-----A YOKE OF ONEN AT ONE CHAM .- Many years ago, a Mr. Miller, one of the early settiers of a neighboring town, sold a yoke of exen fer $50, and in payment received a fifty dollar bank bill, which he carefully folded up keeping. Mr. M. was accustomed to make use of the 'weed' at any hour of the day or night, whenever he felt an inclination for it Mines. The night following the sale of the oxen he sought his tobacco box, and finding a conversion with a summing of nieut pertion, he put it in his mouth, and not readily obtaining the full benefit he expected. From Will susrent to SUNBURY & BALTIMORE he chewed it most vigorously and effectually, exclaming as he did so:

'Nu strength to the tobacco! no strength to the tobacco !" When, recollecting the transaction of the day, and the place where he deposited his treasure he added:

Obio ; a yoke of oxen at one chaw!"

A LIVING FAITH. In a public school, in Northumbers New York, a short time since, on an alarm of fire, a terrible panic ensued, and many of the scholars were injured by rushing to the doors, and one of the teachers, a young lady, jumped from a window. Among the hundreds of children, with whom the building was crowded was one girl, among the best in the school, who, through all the frightful scene, main tained entire composure. The color, indeed forsook her cheek; her lip quivered; the tears stood in her eyes, but she moved not. After VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE order had been restored, and her companions order had been brought back to their places, the lienty Masser, dee'd, offer at private calc so still, without apparent alarm, when every body else was in such a fright.
