JUDGE SHARSWOOD ON LEGAL

Extract from His Opinion in the Case of Borie vs. Trott.

"On the whole, then, I am of opinion that the provision of the act of Congress of February 25th, 1862, declaring the notes issued in pursuance of that act to be lawful money, and a legal tender, is unconstitutional.

"This renders it unnecessary that I should *consider the other question which has been made, as to the effect of the special agreement to pay in lawful silver money of the United States. I am in favor of entering judgment for the plaintiff, but as a majority of the court are of a different opinion, judgment for the defendant,"—Copied from the Philadelphia Age of 23d of February, 1864, where the opinion is published in full

It may also be found in the Legal Intelli, gencer of March 18, 1864, page 92.

In the same copy of the Age is a carefully prepared eulogy of the judge and this opinion, in which is the following:

"Judge Snanswood reasons upon and decides the case as if he were some lofty spirit sitting far above and out of the contentions and strifes of the world."

Will not the holders of greenbacks and Government bonds consider the judge as quite too elevated and ethereal for such earthly honors as a seat on the Supreme Bench ?

If there is any remedy for the new peril, it is in the hands of the people. They, and they alone, can apply it. The surest way to precipitate hostilities, to encourage Andrew Johnson to seize the Government, force the rebels into Congress, and declare the acts of emangination and reconstruction unconstiemancipation and reconstruction unconsti-tutional, is to vote the Copperhead ticket in the coming elections. You will be told that this is a mere partisan's appeal to awaken your fear and to control your votes. Remember, I have never before deceived you in a grave public emergency. My countrymen, every honest heart is convulsed with a terrible anxiety, and I only echo your own solicitude by these frank words of warning. Even the Copperheads, terror stricken at this bad man's conduct, try to shake him off, as if to get rid of a second frightful responsibility should their efforts in supporting his policy ripen into another bloody harvest. The steps of revolution are never so rapid as when a great, free people refuse to be admonished. You refused to be werned even in this correspondence, when, six years ago last December, I told you that the rebel foe was arming for your destruction; and it was only when the blow fell that you awoke to the dread reality. If you needed proof, not of Andrew Johnson's intentions (happily no one doubts them to restore the rebels to power! Another Rebel Army. [From the Philadelphia Press.]

The Northern wing of the rebel army, which did not surrender to General Grant at the downfall of Richmond, because, while greatly assisting in the campaign against the Republic, it never ventured upon the experiment of manly warfare, has tormally taken the field, and from Maine to Maryland has commenced offensive operations. Southern forces under Lee and Beauregard, beaten and broken in fair and open conflict, are everywhere accepting their fate, and some of their distinguished leaders freely admit that the failure of the rebellion was the most fortunate thing that could have happened to the Southern people. But not so with their safer, if not their braver associates in the Northern States. These men have resolved to give the people a further taste of civil war, and therefore we find them not only taking the field as partisans, but rapidly placing themselves in battle array. Peace having been conquered at the South, after an unparalleled expenditure of precious blood and treasure, the North is only to be allowed to enjoy the same blessing after a similar terrible process. And there is a prediction to be fulfilled in this respect. Just before the rebellion broke out we had it proclaimed by the leaders of the Democracy in our midst that the war would not be confined to the slave States, but would gradually envelop all the others, and that the innocent people of the North and West would be taught the necessity of recognizing the Confederacy through the fearful experience of blood and death at their own firesides. But the fates have thus far decided against the realization of this prediction. To confirm it is now the mission now), but of the fatal folly of being misted into opposition to the only party that can save the Republic, look at the paralysis that may calmly enjoy the spectacle of seeing than befallen business all over the land since their recent compatriots trying to inflict upon the North and the West the horrors approximately inflicted upon the South. In Pennsylvania the organization seems to be very complete. Judge Woodward, who to the Reconstruction law, when hundreds from his position on the Supreme bench denounced the draft as unconstitutional, and who from the beginning to the end of the war indulged not one feeling in common with the Union cause, has been formally and unanimously nominated by the Copperheads crisis is graver than any that has preceded it. There is not a tried soldier of the Republic who does not see and say that it is death of Mr. Denison, and a more fitting commander-in-chief of the Copperhead forces could not have been selected. Jereopenly avowed. The notorious Ledger des- miah S. Neither Jefferson Davis, Wigfall, Toombs, Barksdale nor Keitt, included in flercer threats or embarked in a flercer crusade against the Gov ernment of their fathers. And the object of the new rebellion is precisely like that of the old, namely, to place the Government in the control of the traitors, and, under the veil of opposition to negro-suffrage, to hand over to the minority of the old slaveholders the destinies they sought to destroy. The concurrence of these signs, the congregation of these desperate and designing politicians, their exulting and bold determination to feel like accepting our recent political reverses as so many blessings in disguise, because they have forced our opponents to expose out the Republican ranks. The speeches of our orators, the tone of our newspapers, the voice of the people in public meetings, are

THE CALIFORNIA ELECTION. A Republican Senator Secured.

After all the tremendous shouts at the Copperhead victory in California, it is now officially ascertained that the Republicans have a majority of two votes on joint ballot, which secures the election of a Republi-

The Copperhead candidate for Governor is elected, there being two Republicans candidates in the field. At the last general election their total vote was 59,647. The decrease in the total vote is 14,058; not withstanding the registry shows no decrease ties of Dauphin, Lebanon and Schuylkill, by in the number entitled to vote. Now, if we go one step further, we find the total has in the vote to have resulted from the disallect ed Republicans staying at home. At last election the Democracy polled a vote in these counties of 25,584. Haight receives a vote of but 24,622, an actual decrease of 962. On the other hand, the total Union vote at the preceding election, was 34,063; this year it is but 20,957, a decrease of 13, 096; the remaining 962 of the decrease, as we have stated, being on the Democratic

The Indian War.

St. Louis, Sept. 19 Letters from Fort Dodge say that the Indians are very numerous in that vicinity. The scouts say that the Cheyennes, Arrapahoes, Camanches and Kiowas have consolidated, and there are 2,000 of them on the war path. On the 10th inst., thirty miles from Fort Dodge, a train of forty wagons, laden with Spencer ammunition and Quartermaster stores, on the way for Fort Dodge, were attacked and five wa-gons captured. The day following, another train was attacked, 25 miles above Fort Dodge, and 4 men killed, and 12 mules captured; and near Fort Lyons, a train bound to New Mexico was attacked and sixty mules taken. The stage company's station, at Cameron crossing, was robbed of 10 mules the same night.

Two fatal cases of cholera occurred at Omaha yesterday. J. B. Sutton, a prominent citizen, was one of them. A telegraph from North Platte on the 17th says the Indian Commissioners had arrived. Two hundred Indians are there, with Spotted Tail, Standing Elk, Swift Bear, Pawnee Killer, Turkey Foot and other chiefs. A council was to be held yesterday afternoon. Three women and three children, captives, were delivered up by Spotted Tail. The Montana volunteers, under Colonel Howe, had a fight with the Indians on the Boulder on the 30th ult. The troops afterwards found the outfitting tools and coat belonging to Captains Webster and Hodge, who were reported killed on the 2d ult. The coat had several bullet and arrow holes throught it. Three men were picked up, all severely wounded, and reported that they had fought the Indians all the way from Fort Smith, and confirmed the previous reports about the fight at that place. NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—By special tele-grams through the Atlantic cable, dated in Florence, Rome, Paris and Toulon, yesterday evening, we have the highly important intelligence that General Garibaldi was arrested by order of King Victor Emanuel, when about to cross the frontier of Italy on his march to Rome, and imprisoned in the Fortress at Alessandria, that the army of the party of action was made captive, and that in consequence of this action French troops are being dispatched to Italy and Rome from Paris and Toulon.

Immense excitement prevailed in Florence and Paris, and the papal troops were concentrated actively in Rome.

Description of the Antietam Monu-

The Antietam Cemetery Commisssioners have agreed upon a design for the monument. There were six competitors. The award was given to Mr. J. G. Patterson, of Hartford, Conn., who furnished the designs for the Gettysburg Monument and the Worth Monument in this city.

The height of the monument will be fortyfive leet, and it will cost $30,000. It will of Westerly granite, which is a light grey, and at a distance resembles marble. At the base it will be twenty-two feet square, only one foot less than the Gettysburg monument. It will be composed of blocks weighing from six to fifteen tons each. The lower base will be two feet high. Above this there will be a platform course two feet high, and about seventeen feet square. This will be followed by a massive monided base, flanked at each angle by heavy buttresses, their graceful lines adding strength to the structure. Next there will be an immense die, ten feet high aud nine feet square, surmounted by a cap weighing fifteen tons. The whole structure will be crowned by a colossal statue, twenty feet high. The statue will be that of a private soldier standing as sentinal. It is to be cut out of an immense block weighing ninety tons. This will be the largest statue of modern times, and more unique and characteristic than any ever erected in this country.

It is believed that it will be more attrac

THERE is every reason to fear great sickness this season. The summer has been wet, and all vegetable matter has grown luxuriantly, so now, that decomposition is commencing, malarial poison will be developed to an awful extent; and the terrible diseases consequent thereupon follow. Bilious remittent fevers, cholera morbus, and other bowel complaints, are already raging fearfully. Every person whose system is in the slightest manner diseased, may find himself at any moment the victim of some of these afflictions. The greatest regularity in all our habits should be observed, and the organism fortified by some good tonic preparation.

The Zingari Bitters will neutralize these poisons, even after they have entered the blood, and thus prevent its baneful effects.
