ast .- The case of Arcled of the murder of in brought to the notice tedly on Sa'urlay, by I for the prisoner, who new trial, and in arrest apport of the motion he teasons:

was irregular, and the emjury irregular and contrary as Charles McQuillan, who in the case, had never been aed and returned as such, but te name of Barnard Corr, and sworn and empannelled as a sanknown to the prisoner or his all after the verdict.

be verdict cannot be sustained, be mard Corr, who was supposed to be pe jury, did not act as such and unite

Joran stated that he had received an nous letter, informing him of the facts aed and the reasons, and he believed as would be able to sustain them by oce. He thought the discovery of these fatal to the prosecution, and entiprisoner to a new trial.

Aced, the District Attorney, asked the to fix Monday, (this morning) for an nation of the case. The Court com. and further action was then suspended e allegations are that Corr, being a man asiness, and finding it inconvenient to and as a juror, suggested that he would fard some one to attend for him. Meillan, hearing this, came forward and volsteered his services. He attended the first ay of the period, and answered to the name if Corr. He appeared each subsequent day, answering in the same manner, and was fre' quently empannelled in cases. The legality of the convictions in these cases of course, are equally effected.

A precisely similar state of facts probably has never arisen, certainly not in this county, but there are legal precedents which may be made to apply to the present circumstances. There is an act of Assembly in force that covers any defect in the venire issued to the Sheriff for the summoning of Jurors, or the precept of the Court, and a plea by the prithe same; but that is not the case now -The return of the Sheriff to the venire contains the name of Bernard Corr, and the record of the Court shows that Bernard Corr. was present in Court, tried the case and renlered a verdiet of conviction. The record a therefore perfect and, in order to establish he grounds assumed by the defendant's ounsel, it must be attacked and proved to the incorrect. This is certainly a novel pro. ceeding; but nevertheless may be allowed by the Court, inasmuch as a contempt of an unusual degree of aggravation has been offered to that tribunal, which, in vindication of its own dignity, may be compelled to take cognizance of the offer and allow the examination of witnesses. A general feeling of inlignation on Saturday pervaded the communiy in reference to the two men who have prouced this mortifying difficulty. It is probale that before the question now pending is ecided. Mr. Reed will have Spring tried on ie other bill charging him with the murder Mrs. Shaw-he having been tried only on ie other indictment.

Since the conviction of Arthur Spring, Sen . e younger Spring has been staying at the uthwark station house in charge of Lieut ark, where he has been visited by a numr of persons who have become interested his future welfare. He is desirous to prore employment at a confectioner's estabhment, and will probably return to his mer employer in Washington, who has exseed a willingness to take him back is will best suit his views, as he wishes to near his sisters, who are in the orphan lum in that city, and contribute towards ir support. His visitors presented him h various sums of money, and his first use the funds thus placed in his possession s to send $3 to the keeper of the clothing e in Market street, for the coat he ran off h when dropped on the pavement by a belonging to the establishment. The er of the coat was not aware of the theft I told of it.

ir. Lynch remains at the Adelphi street on house, where he receives every attenat the hands of the officers stationed e. He sensibly feels his loss, and at s is completely overpowered with grief. has resisted every effort to induce him to the scene of the horrible tragedy, and nas author zed the Marshall to sell by ion, to-morrow, the household goods beng to him. His unfortunate children rein the care of Mrs. Allen and Mrs. n, by whom they were first taken, and ovision has yet been made for their fusupport. Several silk dresses belong-n of his gnill. He asseverates his insee, accuses his sen of the murder, and to him when asked what has become gold of which the trunk of Mrs. Lynch lundered. No trace of the gold has yet iscovered.
