A GENIUS ON TAXATION. Our neighbors of the Sentinel, last week, published what they call an interesting, but what we should call "a wonderful conversation," between two Republicans in front of the Court House, on the subject of taxes, that the Chief Justice will preside. This the whole country will be glad to hear. May grain, pork, &c. We hardly supposed it possible to find two Republicans, or even Democrats, capable of talking on any subject, so stupid as A. and B. are made to appear in this dialogue. It is certainly both new and wonderful to learn that the wheat crop was a failure and that "corn and pork hardly paid the labor bestowed upon it," But the most marvellous part of the story is the statement of B., who confesses to a fortune that amount, and invested the same in Government bonds, yielding 8 per cent, per aunum, or about $10,000 per year, whilst he the happy man? Where is Esquire Shindle, questions that suggest themseives to all tax should be propounded and set forth by the payers. That man is certainly a genius, highest law officer of the Government-in and could double his fortune by showing effect, by the Government itself. his brother bond-holders how they can escape with a yearly tax of $15 on an income of $10,000 a year, thus saving four hundred and cighty-five dollars per annum.

THE news from Italy is of the most startling character. The days of the temporal power of the Pope are numbered, revolution, under that fearless and disinterested patriot, Garibaldi. For the last nineteen years the Pope has been but little more than a prisoner in his own domains-kept Pope will be no longer a temporal Prince. He will be nothing more than a bishop-a shorn of his power, and with it, his glory. Victor Emanuel may talk about his govcrament. The people are the government, and they are almost a unit in favor of Garibaldi and his measures-the abolition of the

Gen, Beauregard is being feted and honized by his Washington friends and admirers, while such patriots and soldiers as Sheridan are stigmatized as tyrants and ex-Satraps. And yet these men, who fawn upon and flatter open and avowed traitors, profess to be Democrats, and claim to be followers of Jefferson and Jackson. Only think of it; - Jackson and Beauregard drinking each other's health at the same table! The bare thought is enough to stir the bones of the old hero in his grave and cause him to ask that the traitor be "hung of like fools are resolved to keep her in hot as high as Haman."

The Trial of the Arch Truitor. Chief Justice Chase has given notice that he will preside at the trial of Jefferson Davis, provided the parties will consent to bring provided the parties will consent to bring it on Nov. 13th, instead of Nov. 27th—the latter being the day specified in Davis' bail bond for his appearance to answer to the indictment found against him. As the Chief Justice is to preside in the Supreme Court, which commences its annual session on the first Monday in December, his request is reasonable, and, we presume, will be acceded to. So we may consider it settled that the trial will commence on the 13th inst. and we not now hope that the Attorney-General will lead the prosecution? This is no petty larceny matter. It were sheer affectation to mistake it as other than a great State trial—one destined to be cited as a precedent—to be studied and commented on through many years. The questions involved are those of public and constitutional law-there are no facts in dispute, and the examination of witnesses need not occupy two hours. We judge, also, that the impanueling of the jury need excite little interest, since the isof $125,000-having sold his farm, &c., for sue must depend on the law of the case as ruled by the Court. That Jefferson Davis war against the United States is as levied incontestable a fact as that Andrew Johnson is now President, or Salmon P. ALL contagious poisons doubtless produce their peculiar influence upon the organism through the blood, in fact, they pass into this fluid, grow and multiply there, giving rise to changes in its composition. The contagious poisons generally consist of living matter, and this, by its growth and increase produces, by the great change in the circulating fluid, those terrible affections.

These contagious poisons will fall harmless where there is no impairment of health in any part of the system, but where the mucous surfaces are relaxed, the capillaries distended on account of a sluggish condition of circulation, the blood thin and poor, and a general lassitude, they will be taken up, and produce their legitimate effects—sickness and death.

All danger from these poisons can easily be avoided by using stendily the Zingari Bitters. It prevents by producing just such a condition of the system as is required to resist the poison, besides directly neutralizing many of them in the blood.

Unlocking the Rocks.—The great cost of silver

Unlocking the Rocks.—The great cost of silver and gold arises not so much from their scarcity in the earth as the difficulty of extracting them from their stony combinations. Dr. J. C. Ayer, the well known chemist, of Massachusetts, has cut this gordian knot. After having merited and received the gratitude of half mankind, by his remedies that cure their diseases, he is now withing the other half, by opening for them an easy road to the exhaustless treasures of the hills. He has discovered and published a chemical process, which renders, at little cost, the hardest rocks and ores friable like chalk, so that the precious metals are loosed from their cost, the hardest rocks and ores friable like chalk, so that the precious metals are locsed from their confinement, and easily gathered. Mines too poor to pay, may be worked at a profit now, and the yield of rich mines is largely increased, while the cost of extracting the metals from the ore is diminished. Either is a great achievement, to enrich mankind, or cure their diseases. But we are informed our celebrated countryman adheres to the latter, as his specialty and chief ambition -Buffalo Sentinel.

ANCINT FIRE ARTS.—To the Editor of the New York Herald:—Respecting the relies of porcelain ware found in the late exhumations at Herculaneum, which have been forwarded to the Society of Antiquities in London, whereof your correspondent says the bottle resembling Drake's Plantation Bitters was undoubtedly placed among the ruins by the agent of Dr. Drake, we desire to state he is incorrect in every respect. If a bottle was found there bearing our lettering, the language of the Ancient Romans was different from the accepted literature of that day. Our Agont has other bearings rature of that day. Our Agont has other business than this in Europe, and has not been in Italy at all. No doubt Americans carry Plantation Bitters to Rome; but trying to impose upon a society of Anto me, but trying to impose upon a society of Antiquarians in this way seems quite useless, and we do not appreciate the joke. It is unnecessary for us to spend money in Europe while we are unable
