THE LEPROSY IN NEW BRUNSWICK .- A medical commission has been investigating the nature, origin and extent of the frightful and loathsome disease now existing at Tracacie, Tabisintac and Neguack. These gentlemen have decided that the disease is the Greek Elephantiasis; not the Elephantiasis of the Arabians, but the leprosy of the middle ages of that description, which the French designate the Tubercular, and which raged over nearly every part of Europe between the tenth and sixteenth centuries. The disease is contagious, and no Date enough to contract It has savet been cured.
