with difficulty that he reached his pew, in the broad isic, near the pulpit, and between the minister's and village squire's. One Sunday morning the minister told his flock that he should preach a sermon touching many glaring sins so conspicuous among them, and that he hoped they would listen attentively, and not flinch if it happened to be severe.

The afternoon came and the house was full. Everybody turned out to bear their neighbors "dressed down" by the minister, who, after opening his sermon, commenced on transgressors in a loud voice with the question;

"Where is the drunkard?" A solemu pause succeeded the inquiry, when up rose Deacon M., his face red with draughts of his favorite drink, and steadying himself as well as he could by the pew rail, looked up to the parson and replied in a trembling and piping voice: "Here I am."

Of course a consternation in the congregation was the result of the honest deacon's response. However the parson went on with his remarks as he had written them, commenting severely on the drunkard, and closed by warning him to forsake at once such evil habits if he would seek salvation and flee the coming wrath. The deacon then made a bow and seated himself again.

"And now," asked the preacher in his loudest tones," where is the hypocrite?"

A pause but no one responded. Eyes were turned upon this and that man, but for years. the most glances seemed directed to the squire's pew, and the parson seemed to squint hard in that direction.

The deacon saw where the shaft was aimed, or where it should be aimed, and rising once more, leaned over his pew rail to the squire, whom he tapped on the shoulder, and thus addressed him: "Come, squire, why don't you get up? I did when he called me up.

HIS HEAD WAS LEVEL .- A New York wholesale grocer, who has become rich in his business, has lately made the following revelation. He says his rule always was when he sold a bill of goods on credit, to immediately subscribe for the local paper of his debior. So long as his customer advertised liberally and vigorously, he rest-ed easy, but as soon as he began to con-tract his advertising space, he took the fact as evidence that there was trouble ahead, and he invariably went for his debt. "For, "said he"the man who feels too poor to ing abused for it. She can take a map af-ter dinner while her husband goes to work. She can go out in the street without being asked to stand treat at every saloon. She can stay at home in time of war, and get married again if her husband gets killed. She can wear corsete if too thick, and other fixings if too thin. She can get a divorce from her husband, if she sees one she likes better. She can get her husband in debt, all over, until he warms the public not to trust her on his account. But all thesa advantages are balanced by the great facts that she can not sing bass, wear a beard, go sparking, or climb a tree with propriety.

A CURE FOR LEP ROSY.—A cure for leprosy has been discovered in India. According to the Funear, medical science has last triumphed over this terrible discase. The civil surgeon of Khundwa reports the case of an old Jew who came to him from Bonbay in great grief, saying that his friends had excluded him form their society, and obliged him to live in a hou by himself. He was at this time pleasingly mottled with rosecolor. The doctor had han at once washed with sonp and warm water, and the old Jew showed signs of improvement. He was then anointed with carbolic neid and oil with such good effects that next day he wrote to his wife to expect him home in a week. In short, what with washing with soap and water, and what with anointing with carbolic neid and oil, the old Jew was soon completely cured. The experiment had, moreover, an interest apart from the fact that a nectat scourge was being conquered, in the chameleen variations of the conquered in the chameleen variations an ancient scourge was being conquered, in the chameleon variations of the corpus wile under experiment. The Jew came to Khundwa rose-color and brown; in a week or two he was glossy black and brown; a | ; attle later he became speekled gray; then
