

DOMESTIC ROMAN DEIN REAL LIFE.—A scene of the most interesting was enacted on Friday before Judge Vanderpool. A respectable young man, a cabinet-maker in Norfolk-street, appeared to answer to a writ of habes corpus. He was accompanied by his son, a very handsome and well-dressed boy about seven years of age, upon whom he evidently doted. The mother, a good looking woman, was present, and had procured the issue of the writ for the purpose of obtaining custody of the child, as illegitimate, and thus under our laws belonging to the mother. It appears that about eight or nine years ago the father and mother became acquainted in Switzerland, in the Canton of Basle, where she resided. They loved, but he being a German was compelled by the laws of the Canton, before marrying, to give security that his children should never become a public charge. He applied to the father of the girl, who refused to become his guarantor, and they could not be legally united. Accordingly to the usage of that country, however, they pledged themselves to each other and lived together for a time as man and wife. The man finally left Switzerland for New-York, the little boy in question being about a year old. He promised to write for the boy and his mother, which he did; but she could not then leave her mother, and only arrived here with their boy in October of last year—to find that the father, despairing of her coming, had married another. She resigned the child to his care and sought employment as a teacher—eventually forming an acquaintance with a substantial dairyman on Long-Island, who, being first made acquainted with her whole history, married her, and consented to adopt the boy as his own. The child, however, had become attached to his father, who was passionately fond of him and refused to give him up—hence the writ of habes corpus. The Judge of course decided that the custody of the child (he being illegitimate) belonged to the mother, unless it should become a public charge. The scene on the surrender of the child was thrilling and the clung to his father and refused to listen to entreaties and endearments of his mother—while the unhappy father appeared almost heart-broken. He contended that the child being his and baptized in his name, he had a right to it, and intimated that he would not give him up. Finally, however, he and his friends departed, leaving the child with his mother, who at length succeeded in partially quieting his sobbing and taking him away.—N. Y. Tribune.

A NEVER CASE.—The Millerville correspondent of the Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer writes thus:

"There is one novel case which will probably claim the attention of the Legislature in a short time, of which, I suppose, you have heard no mention. I allude to the fact of there being in the city, at this time, a lady from Forsyth co., who has brought with her three fine, healthy boys, the fruits of one birth, and who claims on this ground some little assistance from the Legislature, as she is in indigent circumstances. Although I am opposed as a general rule, to the State's bestowing its bounty on such applications, from the fact of its setting a very bad precedent, yet as the present applicant is really needy, and has travelled some distance to ask the legislative aid, I am of the opinion that her case should be favorably considered, and some small sum given to her by the Legislature, with the caution that a jury gave to Sam Johnson—not guilty, but don't do so any more."

SMITH O'BRIEN AND OREGON.—The great leader of the Irish people, second only in influence to O'Connell, made the most noble display of manly eloquence ever uttered in Congress Hall. After treating on a variety of topics conversant with the business of the day he advanced to the present belligerent attitude of Great Britain towards America, and openly declared that Irishmen had sanctioned and sustained England in her unjust wars, and that such would not be the case any longer; then quoting the Edinburg Review, to show that the claim of England was no better than that of the Irish people, that if England should obstinately persist in wanting waste of blood and treasure, for the barren shore of Oregon, the Irish people should not be any party to the injustice; This is a most remarkable speech, coming from a gentleman of Smith O'Brien's well known firmness, influence and great property. This has produced a great sensation. Should Ireland be able to preserve an inflexible neutrality, England cannot, will not go to war for one year.—Dublin Correspondence of the Tribune.

THERE HAVE BEEN BUILT and registered in the City of Pittsburgh and its vicinity, since the commencement of the present year, forty-two steamboats, with an aggregate tonnage of 5,409 tons.

"TARRING AND FEATHERING."—The Buffalo Pilot says that a party of Millerites at Brandt, including a negro and his wife, were tarred and feathered lately by some of the inhabitants.

A LONG PREACHER.—Elder Knapp, the great preacher, on the 14th instant, at Pittsburg, Pa., prayed fifteen hours without stopping, it is said.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.—This medicine is acknowledged to be one of the most valuable ever discovered as a purifier of the blood and fluids. It is superior to Sarsaparilla, whether as a subterfuge or alterative, and stands infinitely before all the preparations and combinations of Mercury. Its purgative properties are alone of incalculable value. For these pills may be taken daily for any period, and instead of weakening, by the cathartic effect, they add strength by taking away the cause of weakness. They have none of the miserable effects of that deadly specific, Mercury. The teeth are not injured—the bones and limbs are paralyzed—no; but, instead of these distressing symptoms, new life and consequent animation is evinced in every movement of the body.

These Pills, for colds, coughs, tightness of the chest, rheumatism in the head or limbs will be found superior to any thing imagined of the powers of medicine; and in bilious effluents, dyspepsia, and in all diseases peculiar to women, they should be resorted to at once. These Brandreth Pills will be found deserving of all praise.

Measles. DR. SMITH'S ADVICE.

THE Measles appeared in Europe about the same time with the small pox, and have a great affinity to that disease. They both came from the same quarter of the world, are both infectious, and seldom attack the same person but once. The Measles are most common in the spring season, and generally disappear in the summer. The disease itself, when properly managed, seldom proves fatal; but its consequences are often very troublesome. Our business is to assist nature to throw out the eruption. Blood-letting is almost certain death.

Nothing ever discovered has done the work so gently and effectually as Dr. SMITH'S (Sugar Coated) "Indian Vegetable Pills." You need not fear them down, either.

CAUTION.—As a miserable imitation has been made, by the name of "Sugar Coated Pills," it is necessary to be sure that Dr. G. B. SMITH'S signature is on every box. Price 45 cents.

THE GARDEN. THE subscriber, editor and publisher of the Milton's Journal for the last sixteen years, has been engaged for the last year, in collecting the Materials for a work—for which he has secured the copy right, in the following words:—"A History of the Anthracite Coal Trade of Schuylkill and the adjoining Counties, Geological and Statistical, accompanied with Maps of the different Regions, the improvements, Investments, Capacity, &c., embracing a complete and authentic history of the present time—to which will be appended a Synopsis of the Iron Trade."

It is our intention to embrace every thing of interest in the work, connected with the trade, up to the beginning of the year 1846, prepared and arranged with a view of continuing the publication, at periods of five or ten years, with such additions as the increased trade will warrant. These branches of trade have assumed an importance which will warrant such a publication, and he feels confident, that with the proffered aid of several gentlemen and the statistics already in his possession, he will furnish the public with a work, which, if not one of the most interesting in its details, it will be of great value to those engaged and interested in these branches of business.

As soon as the Maps, &c. are prepared, and some idea can be formed of the probable expense of publishing the work, proposals will be issued for the same.

All the tracts of Coal land will be designated in the Map of the Schuylkill Coal Region, which will accompany the work.

PEREGRINE PIANOS. THE SUBSCRIBER has been appointed agent for the sale of CONRAD MEYER'S CELEBRATED PREMIUM ROSE WOOD PIANOS, at this place. These Pianos have a plain massive and beautiful exterior finish, and, for depth and sweetness of tone, and elegance of workmanship, are not surpassed by any in the United States. The following is a recommendation from C. DEVERS, a celebrated performer, and himself a successful pianist:

A CARD. HAVE had the pleasure of trying the excellent Piano Fortes manufactured by Mr. Meyer, exhibited at the late exhibition of the Franklin Institute, I feel it due to the true merit of the instrument to declare that these instruments are quite equal to and in some respects even superior, to all the fine Pianos I saw at the capitals of Europe during a sojourn of two years in Paris.

These Pianos will be sold at the remarkably lowest Philadelphia prices, if not some below. Persons are requested to call and examine themselves, at the residence of the undersigned, Sunbury, May 17, 1845. H. B. MASSER.

DAR IRON.—Just received and for sale by cash, by HENRY MASSER. Sunbury, Dec. 30, 1845.
