LOCAL OPTION .- The vote last week on Local Option, in this county as well as in our sister county Schuylkill, resulted in favor of license and the liquor traffic. In this county the resalt was attributable more to the inactivity of those favorable to temperance than any other. Most of those having influence showed no disposition to lead off in their opposition to license and influence beyond their own households. abatement of the evil, and that remedy has us to comment upon all questions of polialways been in existence-the stringent en- ties or business, without fear favor or affecforcement of existing laws. This, in our tion, standing always by the right, and opinion, is the only effective remedy, and if making such comments as in our judgproperly applied would do more to curtail the evil than any other law that has ever been devised. There were hundreds who a free and independent paper-free from all voted in favor of license, not that they felt cliques and factions, and with this end in any interest in the traffic, but that they saw nothing in the law effecting anything to | we have the control of the columns of the the purpose, and many of them believed that it would drive the vice to a still lower level-that by closing up respectable places whose reputations would prevent a gross mate way, that we may never have occaabuse, it would throw the business into the hands of reckless, irresponsible parties, whose secret places for the sale of liquor of the worst character, would have been legion. Another objectionable feature to the bill, in the opinion of many, was that it merely abolished license, and deprived our hotels of the power of accommodating the taveling public, without producing the desired effect within the community. This argument was used with effect. Had there been a provision in the law overruling this objection, thousands of votes would have gone in favor of the bill which were otherwise cast. There are many, too, who believe that the only sure method of killing the evils arising from the traffic is through the license system and the stringent enforcement of present laws-that by lessening the number of unlicensed rumholes the number of places of temptation is lessened, and the fiend robbed of half its power to do mischief, thus paving the way gradually to an entire abolishment the evil. That by passing laws making perjury on the part of constables a punishable crime, a blow will be struck at the evils of the rum traffic more effective than any Local Option Law that may be passed. The opponents of license have great reason to feel gratified with the result of the elections on the bill throughout the State. The majorities are large against license. The character of the law is yet an experiment. If the result of the experiment is beneficial, it will no doubt become the law of the State. We hope that wherever it has carried it may result in good. If this be the result, we feel confident that the people of this county will also decide in its favor, by nearly a unanimous vote, at the first opportunity. But as long as man is man we fear the whiskey difficulty will be a matter difficult to handle. There are two causes for this first, man's inclination to stimulants, second his cupidity. We see in Chambers' Encyclopædia that in 1556, a furore occurred throughout the United Kingdom of Great Britain in opposition to the whisky traffic, the evils arising from which far exceeded those of the United States, spring ing from the same cause here at the present time. The government passed, and attempted most stringently to enforce, sweeping laws in opposition, but the pupulation, through their inclination to stimulants, presented the most violent opposition to the laws, and the government first page an account of the origin of the was forced to succumb. Officers in the famous 'Credit Mobilier,' which has caused discharge of their duty were shot down, so much excitement among certain memand rioting and blood-shed were an every- bers of Congress who have received some day occurrence, uctil, what the population of the stock. Now, it is a well known fact that ic American and Englishman use almost | C. M. Hall was actively engaged in assistevery variety of stimulants. We have not ing Mr. Green in procuring the original one word to say in favor of the use of stimulants, but these are facts which cannot out this aid from Mr. Hall and others, Mr. be disputed. This is the first difficulty Green could not have succeeded. That -the second exists in man's cupidity. Not these men had an interest in the matter is satisfied with a fair compensation for the a fact that can hardly be doubted. The production of a wholesome article, he must object was to make money out of the charhasten his wealth through the production ter, and that there was some gouging and sale of a drugged article, every drop of which takes away a drop of life, and which while it does not cost the manufacturer one fourth the amount he receives for it, it costs the consumer his existence, and that too at a high price, if his can be reckoned at the standard of gold. Until man's nature is to expect from the citizens of Philadelphia changed, and there is no longer a demand with some praiseworthy exceptions. A VETERAN EDITOR RETIRES FROM JOURNALISM .- The Miners' Journal of last Saturday contained the valedictory of Benjamin Bannan, Esq., its founder and conductor for upwards of forty years. Mr. Baunon embarked in the enterprise of publishing the Journal in 1829, and up to the present time conducted the pioneer newspaper of the Schuylkill region. As an editor he was not a polished writer, but his ideas were of a peculiarly original nature. He possessed great enterprise, and through his indomitable perseverence succeeded in making the Journal establishment second to none in the country, and far superior to many in the cities. In the retirement of Mr. Bannan, the public lose the advice of an uncompromising advocate of the right in all his opinions. The coal region loses one of its strongest and most influential advocates of all its enterprises.

Robbery and Murder,

ВЕГИLЕНЕМ, Ра., Feb. 22, 1873.- Мопroe Snyder, an elderly man, well known and much respected, arrived here from New York at nine o'clock last night. When between the depot and his residence he was waylaid, stabbed, robbed, and his body thrown into Monocacy creek, where he was found this morning. There is no clue to the murderers. Mr. Snyder had resided in this place for eight years. He was very wealthy and carried on the slate business on a large scale. He had been collecting money in New York, and it is thought he was followed from that place.

Murdered for Money.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 22.-Ira Bliss the station master at Burnside, was found in a dying condition last night between the depot and his home, lying in the snow, his pockets rifled of his money and watch, and his ticket box which he carries home at night was gone.

Two boys, named John Dynes, of Burnside, and Oscar Graves, of this city, aged respectively, eighteen and nineteen years, were arrested on suspicion of committing the crime. The boys confessed the deed, and were bound over this afternoon in $3,-500 bonds each for trial before the Supreme Court, in default of which they were sent to jail. Both prisoners are of noteriously had character, and have been concerned in several burglaries in that town.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Letter from Denver. DENVER, Colorado, Feb. 21, 1873.

Editor Sunbury American: Thinking you would be pleased to hear from the "City of the Plains," I will endeavor to enlighten your readers some by telling them what is going on in regard to the growth, future prospects, and surrounding beauties of Denver; and last, but not least, the delightful climate of the far West, Our city is quite lively this winter, but winter re is not associated with cold, as we have had spring ever since November last. House building has been going on lively, and we have had but few falls of snow. which disappeared as soon as it fell. Today a large new hall, costing upwards of $75,000, is to be dedicated, which is to bear the name of Governor's Guard Hall, in honor of a military company bearing the above name, causing the city to put on a holiday appearance, and closing up all pub- Jone, 1872, to balance on lie houses, schools, &c., the exercises will be of the highest order. Our city contains a population of 15,000 souls. Last year our city added to its permanent residents 5,000, and this year we expect it to be double. Our society is first class, churches the same, and a solidity in the improvements impresses one on his arrival, that this city will be second to none in the East, of the same size and population. Our people are of the energetic class, and to-day this city with her small population, can show more business in her day's, work than can one East of 50,000 population. Denver is situated on the south bank of the Platte river. Her streets for miles are straight and level her drives the finest in the world, and her turnouts, both private and livery, the finest I have ever seen, not excepting New York or Philadelphia. The streets are full of fine shade trees, and the city lit up with gas. The Holly system furnishes us with a bountiful supply of pure water. Under the Holly system we need no fire engines, but simply the attachment of hose to the numerous hydrants placed on the different corners for the above nurnose.

For scenery Denver cannot be excelled in the world, and in wealth will soon surpass all the large cities of the far west. The view of the noble Rocky Mountains. looming up from 2000 to 10,000 feet above this city, cannot be described by pen. Above our mountains stand the white cappod, lofty 'S ow Range," carrying its would be incorrect. If any one else holds bonds snow crust all year round. We see here they would greatly oblige the Board by presentsnow crust all year round. We see here our three highest peaks, viz: "Long's," "Pike's," and "Gray's," the latter being 200 feet the highest. The mountain scenery surpasses my remotest idea of what sub lime scenery should be, and in my opinion Colorado contains the grandest scenery mises to be the richest section of the country. Her silver and gold mines are yet in their infancy, and new ones are being disrecent discovery, paying for every ton of the 'Colorado Central," and I can assure you there are thousands of such mines yet class, and positively safe. Farming lands excellent. With such opportunities I canand let their capital out at from 6 to 10 per cent, when such speculations are offered in the West. All I can say is, to be convinc ed, come out and see for yourself. My next will tell you of a trip from Denver to Georgetown, through the Rockies, via Wells, Furgo & Co's overland stage. SAXE.
