FEEDING FARM HORSES. - During a discussion on farm horses at a cinb in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, the following paper was read by a member: "The feeling of horses is an important point in their management. Many farmers would be great gainers by paying more attention to this matter. Some servants, when they have access to the corn bin, give the horses they have in 12.55 p m | charge too much corn. Many of them have erroneous notions that the more corn their horses 8.50 p m get the fatter they must be, and instances are 10.00 p m not uncommon where six bushels a week are 11.55 p m given to a single pair. Too much corn indisposes 4.25 a m | horses for cating other provender, and occasion-8.35 a m ally subjects them to serious disease. Four 9.45 a m | bushels of good, sound outs weekly, along with 11.10 a m | a few Swedish turnips or other roots, and plenty 8.05 p m of good straw will keep a pair of healthy farm 8.00 a m lor good order through winter, even though 1.30 p m lorses in good order through winter, even though 4.20 p m they be pretty hard wrought. If, then, such an 6.20 p m allowance be sufficient for a pair, it is folly and 7.20 pm waste to give them more. I., sold in that market the last spring and summer nine tons of rhubarb from a quarter of an acre of land. Owing to very sharp competition he only received twentyfive dollars a ton for it, or one cent and a quarter Everybody is invited to call and see them and a pound. This is $225 worth of truck from a parter of an acre, or $900 per acre. If it had not been for competition, and the rhubarb had been sold at former seasons' prices, he would have received at the rate of $1,800 an acre for this crop. This is by no means an unparalleled return for such farming. It is a result of a very liberal use of manure and labor, and of adapting crops to the wants of the market. A farmer uses fifty dollars' worth of manure and thinks he is very extravagant. A market gardener uses two hundred dollars' worth on rich land and regrets that he had not put on more.

HOUSEHOLD. VALUABLE HINTS .- Bolled Huseed oil will keep polished tools from rusting if it is allowed to dry on them. Common sperm oil will prevent from rusting for a short period. A coat of copal is frequently applied to polish tools exposed to the weather. Woolen materials are the best for wrappers for metals. Iron and steel goods of all descriptions are kept free from rust by the following: Dissolve half an ounce of camphor in one pound of hog's lard, take off the skum and mix as much black lead as will give the mixture an iron color. Iron and steel, and machinery of all kinds, rubbed over with this mixture and left with it on for twenty-four hours, and then rubbed with a linen cloth, will keep clean for months. If machinery is for exportation it should be kept thickly coated with this
