do not lie, no matter who may doubt.

We boast of our ability to feed the world, and of the business we are doing in that way now; but we suppose that the silks-piece goods including ribands, but not buttons and ornaments chiefly manufactured of silksbrought here for the adornment of Republicans and their wives and daughters exceed in value, by eight million of dollars, all the flour that we send abroad. Yet suce is the fact. In the year ending June 30th, 1855, we exported $14.783,394 in flour, and imported $22.470.911 in silks, leaving the balance we have above stated to be charged to the dif-ference between the pride of Americans and the appetite of all the world besides.

the appetite of all the world besides.
Our cornfields, particularly in the West,
are the occasion of much national boasting.
We measure them singly by miles square, and estimate their aggregate value in hundreds of millions; but the amount of this our national staple which we send abroad is overshadowed by the cost of the cigars with which we poi son our breath and rain our health. In the period we have named, corn worth $1,374,077 left our ports, and cigars valued at $3,311,- 935 were brought in.

The herds of cattle and the resulting barrels of beef people never tire of talking of. They see in them a large part of the material with which we claim we can fill the maw of all civilized mankind. Our merchants who are in that line watch the foreign markets with great solicitude, and guage their prices by the signals from the other side of the water. But the beef, tallow, hides, and "horncattle" we sold for other countries only $2,-214,554 in the last commercial year, and during that time we bought brandy to the amount of $3,241,408.

We deal leargely in tobacco, raise it in quantities, chew and smoke it without limit. It constitutes the third in value in the list of commodities which this country has to spare. Yet we export only $11,319,319 in value of this article yearly, and last year we received in return tea and coffee amounting in round numbers to $24,000,000. Even in narcotics the balance of trade is largely against us. Bacon lard, and live hogs are not unimportant items in our commerce; yet we send abroad only enough of these to buy the lineu

But "cotton is king." That wipes out the pecuniary effect of the follies and extravagances which all have conspired to commit. Of that we sent out last year ship enough to swell the agregate value of the export to $109,456,000 an amount greater than the value of all other exports specie included. - Chicago Tribune.

ENCOUNTER WITH A WOLF .- Some two or three weeks since, says the Comberland Telegraph, a very large male wolf, driven by hunger from the mountain forests, made his appearance in the region of country in this unty, known as the Crossings Forks. commenced the depredations upon stock and began to be considerable of an annoyance to he makendmen of that locality. He kept HOWARD & CO'S out of harm's way several weeks. At last one; men named Christian Beachy, who had requestly encountered his tracks in the deep snow, duclared his intention to give him chase To over came across him when he (Beachy) on on his favorite horse, a powerful and swift lanted animal, capable of endurance and able to still stand the hardships of a vigorous dash against the unscrupulous invader of sheep-folds and stock yards.

A few days since Beachy, in company with another young man, also mounted, beheld the wolf's track in the snow. It was fresh, apparently just made, and a pitch for him was at once determined upon. The snow was upwards of two feet deep, but nothing daunted Beachy, on his powerful horse, plunged through into the fore t followed by his companion, who was unable to keep within halling distance. The wolf finding himself pursued dashed boldly forward, but the gullant steed of Beachy, after a rapid chase of hal! an bour, bore him by the side of the wolf .ripringing from his horse, he (being unarmed) caught the animal by the tail. Then a battle ensued of a fierce character.

The wolf snapped his powerful jaws in per feet rage, but by continually jerking him about, and administering, at every favorable opportunity, a powerful kick with a heavy boot in the side, he managed to hold on uninjured until the arrival of his companion, when the ferocious animal was dispatched with one well almed blow from a club.

Beachy is a man of great muscular power and courage, and the two combined enabled him to retain his hold upon the wolf until he was dispatched. When his companion arrived he was nearly exhausted.

The wolf would not have been so easily captured, but having been indiscreet in his young days, he had put one of his feet into a steel trup, and had thereby lost the entire foot to the first joint.

A SEVERE RESURE -In the Democratic City Convention yesterday, when the question of nominating a candidate for City Solicitor was up, Mr. George W. Biddle, who aspired to the honor, made a desperate clutch at it by rising and boasting that he was the first ominous silence, and when the balloting took place, he was left far behind his competitor. A more significant and crushing rebuke could not have been administered, and no one can regret the defeat of Mr. Biddle. It is singular that in a community like this, a man could have had the temerity (for we cannot call it courage) to make such a declaration .-The whole community take a deep interest in the question referred to, and it is an encouraging thing to find that even the Democratic party will not encourage the sentiments so fool ship attered in their representative body, -Evening Bulletin, April 10.

ARCTIC SEAS IN NORTHERN LAKES .- Mr. James J. Strang, the "monarch" of Beaver Isle. Lake Michigan, the celebrated Mormon leader, in sending to the Smithsonian Institution his meteorological returns, says;

"As the mail is sent by a man on snow shoes eighty miles and back at my private expense, I do not get off but one or two a month. Our winter so far has been very fine, though a little cooler than usual: but the field of ice is immerse, beyond all example. I think there is two thousand square miles more of ice north of the Maniton Islands than have been known before within the date of the earliest tradition. Nine feet of ice was found by cutting through off Bouth Fox Island, where ice was never seen before.— This is to be attributed as much to the stillness of the water as the severity of the cold. Very little ice is banked. Most of it remains undisturbed where first formed.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS AD ID fallible Remedy for Botches on the skin .- Edgar Mortimer, aged 25, of Third-street, ladelphia, was for five years a severe sufferer with blotches on the skin, the whole of his face, neck, arms, and hands, being disfigured with them like small-pox; he concalted several very clever medical men, who told him is was the predicating symptoms of some disease, which alarmed him exceedingsome disease, which alarmed him exceedingiy; however, he took Holloway's Pills immediately, and rubbed the Ointment on the parts affected, and in two weeks the whole of the blotches disappeared, and his health was considerably improved. These remedies and aloves even of twenty years standing New Advertisements.
