L. writes to the Journal of Commerce, that, on Monday last, a live sea tiger, weighing 145 pounds, and measuring 5 feet 2 inches in length, was captured about a quarter of a mile from the Lighthouse When discovered, he howled most pitcously, and fought "like a tiger," wounding a dog severely. It is said to be the only thing of the kind ever seen in that vicinity. Where's Barnom ?

Mr. Perry, the operator on the Morse telegraphic line at Meridee, Conn., was instantly killed by the accommodation train from Springfield on Saturday afternoon. He was standing on the platform at the depot, and was in the act of handing a letter to some person on the cars, while they were in motion, when he fell on the track, and the wheels of a passenger car passed over his neck.

MEAN BUSINESS .- General McDevitt, foreman of the Evening Mirror, is the proprietor of a valuable medicine known as "The Fever Exterminator," which has never yet failed in a single instance known to the proprietor -A certain person connected with an Express Company, being aware of the efficacy of this medicine, had it analyzed, and manufactured quantities of it himself, which he palmed off on the public. If this is not mean business, then we do not know what is .- Merchants' Ledger.

CHARLES MATHEWS AND MUNDES .- Ma. thews was always sprucely dressed and fond of a bandsome umbrella. Munden was mi-serly in his habits. He was generally meanly dressed and carried an old cotton parachute. After Munden had left the singe, Mathews met him one day in Covent Gar-den. "Ah, Munden," said Mathews, "I beg you'll let me have something of yours for a remembrance."

Certainly, my boy," replied Joe Munden -"We'll exchange umbrellas." Mathews was so taken by storm that
