The National Loan of Five-Ten-

The spectacle is presented to the world, such as the world never before saw...

The State Legislature so far as the Senate is concerned, is still inactive and has not made a single move in business...

A correspondent, from this place of that rebel sheet, the Selinsgrove Times...

"We are not yet in possession of all the facts. This is republican teaching and practice, and should their infernal abolition papers be routed they must blame themselves..."

These sentiments are in keeping with those expressed by another individual who, after leaving himself, pointed out the office of the Democrat to the soldiers...

As some of our readers may desire to know the style and opinion of a hair-brained editor, of one of our own rebel organs, near home, on this subject...

"Abolition's Outrage"—By reference to a communication from Selinsgrove, in this issue, it will be seen that the Abolitionists of Selinsgrove have been managed to get a set of nigger-worshipping, liberty-destroying, hell-bound cutthroats to destroy the printing material of the Northumberland County Democrat...

HISTORY OF THE TORY PARTY.—Under the title here of the most rampant Copperhead Journalists are publishing an article from the "New York Day Book," a notoriously traitorous paper of small calibre.

It should be asked: as it is very reasonable might it not be that Washington, who was strictly honest and patriotic, appointed such a corrupt man as Alexander Hamilton...

THE HERBES IN EXTREMITY.—It is reported that General Halleck has expressed his belief that the last grand and desperate effort of the Rebels will be made in the Spring to transfer the fighting to Northern soil.

THE STATE OF ARKANSAS is in favor of reconstruction in a manner which proves that the people are determined to act with a firm and power stronger than mere words.

A meeting was recently held in Lancaster, Pa. to discuss the petition of the colored people of that State for the admission of Maryland into the Union.

From the statements made by the Pastor at the funeral, we gathered the following leading facts of interest in the life and death of Captain Martin:

He was born in Sunbury, Pennsylvania, at the time of his death he was thirty-six years of age. He had been a resident of Selinsgrove about ten years, when the war began.

Such was the confidence of those who knew of his private character and his soldierly qualities, that he soon raised a company of one hundred and twenty members.

He was at the battle of Fredericksburg, where the iron ball swept down whole companies of our brave soldiers as grass falls under the tread of a horse.

Robert Dale Owen, in the "Atlantic Monthly," contributes an interesting historical account of a mental epidemic which visited Europe over a century ago among a class of people called "The Convulsionists of St. Medard."

"The restless enthusiasm of the convulsionists ultimately betrayed them into extravagance, in which it is often hard to see the difference between the mad and the moderate."

A GREAT RAIL ROAD.—The Atlantic and Great Western Rail Road is rapidly approaching completion. On the 26th ult., the last rail on the track between Akron and Galion was laid, thus completing the broad gauge between N. Y. and the latter point, a distance of 696 miles.

Governor Curtin's Inauguration.

Called by the partiality of my fellow-citizens to the office of Governor of Pennsylvania for another term, I appear before you to solemnly renew the prescribed obligations to support the Constitution of the United States...

The trains are running regularly between Newburgh and Chattanooga, Colored Mechanics and laborers, and the work of rebuilding the railroad to Knoxville will be commenced at once.

Treason was struggling for supremacy in every department of administrative power. In the Cabinet it feloniously disarmed us—our arsenals were robbed to enable the armies of crime to drench a continent in blood.

Such was the confidence of those who knew of his private character and his soldierly qualities, that he soon raised a company of one hundred and twenty members.
