THE PROGRESS OF CRIME .-- Good and evil seldom come alone. The progress of improvement, generally, is attended with an increase in crime, and our town is no exception. On Thursday night of last week, Rev. Jacob Martin arrived in this place in the express train, South, at 11.45. He was followed by some scoundrel while waiking from the depot to the residence of his sister, on Front street. When he arrived at the crossing of the Shamokin Valley Railroad he was seized by the threat by the stout ruffian, who was dressed in light clothes, and pressed to the ground. By extraordinary efforts he shook off his assailant and called for help, when the villain fled. A night or two after, another stranger, who arrived in the night train, was knocked down while another person was showing him the way.

On Wednesday night the Post Office was entered and robbed of nearly all the letters left in the boxes. perhaps a hundred in number, and about SS in the till. An entrance was effected by tearing off some of the weather boards of the back part of the building, and cutting a hole through the lath and plastering.

The same night a passenger in the Express train which arrived here behind time, and staid over until the next morning, was robbed of $180.

About 4 o'clock on Thursday morning, two indididuals called at the Charles Hotel, on Third street, and while the landlord went out for water, robbed his till of $8 or $10, and fled before his return. It is high time that something is done, and the Borough Council should make every effort to arrest these marauding villains, and prevent any further outrages on persons, or the property of our citizens.
