PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28, 1864. The late victories of our armies, have created a panic among, not only the gold speculators, but speculators of all kinds, as well as merchant traders, and almost all kinds of business men. The result is, that business is dull and few are anxious to purchase while all desire to sell. On Monday gold went down as low as $1 75, and is now fluctuating between that and $2 05 .-The impression seems almost universal, that the war is rapidly drawing to a close, and every thing has a downward tendency. The late sales of coal at New York, show a decline from August prices, of $2 31 per ton, and sales are dull at any price.

The political campaign is now at its height and is carried on with great spirit, but i think with less vigor by the so styled democratic party, than formerly. There are many who will vote for Lincoln who are no admirers of the man, but who firmly believe for the south, and that it will protract the war, perhaps afford France and England an excuse for recognizing the Confederacy .-Large meetings are held every night in Concert Hall, and will be continued every night until after the election. Last night that immense room was literally packed, while listening to Gen. Carey of Ohio, one of the most eloquent and entertaining speakers in the country.

> WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The steamer Rev EDWARD A. WILSON, Vanderbilt, from City Point, reports affairs unchanged before Petersburg. The Vander-bilt brought up fifty-five rebel deserters, including one captain. During the present week one hundred and twenty-five deserters have come into our lines from a single Florida regiment. They say that nine-tenths of Lee's men ace conscripts, who will take the first opportunity to desert. There are now 6,500 prisoners at Point

Lookout; 150 arrived there yesterday from Grant's army, and within a week some 400 strong to be taken by cavalry.

and the soldiers were principally employed in catching fish and eating opsiers, not very laborious duty truly. No newcoments of the sapestar plated TEA SETTS. SPOONS, Parmy or fleet were being neate of which mention can be made. The monitor Teconsch is plainly visible in her watery bed, and preparations are be ing made to remove her macoinery, guns &c. It is now considered impossible to taise her hull, as it is supposed, from the rapidity with which she sunk, that a large portion of her bottom was torn a xay by the explo sion of the torpedo. "Fort Gaines, under the rejuvenating touch of the Union garrison, is looking very spruce and peat, in fact 'clean as a new pin It is not a structure, however, that would stand a heavy bombardment. Half the weight of metal which was thrown into Fort Morgan would completely destroy it. "Fort Morgan is apparently a hopeless wreck, and it seems impossible that any con-siderable portion of the old work can ever again be made serviceable."

A PICTURE.-McClellan says that he would use every means known to diplomacy to terminate the war peacefully at once, but on no account would acknowledge more than one government in the Union, The reliefs constantly declare that they are determined on independence, and will listen to no terms of peace unless they are based on that. McClellan says that in case of the failure of such negotiations, he would continue the The Administration, having ascertained
