

Dr. Brumbaugh Greeted in Upper End Towns by Big Outpouring of Voters

Republican Candidate Makes Whirlwind Tour North of Mountains; Meets Enthusiasm Everywhere; Certain to Carry the District

Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh will carry the upper end of Dauphin county by a handsome majority at the November elections.

That was demonstrated beyond doubt during his tour of that district yesterday on his way to and from the Gratz fair, where he spoke during the afternoon.

whelmly in favor of Dr. Brumbaugh that even those who thought themselves conversant with the political situation in the upper end were astounded.

At Millersburg The reception at Millersburg, a borough noted for its independence in politics, formed the climax of the day's campaign.

3,000,000 Men Engaged in Battle Which Rivals Battle of the Marne

Each Side Is Claiming Slight Advantage; Reports Indicate That Germans Have Turned Retreat Into Stubborn Resistance; Toll Said to Be So Staggering That Officials Hesitate to Reveal Figures; Rain and Wind Add to Discomforts of Soldiers

London, Sept. 17, 2.40 P. M.—In a dispatch from Paris the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that the Italian reservists in the French capital have been called for September 28.

The third day of the battle of the Aisne finds the hosts of the Germans and the allies facing each other along a line of some 200 miles stretching from Noyon, fifty-five miles northeast of Paris, southeast to the Swiss frontier.

The battle line proper extends roughly from Noyon to Nancy, about 150 miles. Here between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 men are engaged in a struggle that inferiority and strategic importance bids fair to rival the battle of the Marne.

Each side claims a slight advantage—and no more. It is known only that the German retreat has been turned into a stubborn resistance. The allies assert that they were so close on the heels of the Germans that the latter were compelled to turn about and fight to escape destruction.

Thus far death is the only decided victory. It is admitted that his toll already is enormous—so stragglers that official sources hesitate to reveal the figures. Rain continues falling on the battlefield and has rendered parts of it impassable for guns and cavalry while adding greatly to the distress of the men.

Conflicting reports of the situation in the eastern theater of the war are received from official and unofficial sources. The several German army corps sent into East Prussia appear to have pushed back the Russian invaders of that territory with great loss to the Russians.

In Galicia the Russian successes seem to be continued with the Austrians and Germans falling back on Przemysl. Enormous losses to the Austrians are admitted at Vienna to which city thousands of wounded are being brought.

The latest official announcement at Nish claims less for the Servian armies than have earlier statements indicating that Austria still has considerable forces available to oppose the Servians.

The most recent word from the Far East described the Japanese troops as struggling through the flooded north of Shan Tung peninsula trying to reach Kiao-Chow. There is no indication of an early investment of that German stronghold.

The Turkish army is reported from Petrograd to be concentrating on the Bulgarian frontier.

The final attitude of Italy is awaited with intense interest. Demonstrations in favor of the allies at Rome and other places have been suppressed by the military. Meantime Italy is engaged with the serious situation in Albania where the insurgents have been threatening since the withdrawal of Prince William of Wied.
