EXTRAORDINARY LONGBUITY .- Frederick Kaseman, of Shamokin township, in this county, died on Phursday, the lat inst., at the advanced age of one hundred and eight years, one month and eight days, according to the family record. The decessed came to this country with an eider brother when he was about twelve years old, and was sold for his passage from Germany, to George Sell, near Kutztown, Berks county, for 7 years for £12. While yet a young man he came to this country and settled in Shamokin ownship, on a farm, where, by frugality and industry, he acquired a competency that enabled him to live comfortably during his life. He was a man of was, and only three years since assisted in taking off his harvest, working without a hat or shoes. Some ten years ago we had occasion, professionally, to make inquiries in regard to his reputed age, as some doubts had been expressed in regard to its correct-ness. He exhibited to us his redemption papers, properly certified, which were dated in 1772, and were perfectly satisfactory in fixing his age beyond a doubt. He was, at that time, a subscriber to the ferman paper published in this office, and generally valked two miles to the Post Office, every Saturday,

He, too, at last has been gathered to his fathers, but not until he had seen several generations pass off, after he arrived at the allotted age of man.

The reason assigned is that the engines were out of order, and must remain so without the proper attention and an engine house to keep them in. We believe that an examination of the facts will show that a steam fire engine is not only by all odds the most efficient, but in the end the cheapest are apparatus that can be obtained. In this place, where muchinists and engineers are numerous, a score of men or more can be obtained, qualified, or soon might be, to take charge of such a steam fire engine as would be needed here. Long before these ngines were introduced in the cities we were satisfied that they would eventually supersede all others The same reasons apply equally in favor of their introduction in smaller places. As they are conand engine, and with ten times the efficiency,

Corn Bake at Lewisburg.

The ladies of Lewisburg, so justly celebrated for their genial hospitality, gave another of their grand annual Can Bake parties at Independence Hall, in that place, on July 30th. Invitations were kindly extended to gentlemen of the neighboring towns to participate in the festivities of the occasion, and a baker's dozen of the genus home of Sunbury, including myself, responded to the call. The committee of arrangements. Miss Bilmyer, Miss Duncan, Miss Beaver and Miss Wilson, are justly entitled to our warmest praise for the most complete arrangements in detail for the accommodation, comfort and pleasure of their numerous guests. At about 6 P. M. the party assembled at the Hall to partake of a substantial repast, gotten up regardless of expense and trouble. The ladies—God bless them—have never been known to fail in any undertaking, as many of us know to our sorrow, but in the work of supplying the inner man on this cerasion they exceeded our most sanguine expectations. Having previously arrayed ourselves in our eating costiumes, and fasted four and twenty hours, we were prepared to enjoy the good things of this life to some exteut, and retired from that banquet hall "too full for expression." After devoting an hour to toilet exercise and similar amusements, we were again summoned to the Hall. Mr. Ulp, with his trio of musicians, was in attendance. Dancing being the order of the evening, the request to take partners for a cotillion was unanimously responded to, and all went merry as a marriage belt. The ladies, both graceful and agreeable, were dressed with exquisite taste, and looked as bright and fair as a May morning.

THE LEGISLATURE.

EDITOR AMERICAN—Sir:—The time is upon us to select candidates for County Officers, but so far we have not seen any notice of any aspirants. We have been looking over the political field, and now allow us to recommend A. A. Shissler, Esq., of Sunbury, as a satisable person for member of the Legislature.

Mr. Shissler, is a gentleman of rare abilities, and if elected will make an efficient member, who will be fearless and impartial in the discharge of his duties. Having the necessary qualifications, we have no doubt, but that the interests of Northumberland county would be well looked after, and the Republicans would have a strong advocate of their principles, as he has always strictly adhered to the party and its principles.
