MORE MILLINERY GOODS .- Miss M. L. Gustle having found it necessary to procure another stock of goods, has just returned from the city with a large assortment of the latest styles of Summer Millinery Goods. The ladies are invited to call and see them before purchasing elsewhere.

RAFTING.—The rafting season of 1887 is by odds the lengest that has been seen in many years. For two months or more the Susquehanna has been in splendid rafting order. The "Yankees" have taken advantage of this favorable state of affairs, and nearly all the lumber ready for shipment has been rushed into the market.

BODA FOUNTAIN.-The Soda Pountain in W. A. Bennett's drug store is now in full blast. Those desiring to enjoy this delicious beverage are invited to call. He has just opened a variety of syrups which are fresh and delightful.

I. O. or O. F .- S. B Boyer, Esq., of this place, was re-elected District Deputy Grand Master, and also received the appointment of District Deputy Grand Patriarch for this district during the ensuing year, Mr. Boyer has been District Deputy Grand Muster for several years past, and has been active in his duties, which has secured for bim the honor of District Deputy Grand Patriarch, through the grand officers of the Encampment.

The Northumberland company, commanded by Capt. James Taggart, who was killed in the seven days battle in Virginia, went to Harrisburg on Thursday to attend the anniversary celebration of the Pennsylvania Reserves, to which the company belonged. The Northumberland band, the only Regimental band of the Reserves that has preserved its organisation, accompanied them.

FOUND DEAD .- On Wednesday last the body of man was found dead on the river road opposite this place. When found his head was reclining on his carpet bag and his boots standing near him. A to receive $2 50 a day for their services, and milesmall bottle, marked strychnine, was found in his pocket. He had been at Lyon's hotel, at the ferry, the day before, and had then a gold watch, which was missing when the body was found.

The body was discovered about 10 o'clock on Tues-Any morning last, by Mr. Ely, who was working in his peach orchard on a bluff near the river, about three miles above Marietta, on the opposite shore. He observed something that looked like a human body floating quietly on a smooth stream, and sent his son out with a boat who brought it to the shore. Mr. Ely having seen the advertisement, the information was at once communicated to Mr. Friling. In the meantime the body had been interred by the Coroner. Mr. Kessler, one of Mr. Friling's clerks, went down and had the body disinterred, and at once recognized it as that of the unfortunate boy.

WE learn that it is the intention of Mesers. Reagen & Co., who have lately become the purchasers of I. T. Clement's steam saw mill along the river, of making extensive improvements and largely increasing their facilities for cutting lumber, as soon as they take possession of the property. They are also preparing to erect a large saw-mill, east of Fourth street above the Shamokin Valley branch railroad, for the manufacture of doors, window-sash and all kinds of ernamental wood work for building purposes. These improvements are much needed just now, and we know of no better investment of capital than in such an enterprise. The gentlemen composing the company, are men of energy and capital, and we have most extensive lumbering places in the State, if proper encouragement is given them by our citizens.

At the age of nineteen, Harry V- shipped in a vessel called the Claremont and bound to Australia. The craft was commanded by Capt. B-, a gruff man of middle age, who had passed the greater portion of his life at sea. Though disposed at times to order his men about in a rough manner, yet he was not by any means a hard hearted person.

__, the mate of the Clarement was a tyrant. he had contracted a disagreeable habit, which he would indulge, in whatever craft he might chance to be, of throwing mariinespikes and belaying-pine at the heads of such of the crew as were either too cautious or too timid to resent bad treatment. A long sea experience had given him great skill in reading the faces of those under his command. He could tell in a moment who would or would not submit to the fact that T. S. Shannon's Jewelry Store, Simpson's Building Market Square, is now the place of attraction, just opening a new and well selected stock of watches, jewelry, silver-plated ware, and all goods connected with his business. Gold and silver-plating done. Hair jewelry made to order, watch repairing and engraving done at short notice, and on reasonable terms and warranted. Call and see for yourselves.

Ten Mindle Cases: RAILROAD.—A mosting of the directors was held at Lewistown on Saturday last, when it was determined to proceed with its con-struction under the contrast made by the late Presi-dent, Mr. Thompson. The minerity of the Board, justiding the President, it is understood, were in fa-vor of first making a final effort to realize the amount of subscriptions which had been determined upon and then holding a public letting. PATAL ACCIDENT.—Charles L. V. Hans, a flag-man on one of the freight trains of the Shamokin Division of the N. C. R. LAGER BEER .- Mr. Joseph Bacher, of the Cold Spring Brewery, is now serving his customers with a genuine article of Lager. This is the first Lager Beer manufactured at Sunbury, and those who profess to be good judges of the article pronounce it su-perior to the best Lancaster Lager. Mr. Bacher commenced brewing more than a year ago, but as Lager has to go through a regular process and rejuires age, he was unable to introduce it until now Saloon keepers and others should give him a trial, and support home industry when it is equal, if not better, than a foreign article.

Scorers,-Hoover & Beard. "DEAD HEADS" TO SHOWS, ETC -The following item on "dead heads." taken from a cotemporary, i as applicable to Sunbury as any other city or town : The free ticke's given to the press for the uses named are always paid for, and that very liberally. As a rule, those who issue-not those who receivethese free tickets are the "dead heads," usually giving fifty cents for that which a five dollar bil would not adequately pay for. So long as the newspaper editor is expected to give liberal notices of entertainments before they occur, and then follow these with a generous puff after the show is over, he certainly has no place in the "dead head" classification. Indeed, in nine cases out of ten the editors would be glad to receive half pay for their work and pay two prices for the free ticket. They certainly would make money by the operation. There is another class of "dead heads" who are not newspaper men. The publication of advertisements is as much in the business of a newspaper as the publication of the news; and an editorial notice which is designed to supply the place of or add value to a regular advertisement has even less claim to no doubt, but that they will make this one of the a gratuitous insertion than would such advertise ment. Yet there are these who ask just such gratuious notices, and this almost as a matter of right If these same persons should be asked to make a present of a dezen yards of muslin to each purchaser a meripo dress, or a dollar's worth of sugar to whoever bought three pounds of tea, or half a dozen "free tickets" to whoever engaged twenty seats at a concert, they would resent the demand as an insult-Yet why should not their wages be given away as freely as should and are the products of the editor's and publisher's labor and capital? The merchant makes his profit and living by selling his goods. The publisher of a newspaper makes his by selling his advertising columns, not by giving them away, and when he does give them in aid of a public library or other beneficial object, he deserves thanks as a pub lie benefactor, and not insults as a "dead head."

LIFE INSURANCE .- A person owes a dobt, and he compulsory payment of it would bring his family, or those depending on him, into distress; by insuring his life for the amount, he secures the payment of it, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hard at his death, from the Company.

LIFE INSURANCE .- There can be no higher earthly motive, nor one that gives greater elevation of character, arising from the purest impulse of the heart, than that which impels a parent to retrench luxuries, or even many of the pecessaries of life, to secure to the loved ones the means of future support from the time they can have the services of a parent

On the Pourth of July next the bird of freedom will scream from the Gulf of Mexico clear up to the North Pole, and will doubtless proclaim to the world and all the "rest of mankind" that at the Continental Bazaar, Market street, ready-made clothing and clothing made to order is turned out which, for beauty, durability and cheapness, excels any that has ever graced any establishment of the kind outside of the large cities.

"Attempt the end, and never stand to doubt;
Nothing so hard, but search will find it out."
This was the motto of Mr. Barrett, when seeking to discover a Hair Restorative which would not only restore grey hair to its natural color, but would siso prevent it from falling out and serve the purpose of a splendid dressing as well. Procure a bottle of "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative," and see how completely his efforts have been rewarded.

Many ludicrous scenes occurred in Chicago last summer when everybody was suffering great apprehension from danger of chelera. A gentleman was having his hair dressed by an English barber, who, with the all-important topic upon his mind, remarked, as he was vigorously removing the dandruff from his custemer's scalp, "They say, sir, that the cholera is in the hair." The gentleman sprang up in great consternation from fear of contagion in the brush. "Oh, sir," said the barber, "I doesn't mean, sir, the 'air of the 'ead, but the heir of the hatmosphore." "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative" would probably be powerless against cholera, even in the "'air of the 'ead," but it is a sure preventative to those fatal destroyers of youthful beauty, baldness and greyness, and those who would preserve their capillary adornments should at once provide their toilets with the Restorative.
