as child-nurse on the day after the death. Their child was apparently in good health until the close of the month of October, when it began to exhibit great restlessness. On the 29th of October, the child died. The child was apparently in good health until the close of the month of October, when it began to exhibit great restlessness. On the 29th of October, the child died.

"AID AND COMFORT," To Your Own Mechanics. GEORGE RENN.

MANUFACTURER OF FURNITURE AND CHAIRS. Of the most Fashionable Style.

THE subscriber respectfully calls the attention of the public to his large and splendid assortment of every quality and price of CABINET-WARE, which cannot fail to recommend itself to every one who will examine it, on account of its durable workmanship and splendid finish, made up of the best stock to be had in the city. No effort is spared in the manufacture of his ware, and an efficient and economical management of them.

Gov. JONES, however, is a new convert to this doctrine, having in his message of 1850, recommended a board to consist of five members to be elected by separate districts.

We are well convinced, too, that if the proposed reduction takes place, the Canal Commissioner should be required to nominate all his officers to the Senate for confirmation. This would prevent the removal of good officers for trivial causes, preclude the appointment of incompetent men and also prevent the Commissioner from using his power for personal and political purposes.

There can be but little doubt but that if a bill properly framed, reducing the number of Commissioners to one, electing a State engineer by the legislature or the people, requiring the former to nominate his officers to the Senate, should be passed by the legislature and become a law, our improvements would soon be made to yield a largely increased revenue, while the expenses of their management would be largely decreased. Divided responsibility must, in my very humble opinion, be inefficient, extravagant, compromising and ruinous.—Harrisburg Key-stone.

The city of London stands upon 620 acres. The fiscal property in houses located on this small spot is estimated at £40,000,000 sterling; and the value of movable property in the city is considered to be worth £100,000,000 sterling.

BURNED TO DEATH.—On the 22nd ult., a little girl, five years of age, daughter of Mrs. Mary Doolan, of New Market, York county, was so seriously burned, in Harrisburg, as to produce death shortly after.

HATS, with black feathers, and a tattered chapeau, having been y the backs of Broadway, N. Y., the Bowery, not to be outdone, adopted the Kosuth hat, but have in place of the black ostrich new turkey tail feather.

LETTER FROM LOLA MONTES.

The following rich letter, from Lola Montes, to the Editor of the New York Herald, appeared in that paper on Saturday. It shows up Mr. E. P. Willis, brother to the poet, in a beautiful manner, and it establishes the fact that Barrow's agent, M. Le Grand Smith was in negotiation for the lady, which has been repeatedly denied. Here is the letter:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE N. Y. HERALD.

Sir.—Having seen in the Herald a correspondence between Mr. E. P. Willis and Col. Bolo, relative to my pecuniary affairs and business arrangements generally, I take an early opportunity to say that it was commenced and carried on entirely without my consent.

Mr. E. P. Willis called on me in Paris; introduced himself as the brother of Mr. N. P. Willis, editor of the Home Journal, or as he called it, the "Times of America," and the most influential paper in the United States; that he (E. P. Willis) controlled the press of New York, and corresponded with a large number of the leading papers in various parts of the country. At this interview he stated that he had heard that I proposed visiting America, and offered his services to facilitate the object of my proposed tour. I introduced Mr. Willis to my friends, and he succeeded in making them believe that he was one of the most influential men in the United States, and that the Home Journal, and his brother, not only made public opinion in this country, but controlled it after it was made, and that if he was employed, my success was placed beyond a possibility of a doubt. Of course it became important that so desirable a person as Mr. E. P. Willis should be secured, and I finally decided to select him as my traveling agent to accompany me to the United States. Shortly after his first interview, he frankly stated to me that although he had a large property in the States, yet some temporary difficulties had occurred which prevented his agents in New York from making the usual remittances, and that he was actually without a sou.—The latter part of this story I soon ascertained to be strictly true. The frankness of Mr. Willis was appreciated, his entire wardrobe was replenished; he was taken from the wretched garret where he domiciled; his watch, which was at his "uncle's," was redeemed, and Mr. Willis soon found himself independent of the charity of Americans in Paris. As an instance of the way in which he abused my confidence, I may state a single case. An American lady travelling up the Rhine, was in temporary pecuniary embarrassment. I sent her 400 fr. by the hands of Mr. Willis, who told me that the lady had received it, and was very grateful. On my arrival in New York, I accidentally learned that Mr. Willis had never given her a cent, but that she had been relieved from her difficulties in Europe, by the generosity of the Hon. R. J. Walker. Up to the time of my departure from Paris, I had paid 2000 fr. to liquidate claims against Mr. Willis, without which he could not have left that city. Had my kindness and generosity to Mr. Willis been less, he would now have been in the hands of his creditors in France, instead of being in this country, publishing letters in the newspapers to injure me.

Many advantageous proposals were made to me in regard to my visit to America, and one in particular by Mr. Le Grand Smith, the agent of Mr. P. T. Barrow, who had credentials from the latter distinguished person to make engagements for him in Europe; but the representations, or rather misrepresentations of Mr. E. P. Willis, induced me to decline all such overtures and to keep him as my agent. As soon as possible after my arrival, without suffering a greater pecuniary loss than I had already experienced, I discharged him altogether from my house and service. This desirable termination was rendered more sudden in consequence of his gross and ungentlemanlike behavior in many respects, and more immediately in consequence of his attempting to enter my bedroom, and other efforts to compromise me with the inmates of my house.

MARK DE LANDSFEVER HEALD.

"LOLA MONTES."

REDUCTION OF THE CANAL BOARD.

We call special attention to the recommendations of the Governor in reference to the reduction of the Canal Board, without, however, endorsing fully the position he assumes. The necessity for this step has long been apparent to those who have made our system of internal improvements their study, and who fully comprehended the importance of an efficient and economical management of them.

Gov. JONES, however, is a new convert to this doctrine, having in his message of 1850, recommended a board to consist of five members to be elected by separate districts.

We are well convinced, too, that if the proposed reduction takes place, the Canal Commissioner should be required to nominate all his officers to the Senate for confirmation. This would prevent the removal of good officers for trivial causes, preclude the appointment of incompetent men and also prevent the Commissioner from using his power for personal and political purposes.

There can be but little doubt but that if a bill properly framed, reducing the number of Commissioners to one, electing a State engineer by the legislature or the people, requiring the former to nominate his officers to the Senate, should be passed by the legislature and become a law, our improvements would soon be made to yield a largely increased revenue, while the expenses of their management would be largely decreased. Divided responsibility must, in my very humble opinion, be inefficient, extravagant, compromising and ruinous.—Harrisburg Key-stone.

Dr. HOOPER'S GERMAN BITTERS.—This celebrated medicine is one of the very best in the country, and its good qualities only need to be known, to give it precedence over all others now in use.

It shows up Mr. E. P. Willis, brother to the poet, in a beautiful manner, and it establishes the fact that Barrow's agent, M. Le Grand Smith was in negotiation for the lady, which has been repeatedly denied. Here is the letter:
