Physician of this celebrated Institution, has discovered the most certain, speedy, pleasant and effectual remedy in the world for all DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of Kidneys and Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspensy, Languor, Low Spirits. Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Tremblings, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—these terrible Disorders arising from the Solitary Habits of Youth—those secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes of anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible. A something you ought to repair, And pass your arm round her and fix it, And then to forget your arm there; especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of cloquence or waked to cestacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married Persons or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness, (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency), Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other Disqualification, speedily relieved.

DO YOU THINK IT A SIN?

Or to peep into eyes that are glancing From darkly fringed cyclids below i Or to see just beyond where she's sitting

Or, just in a fit of abstraction,
To tell her there's something you miss,
And while she is helping you to find it
To steal from her mouth a sweet kiss?

And as she's reproving you mildly, You draw in your arm rather tight, And tell her you are sorry you did it, If she does not think it quite right; And then in your penitent moment You say that to you it is plain You ought, as a matter of honor, To give her the kiss back again.

Yet how to do so is the puzzle, For; in viewing the matter o'er,
If I give back the kiss I have stolen,
She might say I'd taken one more!
O! I'm sadly perplexed and confounded, I want to be just and polite; Can't you think that 'twere to coan her To give me to kissing the right?

I'm afraid I've committed a binnder, And acted somewhat like a dance;
I think I must get up my courage,
And ask her to wed me at once.
I've done it—and she has consented— What a fortunate man I have been ! And now you may keep your opinion-I don't think I've committed a sin.

but it is immense labor. I have to run from one end of the warehouse to the other; get a man loaded up and follow him out to the wagon, and then Mr. Gale, a member of the board, who is my escort, watches the wagon, lest he too drive off. After we are loaded we have to drive behind the teams and watch each unload, in order to prevent them from being stolen. Our faith in buman nature at first was so great that we allowed them to take directions and drive along to a designated point; but we never heard from them af-terwards, and doubtless ere this a flourishing corner grocery is established by means of our patronage. The gentlemen at the wavehouse are all very kind and obliging, but their hands are full. They are offiged to knock down and drag out these miserable cormorants, who swarm there by the

Mrs. Joseph Medill, of the Tribune, ran out to me as I passed on Thursday morning, and said that in her house were five persons, the members of some of the best families in Chicago, who had been trying since Tuesday to get out of town; they had passes, but must have some money for their present necessities. I have been trying all day to borrow ten dollars for them, but can't get it. At last I got it and gave it to her without hesitation, and she has since told me that never did money prove such a Think of the families separated by this godsend as that ten dollars.

BROILED OYSTERS.—Choose large fat oysters; wipe them very dry; sprinkle salt and cayenne pepper upon them, and broil upon one of the small gridirons sold for that purpose. You can dredge the oyster with dour if you wish to have it brown, and some fancy the juices are better kept in this way. Others dislike the crust thus formed.
