THE RAISING OF CORN.

BT J. C. WHITTIER.

The most important crop we farmers raise, Unless 'tis grass, is Indian corn, or maize; Varieties of which are found to grow, From Canada and Maine, to Mexico; From were Atlantic's stormy billows roar, To mild Pacific' rich and peaceful shore, In every section of our favored land, The rows of corn like ranks of soldiers

With care 'twill thrive in almost any spot, Unless 'tis very cold or very hor. 'Tis true it grows the largest South and West, And yet the northern frontiers raise the best; At least, 'tis best for making bread, Or hasty puddings, Johnny cakes instead Twill always fetch or bring a little more At market, mill, or at the farmers' door. But here upon New-England's sterile soil, It takes manure and money, time and toil So much indeed of each, a man maintains That by his corn alone he nothing gains. Another man may just as truly say, His corn will more than all expenses pay They both the art of farming understand, But cultivate a different kind of land; And this accounts, in part, for different

Which men pursue in cultivating maize ; For some in Autumn plow their planting ground, Because, they say, 'tis swarded hard or bound--

In other words, our land is strong and tough, We fear 'will not get pulverised enough, Unless we bring the clayey stratum where Twill undergo the action of the air. The old, or fine manure, in summer made, Is heaped upon the field, or near it laid, And in the spring, they harrow well and spread

The fresh manure from cellar, yard or shed, And ere its strength by sun or rain is lost, The ground is plowed a second time, or Again 'tis harrowed too, but lightly now,

Then marked or furrowed out, with horse and plow, From East to West, three feet or more, From North to South, six inches less than

And now, the cart with old moure they fill, And put a shovel full in every hill; 'Twill give the corn a start and make it

And what was spread will help to fill it out. The corn for seed was gathered in the field,

Or else from stalks of more than usual They only use the middle of the car-

The reason why is very plain and clear, Five kernals in a hill they plant or drop, Then cover well and press upon the top. Before the corn is up, the field is lined, About the only thing that crows will mind They've no regard for other's rights or law, They boldly face the men of merely straw, But, like some others take good care to shun The REAL men, who chance to have a gun, The dark green corn, in rows will soon be seen, And then, with plough and hoe, they weed it clean, And at the time, the broad foundations lay, On which to build their hills, some future day. The work of building up they soon renew And every hill is raised an inch or two; And ere it tassels out, or just before 'Tis time to hay, they add a little more. They don't believe the crop of corn is hurt By hoeing up a good supply of dirt; Each time they hoe, a set of braces start, Which help sustain the stalks erect in part. But now they lay aside the plough and hoe, watch the corn to see it grow And when the tops begin to turn or die, They're cut and stacked, or hung in barns

The stalks are out and carted in, when dead, The ears are husked and in the garner spread; Their recompense for toil they now behold, A sight as rich as California gold!

Most farmers here, the course described pursue, White others think another mode will do,

They don't break up till Spring, the sward is The old and fresh manure they harrow in,

And think it best, justead of making hills, To keep the surface flat and plant in dulls And when the corn as glazed begins to 'Tis cut, and left to ripen on the stock.

stalks, on which their Winter's stock to They merely pluck the soundest ears, as hest, And let their "longfaced gentry" have the

In places where the farmer does not heed

They undermine the stalks and let them fail And thus the greedy porkers glean it all.

We might go on and mention other ways, Which some adopt, and recommend, or But as 'tis only universal rules,

Which meet the wants of our common schools. So here, in this broad land, no special plan For raising corn, will do for every man. And what conclusion shall we draw from hence ! That all must exercise their common sense [Boston Cultivator.]

A MODERN PHILANTHOPIST.

Mr. Edmund Quincy, in a letter to the New York Anti-Slavery Standard, thus notices the recent accident to Mr. Web-

"On the Marshfield farmer's way from the nearest station to his house, he was thrown from his carriage; but such being the Whig fate, he did not break his neck ! No ! The ancient prophesey was fulfilled; and the serpent only bruised his head? Possibly. however, as he fell on his face, he may have agreeably varied his diet by eating some Northern dirt. Had the news only arrived that he was out of their way ! the onion market might have risen, newspapers would have been edged with black, a portentons funeral would have blackened the streets. Mr. Choate would have lied over him like a bulletin or an epeitaph, or, what strong in some people, especially if they have any pretension to the character of a philanthropist. Their sympathy is so widespread, embracing the whole human race, hat they have not a drop to spare for the nisfortunes of a single individual. Mr. Ednuad Quincy no doubt believes himself to ie a humanitarian, overflowing with love or his species. The droppings from his acket show the venomous quality of the istilment. It is seldom that public decency contraged to the extent exhibited in this ublished extract.

VEGETABLE CATTLE POWDER PREPARED BY

BREINIG, FRONEFIELD & CO. No. 187 North Third Street, Philadelphia.

THIS powder is entitled by the united testimony of all who have used it to the first rank of all those CAT-TLE MEDICINISS, which have been thought praiseworthy for many years. Indeed we challenge any person to make a superior, or any powder that acts in the same manner. If the animal be perfectly healthy it will either increase the amount of mak or cream and butter; or the naimal will improve rapidly in fat. It will therefore in time be considered we have no doubt one of the staple articles of every Fattener, who keeps a diary; and of every person, owning a horse. It is not one of those kind or Misturate that merely swell an animal up for a short time, but it will by the capacity which it has of converting HIPPURIC ACID (which is an effete matter) into Lactic Acid to the system in the form of Hippune Acid—we have received a multitude of evidence to prove what we have swell above. Suffice to say!

We have mixed the active agent, with a great number of Vacaran, plants and berlas, which time and use have proved to be useful, improving the appetite and primoting digestion of the for it than securing a healthy condition of the blood, from which the Mixa and Fax must be formed. It may be used for Horsers, Cows and Hoos for the following complaints and declares. No. 187 North Third Street, Philadelphia.

HORSES. YELLOW WATER, a dangerous sickness, which de-stroys many valuable houses every year, is very often entirely cured by the free use of this powder, in all cases it will prevent the disease from coming on. This disease is owning to a find and impoverished state of the blood which becomes thin, watery and of all yellow-erby.

The Militer are worthy they attention of invalidation of the blood which becomes thin, watery and of all yellow color.
