FRUIT-GRAFTING.—As the time will soon be here when grafting is in order, we repeat our former advice that every farmer should do his own grafting. It is a very easy operation when once understood, and this is readily done by seeing it done. A sharp penknife and a good fine saw are indispensable. Splitting the stalk so that the bark shall not be bruised, and sharpen the scion wedge-both ways, preserving also the bark unharmed, and placing the rim of the root of both stock and scion exactly together, so that the sap can intermingle—there is no danger of failure of properly waxed. We make a shoulder to the graft and think it adds to the certainty of success, though probably it weakens it. We prefer also two eyes or buds to a graft, and would rather have only one than more than two. One year's work should always be used when it can be obtained, as it is more certain to take and grows more vigorously, and the graft should be cut from healthy branches.

We wish to remind those preparing grafting wax, that we have found four parts of rosin, one part beef tallow, to be the best proportions. Melt them together in a skillet, (which is the best,) or a tincup, and mix well. It should remain in the vessel and used as needed. Twenty of thirty scions can be waxed with one heaping tablespoon of wax, and the balance in the tin payments of $500. Apply to
WM. A. MASSEY, Three Rivers, Mich.

We have seen various preparations for making grafting wax and we believe we would have succeeded in making many farmers afraid that the harrow will pull up the wheat, but such is not the case. If the land is dry, a good heavy, four-toothed harrow will destroy many weeds, break the crust, stir the soil, and greatly benefit the wheat.

POTATOES.—We are inclined to think that farmers seldom plant their potatoes early enough. If planted earlier and deeper, and the ground is harrowed repeatedly with Thomas's harrow before the potatoes come out of the ground, afterwards far less hoeing would be required, and we think a better yield would be obtained.

Harrowing winter wheat is a practice we would earnestly commend to many farmers are afraid that the harrow will pull up the wheat, but such is not the case. If the land is dry, a good heavy, four-toothed harrow will destroy many weeds, break the crust, stir the soil, and greatly benefit the wheat.

Recipes, &c.

DRESSING FOR BOOTS.—One of the most important means of preserving health, especially at this season, is to keep the feet dry and warm. Farmers and others who are exposed to wet and cold should find the following composition very valuable as a protection and a preservation for their boots. It is also excellent as a dressing for harness: Neat's foot oil 1/2 pint, beeswax 1 ounce; spirits turpentine 1 ounce, pine tar 1 ounce; melt and mix together, and stir until cold, and rub this composition over the leather while it is damp; leather will absorb oil or grease better when damp than dry. For the soles, take pine tar and it in before a fire until the soles will absorb no more. Three or four applications will be needed. The durability of the soles will be much increased.

HOW TO MAKE A GOOD SOUP.—Procure a soup bone, better yet, remove the meat, add to the soup a few unions, onion, salt to suit the taste; slice the unions very thin; set it to boil. Then take some flour in a bowl, drop sweet milk in by the drop and stir stirring with the right hand until you think you have enough to thicken the soup sufficiently, and you will find the flour rubbings. Add to the soup; let it boil, stirring it all the time, and it is done. It is excellent warmed over for next day.

TO MAKE SCREWS HOLD.—In driving screws into soft wood, do not use a bit to make a hole. For the bit use the gimlet screw and make a hole with the broadawl, just enough to allow the screw to start. The screw will cut its own way, and as the wood is all there, it becomes compressed, and the threads are well oiled and solid. In hard wood, bore a hole no larger than the core of the screw, leaving the screws to cut their full depth. A little linsed oil will assist the running of the screws in and prevent the breaking of the threads in the wood; it will also preserve the screw against rust.

"CAPTAIN SCOTT."—It is said of this famous hunter, Captain Scott, that when he sighted a coon in a tree and was recognized by the "critter," the sagacious coon, knowing that it was all up with him, would call out "If that's you, Captain Scott, don't fire for I'll come down." The famous person who was in the coon's place in the regular army, who rose from the ranks—having been commissioned for gallant services in the war of 1812. He was very illiterate, and could not write his own name, but he could make his mark with a rifle or common smooth bore flint lock musket of the olden times. Many anecdotes were told of him in the old army, where he was a universal favorite with the officers and men. He had for a great many years before the Mexican war been captain in the 8th Infantry, and his company was noted as good as fast as it was. It was the boast of his men that they would all pick up a musket at any time and out-hand put a dozen bullets in the bull's eye, one after the other, as fast as he could load and fire. His own soldiers, who idolized him, got up the story about the coon, which is correct, and it was told that his officer was killed in the battle of Milpa de Rey.

A HINT TO GRUMBLERS.—"What a noisy world this is!" croaked an old frog as he squatted on the margin of the pool. "Do you hear those geese, how they scream and hiss? What do they do for?" "Oh, just to amuse themselves," answered a little mouse. "Presently we shall have the owl hooting. What is that for?" "It's the music they like best," said the mouse. "And those grasshoppers, they can't go home without grating and chirping. Why do they do that?" "Oh, they're so happy, they can't help it," said the mouse. "You'll find me as happy as I be, but you don't understand music, so you like the hideous noises." "Well, friend, to be honest with you," said the mouse; "I don't greatly admire any of them; but they are all sweet in my ears compared with the constant croaking of a frog."

One day recently, a citizen of an Eastern town went to the car to see his daughter off. Securing her seat, he passed out to the car, and went round to her window to say a parting word, as is frequently done on such occasions. While he was passing out the daughter left the seat to speak to a friend, and at the same time, a prim looking lady who occupied the seat with her, moved up to the window. Unaware of the important changes inside, our venerable friend hastily put his face up to the window and hurriedly exclaimed, "One more kiss, sweet pet!" In another instant the point of a blue cotton umbrella caught his sensitive lip, followed by the passionate injunction, "Seet, you gray-headed wretch!" and he scattered.

GAS CHEAPER THAN KEROSENE.
OFFICE OF THE SUNBURY GAS COMPANY.
October 30, 1871.
TO THE CITIZENS.—Recent investigations demonstrate that Gas of 14 Candles quality, can be sold at $2.00 per 1000 cubic feet. The Directors of the Sunbury Gas Company have determined to adopt that price and 14 Candles as the standard of quality. This fixes the price of a 14 Candle burner at one cent an hour, or one-tenth less than Philadelphia gas.
A Kerosene lamp gives a light of seven to ten candles only—therefore, gas at the above price is much cheaper than kerosene, without considering cost of chimney and liability to accident. Let all come forward and become gas consumers. Make your applications for service pipes and fittings to the Gas Company, free to good Smart Agents, Canvasers, mail and females, wanted everywhere.

SUNNYSIDE HEATER.
REGISTERED AT MARITIME STATE FAIR, BALTIMORE.—First premium for Fire-place Heaters awarded the Sunnyside.
Advantages of the Sunnyside.
1. It is so constructed that one-third more of the radiating surface extends into the room, giving that much more additional heat without expense of fuel.
2. It is the only Hot-Air Fire-place Heater in the market. Like the regular built cellar heater, it loses no heat, but confines it all to its legitimate purposes.
3. The fuel magazine is double the usual size, extending from the fire-box to the top of the stove, with capacity for twenty-four hours' supply of coal.
4. The patent double cover for coal magazine consumes the gas, prevents escape of gas into the room, and makes it impossible for any puffing or explosion to occur. This is an advantage possessed by no other fire-place stove in the market.
5. There are three air chambers, wherein a brisk circulation is kept up, drawing the cold air in the room through heated fans into a large hot-air reservoir, at the back of the stove.
6. No side pipes are used, as the air is heated in a reservoir having double radiating faces and double back, supplying large quantities of hot air without escape of heat or fuel.
7. The waste water from the waste heat goes through a reservoir on the top of the stove, connected with the hot air pipes, controls the quantity of hot air required for the use of either the upper or lower register. The waste water is never inconvenient in this respect.
8. The Grate is self-sealing, and no dust can escape while shaking it.
