THE ITALIAN NEWS CONFIRMED.

The Pope Meditates Flight—Lamoriciere Defeated in Six Hours' Battle—Six hundred Irishmen taken Prisoners of War—The Pope Preparing for his Departure.

The London Herald's Paris correspondent informs that a rumor has been current in the city, announcing his determination to withdraw from Rome, is already prepared.

The battle of the 18th, between Lamoriciere and Cialdini, lasted six hours. After the battle the greater portion of the pontifical army capitulated. The foreign troops will return to their respective countries. Lamoriciere, with a few horsemen, succeeded in reaching Ancona. Outside of Ancona there is not a single pontifical battalion.

There was a rumor reported in Paris that Napoleon would attend the imperial meeting at Warsaw.

The following official despatch had reached Paris:—

Paris, Sept. 18th—Lamoriciere, with 11,900 men attacked to-day the position lately taken by Cialdini at Castle Fidardo. The fight was short, but desperate, with the following results:—The junction of Lamoriciere's corps with the remainder of his troops at Ancona is prevented; six hundred prisoners have been made; six pieces of artillery and a flag were taken; only the wounded, among whom was Gen. Peiradoni, fell into the hands of Cialdini. The loss of the enemy is considerable.

A column of 6000 men made a sortie from Ancona and took part in the fight, but was compelled to retire, and is being pursued by the Sardinian troops. The Neapolitan fleet opened fire against Ancona.

The six hundred prisoners of war taken at Spigno are Irishmen. The Sardinian government wished the British Minister to take charge of and send them home, but declined, saying he could not regard them as British subjects.

No foreign minister except the French had been ordered to quit Turin.

Advices from Turin assert that a letter had been addressed by Garibaldi to Victor Emmanuel, demanding the immediate dismissal of Favous and Farini. He also demanded 30,000 Sardinian troops to garrison Naples. Garibaldi's letter is couched in energetic but respectful terms.

Military operations in Syria would commence after the hot weather. Achmet Pacha, Osman Bey and Mustafa Bey, who betrayed the Christians at Hama, were ordered to the massacres, were shot at Damascus on the 8th.

AN IMPORTANT LETTER FROM ROME.—The Emperor, of Paris, gives the substance of a letter said to have been written to Garibaldi by Kossuth, recommending him to break his connection with Victor Emmanuel and his government, who also can effect the liberation of Italy. He also invites the Dictator to give up all designs upon Rome, in order not to draw upon himself the hostility of France, the only defender of Italy and the only hope of oppressed nationalities; and, lastly, not to attempt anything against Hungary, that country not being as yet ripe for revolution.

THE ELECTION.

The elections are over, and the excitement incident thereto has already settled down with that calm submission to the will of the people, which constitutes the strength, life and security of our republican form of government. Our Republican friends have achieved a great victory, and are greatly rejoiced thereat. No intelligent Democrat, however, could reasonably anticipate any other result. "Coming events cast their shadows before," and it was plainly evident for two years past that the ill-advised and insane policy of Mr. Buchanan and his administration was crashing over the very life blood of the Democratic party—that party which elevated him to his present high position, notwithstanding the leaven of old federalism, which was never eradicated from his system. We were not disappointed, and it is, perhaps, just, as well as beneficial, that parties, like individuals, should be made suffer for their transgressions and short comings.

Our Republican opponents have not only profited by our errors, but have corrected, in many instances, their own. They have in many instances selected their best men as candidates, while many of our own party insist upon the distribution of the offices as rewards for party services, without regard to their qualifications. Thus good and deserving men of our party are made to suffer for the evils brought about by corrupt and designing politicians.

The result in this county has been about an equal division of the offices. For Congress there was a warm contest, and Mr. Hughes, though not elected in the district, has made a most creditable run, under the circumstances, in this county.

For Sheriff there was a three-handed fight, and Dr. Waldron, the successful candidate, owes his election to his personal popularity in his own neighborhood. The Doctor has not been much known as a politician, and in this confusion of parties, his good standing at home has saved his election. The Doctor we have reason to believe, will make a good officer.

For Senator, Mr. Bound, Republican, has received such a vote in a strong Democratic district that should teach political workers that people not only think for themselves, but act for themselves.

For Assembly, Anos T. Bissel is re-elected over Samuel Dot by a majority of 66. Mr. Bissel has been an active member, and his election is the only instance we remember of two successive victories over the Democracy.

For Prothonotary, Mr. Beckley has been re-elected by a large majority. Mr. Beckley has been an obliging and attentive officer.

Isaac D. Baker will make an excellent Commissioner, and comes from a section of the county entitled to the office. Under other circumstances he would have had a much larger majority.

For Auditor, Mr. Hoffa has been elected. This is an important office, and ought to be filled by a competent man.

The Philadelphia papers are full of the receptions and doings of the Prince of Wales and suite in that city, on Tuesday and Wednesday, during which time the Prince was at Girard College, the State Prison, the Joanne Asylum, at the races, and at the opera. He left on Thursday morning for New York.

The Republicans have carried Ohio and Indiana. The Reform Mayor in Baltimore is elected by 9000.

THE SICILIAN REVOLUTION—KING FRANCIS WANTS TO FIGHT. The king of Naples, according to the correspondence of the Paris Debates, is in a much stronger position than was generally supposed and has fully made up his mind to make a bold effort to retrieve his fortunes.

The following proclamation to those of his soldiers who had followed him to Gaeta was issued on the 8th:—

"Soldiers!—It is time that you should have in your ranks the voice of your sovereign, who has grown up in the midst of you, and who, after devoting to you all his attention, has come to share your dangers and your misfortunes. Those who deluded or seduced, have plunged the king into this mortal and mourning, are no longer amongst us. I now come to make an appeal to your honor, to your loyalty and to your reason even, that you may efface the shame of cowardice and the infamy of treason by a series of glorious combats not to call for a truce. Our numbers are still sufficient to meet an enemy who uses no other weapons than those of seduction and deceit. I hitherto I have been anxious to spare many towns, and especially the capital, the shedding of blood and the horrors of war; but having now retired to the banks of the Volturno and the Garigliano, shall we add further humiliations to our condition as soldiers? Will you suffer your sovereignty to fall from this throne through your fault, and that cover parental grief? No, no, never! At this supreme moment we all press round our standards to defend our rights, our honor and the Neapolitan name, already too much disgraced; and if there are still soldiers who most earnestly wish to follow the example of the deserters who have gone over to the enemy, you will only follow that of the brave and loyal soldiers, who adhering to the fortunes of their King, Ferdinand IV., won universal applause with the benefit and gratitude of our monarch himself. Let this noble example of fidelity be for you an object of general emulation, and if the Lord of Hosts protects our cause you may also hope to win what you will never obtain by acting otherwise." FRANCIS.

SPRUCH FROM GARIBALDI.—The following is reported as the speech of Garibaldi to the Palermitans in the Corriere Mercantile, of Genoa:—I thank you for your cheers, and I declare to you that I am happy, very happy to find myself in the midst of you. I thank you for having had faith in me, and for not having trusted to those who wished to guide you along an erroneous path. You have not well not to call for an armistice, which I declare ill-timed; you have thus shown that you possess Italian wisdom. That an armistice would have subjected us to diplomatic, and consequently have chained us once more, a few days ago, at Naples, I was again solicited in behalf of armistice. But I tell you that beyond the Volturno there are still brethren of ours in arms: now I declare that as long as there are brethren to be fought for, I will fight for them. People of Palermo, people of the barracks, I once more thank you for not believing the man who represented me as a double dealer. I am the best friend of Italy and of Victor Emmanuel. Believe in Victor Emmanuel, who is the only representative of the Italian cause.

DISCOVERY OF A NEW PASS IN THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS.—Capt. Reynolds, of the 10th Infantry, United States Army, who arrived at Omaha City, Nebraska Territory, last Thursday, reports having discovered a pass 2,500 feet lower than any heretofore discovered on the line of the Rocky Mountains. It is about the 55th parallel of latitude.

ANOTHER STEAMSHIP DISASTER.

Steamship Connaught, of the Gateway Line, Burned at Sea—All the Passengers and Crew Saved.

Boston, October 9. It is rumored that the steamship Connaught was burnt at sea on Sunday, and that part of her crew and passengers were saved by a brig, and have arrived at Scituate.

Captain Leitch, of the steamer Connaught, reports that on Saturday, the 6th inst., at 8 P. M., one hundred and fifty miles east of Boston the Connaught sprang a leak in the engine room.

Succeeded in keeping it until the five o'clock o'clock on Sunday morning, when it commenced to gain rapidly, and finally extinguished the fire. At half past nine o'clock discovered another leak in the fore hold. Notwithstanding the utmost exertions to prevent it, the fire gained rapidly, and very soon drove the cabin passengers on the deck. As the water and fire both gained so fast, the boats were got ready to save the passengers.

There was a heavy sea running and the first boat that was lowered was stove. Six other boats were then launched successfully, and all of them filled with passengers. About twelve o'clock the brig Minnie Schaffer saw our signals of distress and bore down to us.

At seven P. M. commenced the task of embarking the passengers on board the brig, the vessel having attached a hawser to the vessel.

At this time the starboard side of the steamer was very hot. By half past nine P. M., all the passengers were placed safely on board of the brig.

The mails of the Connaught were all saved. The mail plane was raised at 2 1/2 o'clock and is fully insured in E. A. Lytle & Co., New York.

The Connaught had £10,000 sterling in gold (Government money) taken aboard at St. Johns. It was lost with the steamer.

Three hundred of the passengers have been forwarded by the Brig Minnie Schaffer, and the remainder have been taken care of by their friends.

The brig Minnie Schaffer arrived at one o'clock. She is about 300 tons burden, and the standing room on her was completely covered by five persons from the Connaught.

There was no chance of remaining but a short time on board, the fire making such progress. The flames were momentarily expected to burst out and sweep the decks, the fire-gang having given up all hopes of extinguishing them, but continuing to apply wet blankets, etc. The side of the ship was then so hot, that when she rolled it would hiss and make steam of the sea water. The gallant Captain Leitch, in a heroic effort, made all hands to get us into the boats, which was extremely difficult, being lowered one by one with ropes.

Capt. Leitch stood by all the time, commanding the women and children, but with the exception of a few who were in the boat when the sun went down only about 200 had been got on board the brig. Capt. Wilson, of the brig, said, "This is a horrible affair, to see the sun going down and so many people upon the deck, and you in the position of burning up. I will do all in my power to save them." Several of the boats crew on reaching the brig refused to return, when Captain Wilson said, "I will go almost alongside and take a hawser from on board, and you will get the hawser on to me, and I will do all in my power to save them." Several of the boats crew on reaching the brig refused to return, when Captain Wilson said, "I will go almost alongside and take a hawser from on board, and you will get the hawser on to me, and I will do all in my power to save them."

CAUTION—WIDE AWAKE. The following "certain lecture," which we find in one of our exchanges, is appropriate at this juncture in political affairs, when the Wide Awakes are losing so much sleep, and crawling into bed about daybreak.

[Sings:—In bed, face to the wall, Strong smell of coal oil. Time, throw in the morning.]

A pretty time indeed for you to come home, sir! Where have you been all night? You smell as if you had been in search of Symmes' Hole through a tar barrel. Talk of sulphurated hydrogen, or super-saturated eggs! They ain't anywhere 'Sey, where have you been? Here I've been laying awake for the last five hours, waiting for you to come—

Now, I want to know where you have been all this time? If you wouldn't bother you with the matter, I'd like to see your eyes now; it's near enough morning to know where one's husband has been all night, and particularly if he comes home perfumed clear through as you are. You wasn't 'good wife' me, that's what I want to know. Suppose you were married to the patrol for the last night, and you had to be up at twelve, and you were every night in the week, and come home as you do, and—I wish you'd get up and let some fresh air into the room, or I shall certainly suffocate—what would you say? Don't tell me you were in bed, and that's all; the family? Been with the Wide Awakes? I should think so much. You're a wide awake fool, that's what you are. I've always thought you had about sense enough to parade the streets at night, if I didn't know you were in bed, I'd have thought you'd be wearing your hat. That's a pretty good one. Didn't I tell you that you'd shoot yourself if I didn't take pity on you? I'm sorry I didn't allow you to shoot, or hang, or drown yourself. It would have been the best thing I ever did in my life. What is it smiling at, nothing? Don't tell me nothing; it never smiled so in the world. Had to carry a torch? That's a sweet business for a man who pretends to be the father of a large family. Next thing it will be to expect to hear of you as being a man sitting 'gais for general circulation. I know nothing about politics? Don't be! I don't want to know nothing about politics, if I have to neglect my family and carry stinking torches for the benefit of a man who is trying to be President. Want to sleep? I thought you were. Wide awake, you're supposed you're kept awake to-night on whisky, haven't you? Where have you been all this time? The town clock has just struck three. Been to Toxwanda to raise a liberty pole? That's a sweet note. Why did not the Wide Awakes of Toxwanda raise their own pole? Well, you can't fool anybody. I believe I know something about politics myself, and I know that you are drunk, that's what you are. Must go to sleep, must go! Why didn't you tell me that before? I've had no sleep to-night, and have never once thought of me. You're an old brute!

FATHER AND TWO SONS DROWNED IN A CANOE.—A sad accident occurred near Boston, last night, when a Mr. Lester and his two sons lost their lives. They were working at a cider mill, with which is connected a very large tank to put the cider in fermentation. The tank leaking, one of the boys, together with the father and another son, fell to the bottom. His father heard him fall and went to his assistance, and in attempting to get his son out, he fell in. A young man, who was attempting to get the father and son out, also fell in. The father and brother, but also fell to the bottom, and all three were drowned in about eighteen inches of cider, or were suffocated by the foul air of gas.

CURE FOR SICK HEADACHE.—It is stated that two spoonfuls of finely powdered charcoal, drunk in half a tumbler of water, will in less than fifteen minutes, give relief to the sick headache, when caused, as in most cases it is, by superabundance of acid on the stomach.

DEMOCRATS IN ROMAN, REPUBLICANS IN ITALY.

The INSURECTION PLOT IN VIRGINIA.—There seems to be some foundation for the rumor mentioned on Saturday, that an insurance plot has been fomenting among some of the negroes in Princess Anne and Norfolk counties, Va. The Norfolk papers of Saturday bring us various exciting accounts in regard to the affair. The Argus, of that city, says:—

Several negroes have been arrested in Princess Anne, and their confessions (through in some cases extorted) have developed the same story, and led to further arrests. The confessions show that a rising was contemplated at Hickory Ground, in Norfolk county to-morrow (Sunday) night, and that the material was instigated by five persons, some of them free negroes. Two arrests have been made in Norfolk city, and the trail is fully struck.

The citizens of the two counties have resorted to vigilant measures to suppress this evil conspiracy, and to detect all offenders of all colors. Active patrols have been organized—and quite to work. We advise all suspected white persons to quit the parts between two days. On Thursday night a white man named Pison was shot down by a patrol party in Norfolk county, on the line of the canal, about 17 miles from Portsmouth. There were several men engaged in ditching; and they were camping out in that neighborhood. The place was suspicious, and their tent visited by the patrol for a search. When the patrol approached the tent, and called the man Pison came out and aimed his gun at Mr. Warner, one of the party; but before he could fire, he was shot dead by another of the party. At the same moment a negro expression that he had used. The negroes are said to be in custody in Princess Anne and two in Norfolk city.
