EQUALITY AND SOUTHERN RIGHTS

The Soldiers' Convention at Cleveland, in favor of President Johnson's policy, is not a success by any means. Very few distinguished soldiers were in attendance. Gen. Wool, as the oldest General in the service presided temporarily. Gen. Thos. Ewing made the principal opening speech. He de-clared that "we might look in vain for the South to degrade two hundred thousand of their ablest men," in other words, impose restrictions on the leading traitors, "or surrender one-fourth of the representatives as a penalty for refusing suffrage to the negroes." How any democrat or soldier can sustain the doctrine of negro representation without suffrage, is one of the mysteries of modern politics. Why the white men of a southern State, that has not as many white men within its borders as a neighboring State, should have twice as many representatives in Congress, because they employ an equal number of negroes, who they regard as mere chattles, and to whom they refuse the right of suffrage, is neither democracy, common sense, or common justice to the North. The policy of negro suffrage in a State is a question upon which honest men may differ, but the idea of refusing suffrage to the negroes, and yet claiming the right to represent them in Congress, is simply carocrats intend to hold a mass meeting at this place to-day (Saturday). In order to add to the interest of the proceedings there is to be, we learn, a Bureau in the procession, over which our neighbor of the Democrat is to preside. His special duty will be to keep locked up in the Bureau all the slanderous articles published by the Domocrat and other papers of that stamp, calling the President day : a drunkard, tyrant, fool, &c. Another drawer will be devoted exclusively to keep safe, and from the public eye, the records showing the vote of Hiester Clymer, the Demo cratic candidate for Governor, refusing to let President Johnson speak in the Leglislative Hall, and also his (Clymer's) votes against allowing the soldiers to vote. A secret drawer in the Bureau is to contain the records of the "Knights of the Golden Circle" whose complicity with Jeff. Davis, during the rebellion, would be rather damaging, if made public.

CHAS. M. HALL Esq .-- We notice mong the new appointments in Philadelphis, by the President, the name of Chas. M. Hall for Postmaster, in that city. Mr. Hall is a practical and self-made man, of more than ordinary ability. He graduated from this office as a printer, with great credit to this office as a printer, with great credit to himself, about the time that Gen. Taylor was elected President, and soon after went to expresses his views. 1 will, however, state Washington and worked at his trade in the government office, under Mr. Wendell and others, whose acquaintance and friendship have served him in subsequent life. While there he was the correspondent of this office He afterwards established the Mining Register, at Pottsville, which he edited with great vigor and ability. When Mr. Lincoln was elected President he was offered the office of Deputy Surveyor in the Custom House, at Philadelphia, which he accepted and held until his recent appointment as Postmaster of Philadelphia. Mr. Hall possesses all the requisite qualifications for that responsible position, and will, no doubt, prove himself an efficient and obliging officer. ROOMS STATE CENTRAL COMMITTER, )

1105 CHESNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13, 1866.

C. W. Ashcom, Esq., Hopewell, Pa. DEAR SIR-Yours, of the 11th instant, is duly received, enclosing that shamelessly false card on the subject of bounties given false card on the subject of bounties given by Congress to white and colored soldiers. Our political adversaries are acting upon the adage, "A lie well adhered to is as good as the truth." As military agent of Pennsylvania at Washington for more than two years, I became familiar with all the laws of Congress granting bounties to sol-diers. I most positively affirm that no act or acts of Congress discriminate against white soldiers or in favor of colored soldiers. All assertions to the contrary are falschoods, in-tended to mislead and deceive. ended to mislead and deceive. You are at liberty to make any use you please of this communication. Yours, truly, FR. JORDAN, Chairman.

Mr. Jordan has been the State Agent of Pennsylvania at Washington for the last two tion which had passed between myself and know, as clearly as any man, whether Congress had passed a law discriminating in favor of black soldiers, on the subject of bounties. We deem this card of Mr. Jor. Grant. Mr. Warden sat a few seats from me, dan's sufficient to convince any fair man that the declarations of the Copperheads on this subject are false in all these particulars.

a somewhat excited conversation, at the end of which the loyal Senator shock his finger toward THE SAD FALL OF A PUBLIC MAN .- A St. Louis newspaper correspondent narrates the following lamentable story : "Coming down Chesnut street, St. Louis, one day last week, I week the corner in which 1 sat, and then scent into the President's car. GENERAL GRANT AGAIN. I was struck by the appearance of an old man past sixty, who wore a threadbare coat, shiny with constant wear, and whose hat was bruised and seedy. He head was bent towards the earth, and his walk was a tottering shuffle, the effect of whisky and old age. He reeled from one side of the pavement to the other, and at last brought up against a lamp-post on the corner, when a young-looking loafer coming along saluted him with "Holloa, Jim! Come and take a ard, arm-in-arm, he sauntered along to the nearest groggery with his companion. Five years ago that old man was James Green, United States Senator from Missouri, and in the days of the Kansas and Lecompton matters he was, next to Stephen A. Douglas, the ablest debater in Congress. But the war broke out, Mr. Green was sent to the rebel Congress, soon lost his property, his position and character, and now he is a poor drunk-ard, and earns barely a pittance of a living as a calaboose shyster. IT In 1857, during Mr. ;Buchanan's administration, Green was one of the leading ministration, Green was one of the leading men in favor of the Lecompton swindle which Mr. Buchanan supported. But he of the army to avoid participation in ordi-

THE BONDSMEN'S BUREAU, -The dem | THE POLITICAL POSITION OF GEN. GRANT.

A correspondent of the Chicago Republi-can, who travelled with the Presidential party, in a despatch sent from Cincinnati, furnished the following significant explana-tion of the reasons which induced the illus-trious leader of our armies to decline the compliment tendered him by the "Boys in Blue" in that city, and of Gen. Grant's posi-tion in reference to the political issues of the day : condent of the Chicago

GEN. GRANT AND OUR REPORTER.

GEN. GRANT AND OCTATE REAL STREET, STR of the latter, or by making invidious distinc-tions between them, and he is determined that no act of his shall lend any encouragement to any such contemptible proceeding on the one hand, or those that have been made with like persistency to identify him with the political views of the President, on the other. Gen. Grant feels that, next to the President, he is the head of the army of the United States, not the leader of a political party. He does not consider the army a place for a politician, and therefore will not permit himself to be committed to the support of either of the present political parties, nor that the army shall be made a party machine. GEN. GRANT'S ENDORSEMENT.

I have submitted the above to the Genethat as originally written, the concluding sentance was in these words: "When he becomes a partisan he intends immediately becomes a partisan he intends immediately to resign his present position," and to this the General objected, saying that it might be taken to imply that at some future time he did intend becoming a partisan, whereas his only intention in using these words was to express, as an officer of the army his dis-approbation of any attempt to identify him with any political party whatever. For what follows of interest in my des-patch, it will be best that the public should patch, it will be best that the public should receive it in the chronological order in which it really occurred, in order that it may note the essential meanness of the men who are the particular friends and devoted sycophants of the men who could slander the Union men of New Orleans, and, as is alleged and not contradicted, tamper with the despatch-ce of Gen. Sheridan es of Gen. Sheridan. The above conversation with Gen. Grant took place in the baggage and refreshment car attached to the train, in the presence of Major Gen, Rawlings, chief of staff to Gen. Grant; also of another major general, who, I think, was Gen. Stoneman; but of this I am not certain, for I did not take any parti-ular notice who it was. In addition to these military men, there were also present Mr. Warden, who is con-nected with the New York Times; John Hogan, of St. Louis, Mo; Mr. Chadwick, of Willard's Hotel, Washington, and one or two members of the Columbus delegation whose names I don't know. General Grant afterward retired from the refreshment car, and as Mr. Warden immediately entered into conversation with General Rawlings with great eagerness, ap-parently respecting what might have been said to me by General Grant, and frequently looked in my direction, wishing to do a good turn to a fellow reporter, who had the same change of obtaining information as himself, I offered to inform him as to the conversafor the car next to the President's, where I in front, and when Senator Patterson of Tennessee, the well-known Unionist who took office under the Confederacy, entered the car, he immediately stopped him and began any way with men who cannot show a clear

any way with men the cannot show a clear record for loyally." The significance of this remarkable and emphatic statement cannot be overestimated. To be thoroughly understood, it must be recollected by our readers that smoog the old officers of the regular army it is consid-ered a serious breach of propriety to be in-volved in the ordinary political controver-sies in which all other classes of citizens freely engage. General Grant evidently re-spects this feeling of his distinguished mili-tary associates and the traditions of his de-partment, and has resolutely endeavored.

for this good reason, to avoid the arena of partment, and has resolutely endeavored, for this good reason, to avoid the arena of partisan politics. But even the fimit of his forbearance was reached by the ungenerous, mpudent and unauthorized statements o orators connected with the Presidential par-ty, and he was determined to flatly contra-dict the allegations of Mr. Hogan and Sec-retary Seward 1 He speaks with no uncertain retary Seward 1 He speaks with no uncertain sound. He does not support "My Policy," and on the contrary deems it the duty of every patriotic citizen to support as candi-dates for office "only men who can show a record of consistent loyalty." In reference to the contest in Pennsylvania he speaks in terms of unqualified condemnation of Hies-ter Cluwer descure that is an an interter Clymer, declaring that it is an insult to any soldier to be asked to vote for such a man. He cordially and fully endorses Gen. Geary, on the other hand, as one "who had served four years in the Union army with credit to himself and benefit to his country," and thus silences forever the calumnics of the Copperhead press. This authoritative exposition of the views of General Grant is the crowning disaster of of General Grant is the crowning disaster of the political pilgrimage to Chicago. It brands with falsehood the only statement made during that trip that shook even mo-mentarily the faith of a single loyal voter, and it proves that the illustrious leader of the national armies, like the rank and file, "keeps step to the music of the Union !"-

The Disaster at Johnstown. JOHNSTOWN, Friday, Sept. 14.—A most distressing catastrophe occurred at Johns-town this morning, by which thirteen per-sons were killed, ninety-odd badly injured, and a larger number bruised and slightly hurt. In expectation of the special train e containing the Presidential party, a large is number of people, probably 8,000 in all, had m gathered in and about the depot at this d place, to tender the usual salutations. Near the depot is an old canal, and which was a double crossing with a sort of cover fifty double crossing with a sort of cover fifty double crossing with a sort of cover fifty the depot is an old canal, and which was a double crossing with a sort of cover fifty feet square between. Upon this structure or bridge some eight or nine hundred peo-ple had congregated, a large number of whom were women and children. The cen-tre part was densely packed, and must have contained at least four hundred people. The train had hardly stopped when the centre part gave way with a tremendous crash, precipitating the entire party in a headlong mass, some thirty feet. Hardly had the noise of the falling timbers and the shricks of the terrified people above ceased, when the groans of the dying and the screams of the women and children came from the awful wreck below. All who had from the awful wreck below. All who had escaped injury proceeded at once to extricate the sufferers, who were piled one upon the other among a mass of broken timbers and iron rods. Several of the Presidential party assisted in removing the dead and injured, among whom were Marshal O'Beirne, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Cadwallador and myself. The President and General Grant were exceedingly distressed, and were very anxious that the special train should stop over an hour to afford as much aid as possible, but the conductor stated that arrangements made for meeting trains on the road precluded the possibility of carrying into effect the President's humane wish, and after a few minutes the train started off. The party above alluded to, however remained, and rendered a good deal of assist ance for nearly two hours. The poor vic-tims-men, women and children-were drag-ged out from the ruins, several of whom had been crushed to death by falling timbers, but more by being fallen upon by others. Most of the killed and wounded were of the lass. Mr. M tzger, one of

RECONSTRUCTION .- The late massa cre of Union men by rebels at Platte City. Mo., and the murder and attack upon a camp meeting of colored men in Maryland shows what ideas these Southern men have of reconstruction. They refuse to loyal Union men, white or black, the privilege of assem-bling either for political or for religious pur-poses. They denounce and trample upon the American flag, and proclaim the right of soccasion as a principle, and contend they were justified in rebelling against the gover-ment. Such men only want an opportunity to rise archive the the the theory of the president's policy. The speakers and those assembled appeared to have an idea that the "Confederacy" still existed, or that it would again rise from its ashes, like the fabled phoenix. Cheers, loud and long, were given for Jeff Davis, Beauregard, Lee, Forrest, &c. To add celat to the occasion, a six-horse wa-gon from the country entered the town with shows what ideas these Southern men have can't see it in this light-hence their hatred for what they call the radicals. But they

ment. Such men only want an opportunity to rise again. Until these turbulent and un-principled men are entirely subdued, there can be no peace between them and Union men, and nothing but the strong arm of the military can keep them in subjection. Their ideas of reconstruction are now exactly those of Jeff Davis, in the early days of the rebel-lion. They desire to be let alone, expel all loyal men, and rule the country to suit them-selves. That is the idea of reconstruction Bouth. Congress and the people, North, can't see it in this light—hence their hatred treasure expended for the preservation of its free institutions and the integrity of the nafor what they call the radicals. But they hope, with the aidjof the leaders, of the so-called democrats of the North, to get power, and by dividing the offices with the latter, re-establish themselves and crush out the spirit of liberty and establish a government which regards labor as degrading, and keeps the poor man, white or black, in subjection. IF Maj. Alex. Frick, of Dasville, has been nominated by the Union Republican Conferees for Senator, in this district. Mir. Frick, who has faithfully served his country in the field, should receive the vote of every true Republican and Union man in the dis-trict. Charles V. In about a minute afterwards General Grant, who had been into the President's Grant, who had been into the President's car to present himself to the people assem-bled at West Junction, re-entered the car, and, having scated himself, beckoned to me to come and speak with him. I did so, and, on seating myself by his side, he went on to say that he thought that if I published the account already submitted to him, he would like it to be understood that he had refused to receive the proposed demonstration en-tirely, because he felt it his duty to refuse any reception or demonstration tendered separately to himself while travelling with the President, or to do anything which might be construed as favoring any political party. He then went on to reiterate his de-termination not to be used by those who sought to commit him either for or against sought to commit him citach any po-the President's policy, or to attach any political significance to his presence on the President's excursion. He had also been much annoyed at the use which had been made of his name by John Hogan, who had presumed to state that General Grant was politically with the President, and on one which Mr. Buchanan supported. But he was then so far gone that we saw him stag-gering and almost fall over on the floor of the Senate. He was an able lawyer and a good debater, but like many Southern states-men, a sot in his habits. Joined to their Idols. A political meeting was held last week at Frederick City, Maryland, in favor of the President's policy. The speakers and those

It to be a misfortune for Mr. Johnson that the advocates of his policy in the States through which we had just passed — Missouri, Illinois and Indians—had in some instances put upon their ticket men who, in 1861 and 1862, had been guilty of known disloyalty to the Government; because (and this was said in a very emphatic manner) he felt that to ask men whose sons had shed their blood for the Union to vote for men who had been disloyal to it, was the greatest insult that for the Union to vote for men who had been disloyal to it, was the greatest insult that could be offered. Southern men he could make allowances for, and he could ride through the South and get out on a platform and shake hands in friendship with such men as Lee, Johnston or Forrest, because, though they had been almost educated into secession, they come now truly honest and loyal in their adherence to the Union, and were seeking to strengthen it. But he did not feel in that way toward Northern men who had once been disloysl, and neither desired to associate with them nor have them for his friends. No such men should have his support, nor ought they to be supthem for his friends. No such men should have his support, nor ought they to be sup-ported by Mr. Johnson's friends throughout the Northern States. He particularly in-stanced, as a specimen of this objectionable class of men, HIESTEN CLYMEN, the Democratic candidate for Gocernor of Pennsylvania, say-ing that to ask any soldier to vote for such a man, of, at one time, known disloyalty, against another who had screed four years in the Union army, with credit to himself and benefit to his country, was a'gross insult. If men desired to support Mr. Johnson's policy let them, but at all events let them vote only for such men as were true to their country in 1861. General Grant endorses nobody's policy. Of course he has his own opinions, and J presume will give them expression in his vote; but until he shall himself have ex-pressed them, for become a candidate for

THE INDIANS.

Further Reports of Hostilities,

LEAVENWORTH, September 13.

The Sioux, Arrapahoes, and Cheyenne have taken the war path against the ranch men. Three traders, their squaws and chil-dren, living on Tongue river, were killed and scalped. The Indians stole all the stock at Big Horn Ferry, and drove the ferrymen off. The Blood Indians have run off large amounts of stock, and are committing depredations at Fort Williams. Two men were killed. Fifteen hundred Santee Indians have passed Fort Union on the war path. They stole all the stock at Post Santee and Minnesota. The Sioux have had a fight, in which fifteen of them were killed.

Great danger is apprehended from the Logan and Blood Indians in Montana. They attacked the stage on the Pacti, killed in passenger and shot the horses. They stold all the stage stock from a station west of Cottonwood. Cavalry were sent in pursuit, without effect.

FROM MEXICO.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16. Senor Romero, the Mexican Minister, received dispatches to day from Very Cruz, dated August 31st, which contain the fol-dated August 31st, which contain the fol-lowing news: The city of San Luis Potosi has been oc-cupied by the national forces of Mexico,— The city of Jesuitlan, in the State of Vera Cruz, had been captured by the Liberals, the three hundred Austrians who composed its garrison having surrendered. It was re-ported at Vera Cruz that Guadalajara had been taken by the Liberals, but this rumor needs confirmation. The Liberals attacked Vera Cruz on the night of the 29th ult., and captured eleven French soldiers. Maximilian has issued a decree for the purpose of collecting 15 per cent. of the yalue of the confiscated national church property. The tax is more than can be paid, and consequently occasions much dissatis-faction against the author of the decree in the property of the decree in the second the places subject to French rule. The dis-patches state that the national forces were everywhere increasing, and that many of the Imperialists were going over to the Liberals.
