THE high price which Cream of Tartar commanded in 1854, together with the alarning extent to which its dangerous adulteration had been carried, with other considerations, induced the distinguished Chemist, whose name is given above, to commence what proved to be a long and laterinous scientific re-search, to discover a desirable substitute therefor. --His efforts were crowned with abondant success, and hundreds of thomands of pounds of the Substitute throughout the United States and the Canadias. The following trac comparison of 1b mature and the results of its use, with those of Cream of Tartar will convince the mest herefulcan of Parada. This Substitute is a simple Phosphate, and ic compli-menting but what is found in hearf-stack, and in com-whent and other cereals, and is therefore highly intritions. It is has a health-giving influence and applies that for which there is a constant do und the system. B. FRANKLIN CLARK. No. 06 Cedar Street, New York, N. Y-January 24, 1865.-ly
