AMUSEMENTS
MAJESTIC
 Friday Night, May 8—"Within the Law."
 Saturday, Matinee and Night, May 9—Julia Sanderson in "The Sunshine Girl."
 Monday Night, May 11—"Peg o' My Heart."
"WITHIN THE LAW"
 After an entire two seasons at the Eltinge Theater, New York, where it played to capacity business from the beginning to the end of the long en-agement, "Within the Law," Bayard Veiller's absorbing melodrama of modern life in New York, will come to the Majestic for a return engagement Friday night. This play, which has for its principal theme an exposition of the police methods and economic conditions that exist in the metropolis, has excited more comment than any drama produced within the half-century mark. The minimum wage question now being agitated so widely is one of the important themes selected by the dramatist as the basic material of his play. The sale of seats opens this morning.—Advertisement.

JULIA SANDERSON
 Julia Sanderson, Charles Frohman's

newest and daintiest addition to his galaxy of stars, will appear at the Majestic Saturday, matinee and evening, in the famous London and New York musical comedy success, "The Sunshine Girl," coming here after the long run at the Knickerbocker Theater, New York. Miss Sanderson, who has been a prime favorite in musical comedy for many years and will be remembered particularly from "The Arcadians" and "The Siren," is now a full-fledged star with the right to have her name on the electric signs. Her instantaneous success in "The Sunshine Girl" in New York is by this time well known and Mr. Frohman is sending the entire original company here, including Joseph Cawthorn as Miss Sanderson's featured comedian, Flossie Hope, Alan Mudie, Fred Leslie, Yra Jeanne, William Sellery, Queenie Vassar, Florence Morrison and 100 sunshine girls. The music of "The Sunshine Girl" is by Paul Rubens, author of "Hook of Holland," and is conceded to be the most tuneful ever imported from England.—Advertisement.

PALACE THEATER
 At the Palace to-morrow William Shay and Leah Baird is being featured in a 2-reel Imp drama "The Sea Coast of Bohemia."
 George Hall is the author and director of the piece. Mr. Hall never wrote a more fascinating tale—one more rich in plot, incident and climaxes. William Shay enacts the role of the young artist, one that allows great opportunities for the displaying of his artistic ability and manliness. Miss Leah Baird does beautiful work as the young country girl, wealthy, but held in subjection by a villainous guardian. It is a part well suited to her strong emotional power.

 "Bohemia" is where love is, where romance finds a victim, where happiness reigns supreme. And even so, the young hero of this play, an unsuccessful artist, finds the sea coast of this promised land when he turns his back on the city for the country, for honest people and the open among the woods and flowers. It is a delightful romance, clean, wholesome, with a strong touch of adventure.

 Imagine yourself alone in the woods, painting what is before you. Suddenly a young woman rushes up to you, imploring you to marry her immediately, with the promise of a big reward. You remember her—of meeting her somewhere, some time—and she is beautiful. Being a man with red blood in your veins would you take a chance? Well, our hero does, for her eyes were tearful and her lips here red. The money she promised? Well, he was poor, but she was pretty. Robert Leonard and Hazel Buckham will also be shown in Rex comedy, "The Books Incognito" in which many amusing scenes are shown when Country Yokel passed off as a count. Nestor drama, "A Gypsy Romance" with Wallace Reid and Dorothy Davenport in which the faithful henchman is rewarded for his brave rescue. Willie Gibbons and Clara Horton will also be shown in an Eclair Juvenile drama, "In an Old Trunk." Max Asher, Louise Fazenda and Bob Vernon will conclude the program in Joker comedy, "Shnitz the Paperhanger."—Advertisement.
