CARE OF HORSES .- The London Horse Book says :- All horses must not be fed on the same proportion, without regard to their ages, their constitution and their work ; because the impropriety of such a practice is self-evident. Yet it is constantly done, and is the basis of disease of every kind. Never use bad hay on account of cheapness, because there is no proper nourishment in it. Damaged corn is exceeding injurious, because it brings on inflammation of the bowels and skin doease. Chaff is better for old horses than hay, 10.20 p m because they can chew and direct it better. 11.50 p m | When a horse is worked hard its food should

If he can be persuaded to go quietly up to it, and examine with his muzzle, as well as with his eyes, great good will be effected, but this can seldom be done with moving vehicles, and heaps of stones or piles of sand are generally only alarming from defective vision, so that each time they assume timid animal. Sowing Sarbs .- The time will soon arrive for general seed sowing, and a hint or two in regard

Much that is sown never appears, and the seedsman is charged with selling old or poor seeds. Sometimes this may be so, but very often Leave Shamokin at S.00 a. m. 1.50 and 3.55 it is the sower's own fault. There is much more art in sowing seeds successfully than people Leave Philadelphia, 9 15 a. m., Reading 11.30 suppose, and yet it is very simple when under-

deep enough they will dry up and not grow at all. The depth must be determined by the size of the seed and the character of the soil. If the soil be light and sandy, there is not so much danger of seeds rotting from deep sowing as if the soil be stiff; and even in stiff soil the depth THAINS FOR HARRISBURG, LEAVE AS FOLLOWS: will have to be determined by the condition of Leave New York, 9.00 a. m., 1.00 and 5.15, the soil. Suppose we are sow a piece of oats, in Leave Philadelphia, 9.15 a. m. 3.40 and 7.10 land that is liable to become clotty, and this is the distinction between light and heavy land. If we can roll the land after sowing it would not matter much about sewing deep; but the seed would have to be harrowed in pretty well if left in a clotty condition unrolled. Indeed if the seed were sown on ground simply first harrowed and then rolled, in such land as we have described, many more seed would do well than if harrowed before rolling. In other words, shallow sowing, if the ground is well-pulverized and pressed firm, is more favorable than deep planting with a rough surface. Finely pulverized soil, with a well-pressed surface, is indeed the very best conditions for success with all seeds; and the shallowest kind of sowing, so that the seeds be firmly imbedded in the soll, is the es-

> LIME is one of the constituents, to a greater or less extent, of all soils that are capable of cultivation. All plants remove some of the lime from the soil, especially wheat, clover, barely, oats and turnips. It follows that unless the lime be restored, exhaustion will ensue. Yet lime cannot strictly be said to be a manure. It is rather a stimulant. Successive applications of lime without manure will only quicken the exhaustive process. As a means of bringing back run down land, lime alone is useless. Its action is to decompose vegetable matter and to render more quickly available the plant food that aiready exists in the soil. In this direction it acts like magic. It follows that the best time to apply lime is immediately after the application of a heavy dressing of stable manure, or after cooking soda and beat it thoroughly with the whites of three eags. Blow off the dust with a pair of bellows, or brush it out with a feather duster. Then dip a small paint brush into the mixture and rub it all over the gliding, into every tiny crevice, and it will render it fresh and bright.
