THE KING BARBER SHOP

IS THE SHOP OF THE TOWN, and long has been; ask history and she will tell you. Men have grown old in our patronage—Babies on their mothers' breast—To bouncing boys at play; And youths by maiden fair caressed, To stalwart men with cares oppressed, And old men silver gray.

And among the honored and lasting impressions of time, and the crash of revolutions in circumstances, we stand as living monuments of the ingenuity and perseverance appertaining to the identity of progression, paying our vocation with the highest style of art and perfection, and aspiring to achieve the highest reward of merit attainable in our humble capacity, and the sentiment of respect and approbation which the presence of superior appliances and establishments always goes to inspire.

Always in place—We shave with ease—Cut and comb with taste the hair; Shampoo by hand with soothing care, And color the whiskers black or brown, To suit the people about the town. Then allow me politely request you to stop, And not go just nor from around our shop. To get shaved on the basis of ability—for as some have done for our use of the ballot for principle—sacred and right—nor under the common secret and invidious guile of emulsi to complexion; for the cut of a man's hair, or the color of his skin, ought not to affect his usefulness nor his qualifications. A fair chance is all that we demand, to give the proof to all the land.
