HERE is a true story of a certain earl, now living, who is a miser, and hoards bank-notes. Being at his banker's one day, he happened to take out his pocket-book, in which was a ten thousand-pound Bank Remington Sewing. M Co., of England note. 'Why, my lord,' said Remington Ag'i Co., the astonished banker, 'are you aware that there are only two other such notes in circulation ?' 'I ought to be,' was the quiet reply, 'for I have got them both framed and glazed at home.

Ticks on Lambs .- A correspondent of the Country Gentleman asks for a remedy for ticks on lambs, and here is the answer he gets:

"For 100 lambs boil up 6 or 7 pounds of plug tobacco, or twice that quantity of stems from the eigar factory, in 8 or 10 gallons of water. Put a part of this liquor into a tub or large kettle, diluting with water, but not so much as to 9.25 a m | weaken the strength so that it will not kill ticks. 12.55 p m Place a wide plank with one end resting on the edge of the tub and the other supported a little 8.55 p m | higher. CHANGING SEED.—A change of seed in agricultural operations is almost always beneficial. Growing the same crop in one locality from the same seed, year after year, often tends to deterioration. The advisibility of this change of seed from one locality to another, is the oat crop. Seed grown in the cool atmosphere and soil of Northern Vermont and Canada, is found to be more luxuriant when resown in the Middle and Western States, and uniformly turns out heavier weight to the bushel. If the same seed is sown For Mt. > HOUSEHOLD. COOKING RHUBARB.-Rhubarb is best cut in lengths, boiled in water and sugar, and served with boiled rice found the dish; or it may be treated like "Gooseberry fool." A little good cream gives it a delicate taste, which it never has in a pudding or tart. The following are excellent recipts for making rhubarb jam and maramlade: Cut the rhubarb as if for tarts. and to every quart give one pound of good moist sugar; put the sugar over the rhubarb, and leave it twenty-four hours to draw out the juice. By this method the pieces of rhubarb remain separate from each other when the preserve is lone. It keeps good a year if kept in jars welldried and in a dry place. For the marmalade procure six oranges, peel them, and take away the white rind and pips, then slice the pulp into a stew-pan along with the peel, cut very small; add thereto one quart of rhubarb, cut finely, and from one pound to one pound and a half of sugar. Boll the whole down in the usual way, as for other preserves. Made in this manner, it is nearly equal to Scotch marmalode, which is
