the civil war raging in the States of Guerrero, Michoaean, Queretaro, and Guanaxuato, which display the strongest disaffection to the new government. The whole country is in a lamentable condition. Generals Doblado, Parodi and Arteniza are fortified at Zelays, in the State of Guanaxuato, with 6000 men and twenty-seven pieces of artillery. The government forces are posted near Zelayn, awaiting reinforcements, when it is supposed an action will take place. Robbery after robbery is reported almost daily.

General Alvarez is reported in the field, with 3000 cavalry, in opposition to the new government, and the downfall of Zuloaga is considered certain.

It is reported that the new government is pronounced for at Guadalaxara. Gen. Garzia has possession of Tampico, and is in the Federal interest.

Confidence is said to be a plant of slow growth, the truth of which is fully made manifiest by the business, or rather the want of business in this great city. The effects of the late financial crisis are still felt, though the causes that produced them have disappeared. Money, not bank paper, but solid gold and silver, is now more abundant than was ever known, and the Banks are reluctant in receiving all that is offered. In all the cities large sums are lying idle. The gross mismanagement and failure of the Bank of Pennsylvania has greatly injured the confi dence heretofore reposed in the city Banks. According to the report of the commissioners appointed to examine the affairs of the Bank, the President, Thomas Allibone, appears to for $6.00. have had its entire direction. Ilis own account in the Bank shows immense sums expended. In one of these accounts $25,000 is charged, given as compensation to an individual for services in the sale of the banking house to the government for a Post Office. The following extracts from the report will afford some idea of the gross mismanagement | delphia. of this institution :

It does not take much calculation to perceive that in discounting bills in large sums per cent., there is a great loss, that must be charged to some account to keep the books straight. Another cause of loss to the Bank was the habit of paying usurious interest on deposits. The late President of the Bank certifies that, within the last four years, he paid one firm in Third street over one hundred thousand dollars for interest on deposits

Mr. Arm-strong had retired to bed, but had occasion to get up to wind the clock, when looking out of the window discovered the fire at the barn, and upon running to it found that his horses were already dead, and without thinking of the cows, returned to the house to put on his clothes. When he returned again to the barn everything was in a blaze, and it was found too late to save anything but a wagon and buggy. The fire originated in the oddering room, and is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. The barn was nearly new. Mr Armstrong's loss about is $2,000, on which there was an insurance of about

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS WABBINGTON, March 13, 1858.

SENATE.-Mr. Wade, of Ohio, spoke on the Kansas bill, defending the North from the charges of aggression upon the South, and contending that the aggression is all the other way. In this connection, he charged the seizure of Texas and her admission into the Union (in flagrant violation of the Constitu-tion of the United States) as an enormous aggression upon the rights of the North. Mr. Wade next entered into an elaborate defence of the laborers of the North from the aspersions of the Senator from South Carolina (Mr. Hammond) and others. He pointed to the achievements, as recorded in the Pa-tent Office and elsewhere, as evidence of their civilization and genius. It was not, he said, on the prostrate necks of such a class that a Senator from South Carolina could erect his system of society. He might as well at-tempts to make his bed in hell, or erect his edifice over a volcano. Nor was it necessary for the South to send its threatened mission aries to the North to teach such laborers their power. They knew the value of their votes. Their interest in the State and all that concerns good government is the same as all oth-As to the degraded class alluded to by ers. the Senator,, he admitted their existence .-But he contended they are mostly foreigner the sweepings of the old world, ignorant and vicious, but nevertheless good Democrats, and the principal supporters of slavery now found in the North. Slaves in their own country, they naturally attach themselves to slaveholders in this. Mr. Wade next passed to the Supreme Court, commenting on its Dred Scott decision, and asserting that its dictation can bind no one excepting sultors in their own courts. Then addressing himself to Mr. Hammond's boast, that the slave holders had ruled this nation for sixty years, be admitted its truth, but contended that it was only through the aid of that most despicable of the men-the northern doughfacesa type of men not new in the world, for Moses encountered them in the wilderness, where turning from the visible glories of the almighty, they fell prostrate to worship an Egyptian calf. These men hungered after the flesh pots of Egypt. They were national men.-They were not Northern men with Southern principles, but Israelites with Egyptian principles. Our Saviour met with a man of this class in Judas Iscariot, and Washington and his associates had encountered them frequently. Mr. Wade then turned to the Kansas question, and in the course of his remarkshe alluded to the Toombs bill, saying that he had heard a curious piece of history about it. A clause, he said, was originally attached to that bill, providing for the submission of the Constitution to the people of Kansas, but when it was afterwards debated by the Committee on Territories, at the house of their chief, it was stricken out. A Senator-For peculiar reasons Mr. Wade-Aye, for very peculiar rea-the Senator from Pennsylvania is correct or not. My impression was that he did deny it. I thought from the tremor the Senstor exbi-bited when he rose, that he was about to take back all that he had said. Mr. Pugh, of Ohio, thought he could relieve the Senator from Pennsylvania, (Mr. Bigler.) from some embarrassment, by stating that when the matter first came up, he, as the friend of both the gentleman from Pennsyl-vania, and the gentleman from Illinois, bad brought them together, when his (Mr. Pugh's) impression was that Mr. Bigler was correct, that the conversation alluded to transpired in another part of the room, where the Senator from Illineis did not hear it. have not been in the habit of making speeches in Kansas. Once I did address the people on Kansas, when I said that the Constitution should be submitted to a vote, but I had no question in view excepting that of slavery. Mr. Broderick, of California, moved that Mr. Douglas be sent for, or that the Senate adjourn the further consideration of the bill Bigler) then said he did not have a very tinct recollection, but thought that such a discussion as alluded to had taken place, when the Senator from Illinois (Mr. Douglas) distinctly denied it. Mr. Bigler-He did not.

Alr. Brederick-That is my impression, sir! Mr. Bigler-Your impressions then are wrong. He was careful and guarded in the statements he made. The Senator from Cal-ifornia (Mr. Broderick) seeks to place this matter in a false view before the Senate.
