FORNEY'S Press is trying an experiment which must necessarily fail in morals or politics whenever attempted, and that is, to serve God and Mammon at the same time. As far as the Presidential candidates are concerned, no objections are raised by that paper, from the fact that its editor is not quite prepared for the Presidential chair, believing that he has first to be admitted to the U. S. Senate, before he will be able to occupy such a prominent position. In order to secure the latter he opposes part of our State ticket, not because any serious charges have been brought against the candidates, but because he is afraid these men, if elected, will be an obstacle in his way. The reasons given by the Press some time ago for its opposition to Hartman were very vague, indeed, and proved just what many had suspected for some time, an excuse to vent his spleen against the Hon. Simon Cameron, who he imagines is in his head. Nothing has been added against Hartman to show that he is corrupt or dishonest; and having received his nomination fairly, we cannot see why the Press should not give its support to him as well as to Grant. Particularly as all the odds between the two gubernatorial candidates are in favor of Hartman. Where Buckalew is known he will not carry his party vote. The Press claims that 500 Republicans in Northumberland county will not vote the State ticket. The editor cannot be well informed, for we know of none who are willing to cast their votes in favor of Buckalew in preference to Hartman, while on the other hand we know a large number of Democrats who will not support Buckalew. In fact the Press is not adding anything to the Republican cause by its present course, nor have we much faith in its sincerity as a Republican journal. We are sorry that such is the case, as the Press has heretofore held a prominent position in the Republican ranks, but by persisting in its present course it must lose its influence.

Significant.—The Junonia Republican, in noticing the re-nomination of the Hon. J. B. Packer, for Congress, by the Snyder County Convention, says:

"The unanimous vote for re-nomination which our able Congressman, Hon. John B. Packer, received at the recent primary election in Snyder county, is significant of the esteem in which he is regarded in the District. No other person has yet been found bold enough to ask to supplant our faithful member, and it is well there is not, for if there were, he would find himself the worst licked man who ever tried to get a nomination. Thus the people reward faithful servants."

Russell Bennett, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, promptly denies the charge published in Forney's Press, a few days ago, in the shape of a Washington despatch setting forth that he had expressed doubts of Hartman's election. Major Errett, in private and public, has given the most cheering assurance of our success in October and November—assurances which he bases on the most reliable information received from all parts of the State.

There is sharpness as well as truth in the remarks of the Bloomsburg (Columbia county) Republican. It says: "Forney—Andy Johnson's Dead Duck—intends to support our Fishing-rod confederate, Buckalew. He betrayed the Democratic party once and now attempts to sell the Republican, but he will find that the party that could tilt overboard a treacherous President with all his patronage can now dispense with the doubtful service of a man that only serves a party so long as it pays 'Come, Metternich,' said Napoleon, 'how much do they pay you for fighting against me?'"

Carl Schurz perpetually declines all political association with Horace Greeley.

THE HON. SIMON CAMERON.—An attack has been made upon the gentleman whose name heads this article, by the free trade party and its allies, for the purpose of depreciating his services and keep him out of the United States Senate. It is well known that Mr. Cameron has been instrumental in preventing the schemes of the free traders ever since he has been a member of that body, and that the State of Pennsylvania never had a truer advocate of her interests. But we find a certain class of aspirants making no secret of the matter, and openly declaring their opposition to the State Ticket for the purpose of preventing the re-election of Mr. Cameron to the U. S. Senate. The nominees of the Republican party in this State are not objectionable, but because it is feared that by their success in October next the free trade party will again fail to accomplish their objects, for six years to come, every means will be resorted to to defeat them. As these free traders and their allies are making it a pretext that Mr. Cameron is not the right man in the right place, and that through him the State ticket should be defeated, we copy below an article from the Germantown Telegraph, written by its venerable editor, Major Frens, who stands independent of politics, and whose opinions are greatly revered by all parties:

"A concerted attack has been made from various quarters upon General Simon Cameron, that leaves no doubt whatever that it is in part a general and deep-laid scheme to change the whole complexion of the United States Senate in the interest of the free-trade faction that has its headquarters in New York. It begins to be obvious that the leaders of the Democratic and so-called 'Liberal' Republican opposition really care much less about the chance of electing a President than obtaining the control of the Senate for free-trade and Democratic purposes. Several of the leading free-trade organs make no secret of the matter, and therefore publish a list of Senators who are to be chosen in the winter ensuing, and direct attention to their secrets as the main object of the campaign. In such a contest we can feel no hesitation as to our course. We have no particular love for Simon Cameron. He is not our favorite of a general nature, but the aim in striking at him seems pretty clearly to be to put an opposition Senator in his place, we warn all our friends to beware of falling into any snare on this subject. Simon Cameron may be a selfish man in some respects, but he is a most unselfish one in others. He is a man who has never extracted from Lincoln's admirable 'Life of Lincoln,' carefully showing how Mr. Cameron was carried out of the Cabinet, are extremely careful not to show how this same Simon Cameron returned good for evil, getting the two houses of the Pennsylvania Legislature, with all their officers at their head, to re-nominate President Lincoln for re-election. We have a personal and positive knowledge that this was done by the influence of Simon Cameron.

Nor do these newly-fledged enemies of our Senator seem to realize that Simon Cameron, in his first report as Secretary of War, advocated openly the enlistment and arming of colored troops and especially the slaves, and that Mr. Lincoln and his conservative associates objected to this radical passage and had it struck out. It is also well known now to every one that Simon Cameron, as Secretary of War, raised, armed and equipped the first National Army of over six hundred thousand men ever put in the field. Perhaps these opponents of General Cameron do not know or care to know that when the first great call was made for troops, General Grant proposed to put them all in three great enclaves on the northern lakes, to drill for three months, three or four hundred miles from the frontier, and that General Cameron, as Secretary of War, refused to consent, and his refusal was rejected. He has this from a gentleman who was present at the interview.

We say all this, and we could say very much more to the same effect, at the same time that we reiterate that we have not admitted General Cameron. We know his errors and his faults, and we know that we do not believe in men who have never gone astray in any of their public acts. They are generally persons of feeble character, too much afraid of their good name "to attack a bribe unless the wind were in their favor." It is between Simon Cameron and the free-trade faction who seek his political martyrdom, and as between him and the miserable tail-end of a faction that rallies around Senator Sumner and attacks and vilifies all who were concerned in removing him from the position he disgraced at the head of the Foreign Relations Committee, we clearly and emphatically say, decisively for Simon Cameron. If the Republican party must go down in defeat in Pennsylvania or rise with Cameron, we shall incontinently throw overboard all who make this a personal matter and go for the man who sustains the party, that has done so much to preserve the Union one and inseparable."

SOME fifty editors, with their wives, passed through this place on Monday last, on their annual excursion to Erie and the lakes, and return through the oil regions. Among them were some of the most prominent journalists of the day. The excursion will no doubt be a very pleasant affair.

The Watsontown Record is consistent enough in its party affinities to the utter abolition of the Democrats who advocate the re-election of Forney. "The Philadelphia Inquirer and Press," says the New York Democrat strongly repudiate the idea of the Baltimore convention nominating a Republican as the Democratic candidate for President. Greeley is, always and always will be, a Republican, and why some Democrats wish him nominated at Baltimore we can't see."

In the case between J. K. Davis, of Selawick, and the Sunbury & Lewistown Railroad Co., in the matter of damages for land taken for said road passing through two of his farms, the jury rendered a verdict awarding Mr. Davis $3,300. The land taken is in the neighborhood of five to five and a half acres.

AN INSULT TO OUR FLAG.—The State department at Washington has received despatches from George Holt, our Consul at Gaspe Basin, Canada, to the effect that the Captain of the Dominion Cutter Stella, on October 15, 1870, marked a ten dollar greenback with his name and the above date. On the 8th inst. the same bill came into his possession. Taking the distance into consideration, it seems strange.

A SPECIAL from Pittsburg says a fearful collision occurred Saturday on the Washington and Baltimore railroad, near Connellsville. The freight and mail trains ran together at full speed on a short curve. The entire freight train was wrecked. Henry Saxton, conductor of the latter, and Robert Lockhart, mail agent, were killed, and Blackburn mortally wounded. Eight passengers were seriously injured, and it is expected a number of these will die. Nine others sustained injuries of a less severe character. The freight train was running at a high rate of speed in order to catch the switch at Connellsville before the approach of the mail.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—An accident occurred in the Pennsylvania Iron Works, on Wednesday evening of last week, which resulted in the terrible death of a young man named Robert Sellick. At the time, he was engaged in his usual occupation of oiling the large crown wheel which drives the "squeezer" when his foot slipped and he fell, being caught in the cogs and his body carried between the opposite surfaces of the "squeezer." He was literally rent in pieces while living. He was a single man, twenty-four years of age, and an Englishman by birth. He was a soldier during the late war and had only been employed at these works a few weeks before the accident.—Danville American.

A TERRIBLE disaster occurred on the Grand Trunk Railroad, near Belleville, Canada, on Friday night. The locomotive of an express train going east was thrown off the track and a passenger car, filled with passengers, were piled upon the engine. The escaping steam from the engine passed through these cars, and the passengers who were not killed outright were scalded in a dreadful manner. On Saturday evening the list of dead names was 25, and of injured not more than five or six were expected to live.

Hartman fought bravely for the Union against treason, distinguishing himself greatly by his many successful battles. Buckalew, on the contrary, was at home, sitting with the men who were proclaiming the war for the Union a failure, and looking complacently, if not approvingly, on the rising against the Union cause in his district. And in the face of these facts, honest Republicans are asked to vote for Buckalew. Such a suggestion is an insult to the intelligence and patriotism of Republican citizens.
