RIOTS AT KENSINGTON. Philadelphia again, labors under the disgrace of lawless rioters. The scene of operations is Kensington, and for the past week that district has been kept in a fever of excitement. Our Reporters furnish the following statement of occurrences.

Some time since the weavers of the city made a formal strike for higher wages as journeymen. They formed a Society, and adopted a standard of prices to be demanded for the labor performed. A number of the weavers did not think the movement a just one for the times, and continued working on at the old prices. The men who had struck endeavored to bring them into their measures by threats of violence, which in case of refusal they at times carried into effect. Things have been going on this way, marked occasionally with acts of violence, for more than a month back, but within a few days past, the weavers in Kensington who had struck, have been growing more and more violent, until Wednesday evening, when they assembled in mobs, and endeavored to break up the looms and cut the warps of some weavers who lived in the neighborhood of Front and Brown street. Sheriff Porter, on information being communicated to him, immediately assembled a strong posse, and repaired to the scene of action, from whence, after a short skirmish, the rioters retreated to the market house in Kensington.

They were followed thither by the Sheriff, who made an attack upon them, but the posse was repelled by a shower of stones and a determined sortie from the rioters. A man named Archibald Devolin struck the Sheriff with a club, and injured him so severaly that his life is in danger. Devolin, and a number more were arrested. It being then about twelve o'clock, the posse retreated and nothing further transpired during the night.

In consequence of the disturbed state of the Northern District, Deputy Attorney General Scott requested Mayor Scott, yesterday morning, to hear the cases of the rioters who had been arrested on the night before. The following was the result of the hearing.

John McVay and Archibald Devolin were each bound over in the sum of $5000. The latter was the individual who inflicted the injury upon Sheriff Porter, under which he is now suffering.

William Costello, Patrick McVay and James Welsh were each bound over in the sum of $2500. Barney McAleer, Edward Devolin and Thomas McConoway, were each bound over in the sum of $2000.

The whole were committed in default of bail. The burthen of the evidence against the above. was to the effect that they were actively engaged as belligerents; but againt Archibald Devolin the evidence was of a stronger character. It was proved by several witnesses that after he had understood that Mr. Porter was the Sheriff, he exclaimed with a horrid oath, "You're just the man I want;" and Mr. Porter then being down, the prisoner Devolin commenced kicking and beating him with his feet and a club which he had in his hands.

Yesterday and during the day, the district seemed alive with people, and parties of men, armed with clubs, paraded through the upper part of it, occasionally making some demonstration of violence, and both by word and action evincing a determination to resist the proper authorities.

vacant space around it, were filled with people du ring the day. A man, while talking to some others near the school-house, was set upon and beaten reverely, as also were several others at different

A part of the lower end of the market house was boarded in on both sides yesterday, so as to afford protection to any party that might take possession of it. At the lowest end of it a load of fragments of bricks were piled up. These, the Market Committee ordered to be removed, and a cart was brought to take them away ; but, after the cartman had thrown them in, a mob of men set upon and beat him severely, took possession of the cart, deposited the brick again in the place from whence they were taken, and then told the cartman to take himself off.

Alderman Clark the Police Magistrate of the District received an anonymous note yesterday afternoon, stating that his house was to be set fire to, in revenge for having sided to arrest three of the rioters in the course of the morning.

Threats were also used towards Alderman Potts, and he was obliged to close his house at an early and papers to a place of safety.

The state of feeling becoming so apparent, it was deemed necessary by the Sheriff to call out the Military, and the two campanies of German Washington Guards, the Garman Yagers, and the Monroe Guards, were under arms all day yesterday.

. General Cadwalader ordered eight companies of his brigade to be under arms at seven o'clock last November, endeavored, as far as possible, to soothe evening, in readiness to march at a moment's warn-

Up to ton o'clock last evening, no further decided act of violence had been committed. Considerable excitement, however, prevailed, and large numbers of people thronged the infected part of the District but it was plain to see that the evil had only been checked, not removed; and as they are well organganized, it is to be feared that the flame of violence will burst forth again. It was said in the earlier part of the evening that the Moyamensing Prison was to be attacked, his conviction, that Commodore Jones had attacked in order to rescue the rioters imprisoned, and a large body of men were, it is said, seen near it. The Mayor despatched a strong posse, under charge of officer James Young, but when they reached there the men were not to be seen.

THE CAPTURE OF MONTEREY.

The strange intelligence received here a few days since, by the Barque Anahuse, that Com. Thomas Ap Catesby Jones, the American Naval Officer on that station, had captured the Mexican city of Monterey on surmise that the United States had declared war against Mexico, proves to be literally true. The Madisonian of yesterdy contains the translation of an article in the 'Diarto del Gobierno' of Dec. 14th, published at Mexico, giving all the particulars of the transaction. Monterey is the capitol of California, and is a small village about a hundred miles South of San Francisco. A number of troops, under Commandant General Micheltoreno, were on their march towards the place when the following circumstance took place; N. Y. Tribune.

On the 19th of October, Commodore Jones ar rived at Monterey, in the frigate United States, accompanied by the Cyane, under Captain Stribling. As soon as the ships had anchored, Captain Armstong, the flag-captain of the United States, landed, and delivered to the acting Governor, Don Juan Alvarado, a letter from Commodore Jones, requiring the immediate surrender of the place, with its forts, castles, ammunitions, arms, &c. to the U. nited States, in order to save it from the horrors of war-which would be the immediate consequences of a refusal to submit. Alvarado, upon this summons, consulted the other military and civil authorities; and finding that the garrison consisted of only twenty-nine men, that the artillery was composed of eleven pieces, entirely useless from the rottenness of their carriages, and that the whole number of muskets and carbines, good and bad, did not exceed a hundred and fifty-he surrendered the place; which was in consequence immediately occupied by the Americans.

The articles of capitulation signed on the occasion provide that the Mexican soldiers shall march out with colors flying, and shall remain as prisoners of war until they can be sent to Mexico; that the inhabitants shall be protected in their persons and property, so long as they conduct themselves. properly, and do not infringe the laws of the United States, &c. &c. Commodore Jones at the same time issued a proclamation to the Californians, declaring that "he came in arms as the representative of a powerful nation, against which the existing Government of Mexico had engaged in war, but not with the intention of spreading dismay among the peaceful inhabitants," and inviting them to submit to the authority of a nation which would pretect them forever in the enjoyment of liberty &c.

All these things took place on the 18th of October. Two days aftetwards, on the 21st of the month, Commodore Jones addressed another letter to the acting Governor Alvarado, to the effect, that information received by him since the capture of the place, left him no reason to doubt that the difficulty between Mexico and the United States had been adjusted; and that, being anxious to avoid all cause of future difficulties, he was ready to restore the place, with its forts and property, to the Mexicans, in the same condition in which they were before the seizure. Monterey was accordingly, on that day, evacuated by the Americans, and re-occupied by the Mexicans, whose flag, on being re-hoisted, was saluted by the ships.

Thus terminated the three days at Monterey.

Immediately after the restitution of the place, The market house in Kensington, and the large | Commodore Jones despatched a letter to the Commandant Micheltoreno, in which he stated that he had been induced to invade California by the Manifesto addressed by General Santa Anna to the Diplomatic Corps at Mexico, wherein His Excellency conditionally declared War against the United States: that the capitulation of Monterey had been as honorable to Mexico as circumstances would pennit: and that he had restored the place and ceased all offensive operations so soon as he became convinced of the existence of Peace between the two Nations.

The commandant Micheltoreno, according to his despatch to the Minister of War at Mexico, received the news of the capture of Monterey on the 23d of the month, when he was at the rancho or farm of San Francisco, near Angles. On the following day, he issued to all the commandants on the coast to exert themselves to the utmost for the defence of their country against the perfidious North Americans, the declared enemies of Mexico, who had taken possession of Monterey with four ships of war and eight hundred men; and, with that view, to join forces at Angeles, by whose bravery he doubted not that he should triumph and sebour on Wednesday evening, and remove his books | cure additional glory to the Mexican nation. On the day after the date of these orders, the Governor received Commodore Jones' letter, in answer to which, he sent a series of propositions for the settlement of such of the difficulties as might be arranged there, leaving the question of the seizure to be discussed between the two Governments .-Commodore Jones, in his reply, dated the 1st of and conciliate the excited feelings of the Mexicans; and expressed his readiness to meet Governor Micheltoreno at Santa Barbara, without delay to confer with him on his propositions,

Things remained in this state on the 19th of November, when the vesse, which brought the papers during the evening. The decided measures taken from the Governor to Mexico, quitted California; to oppose them, doubtless kept the rioters down, at that time Commodore Jones had not met Mi-

The Mexican Diario contains some observations on these occurrences, the acrimony of which may perhaps, under the circumstances of the case, be pardoned.
