The Oregon Country. To the Editor of The Union ;

DEAR SIR : Having treated as fully as time will admit upon the general features of Oregon, and touched upon all parts save the southern district, we will now briefly glance at that, and then proceed to consider its past and present condition, and some of the causes that have led to this temarkable change.

So far as we are informed concerning the country from California to the Valley of the Willamette, considerable portions of which we have visited, it must be regarded, 'm a whole' as an uneven, hilly, or mountainous district well watered, heavily timbered, and the prairie portions admirably grassed.

The Umphqua valley is extremely verdant and beautiful, and a most inviting district to the agriculturist, as well as to the herdsman; but unfortunately, it is not of great extent, and the river is too rapid for easy or safe navigation.

Most, then, of this southern district, from its unfavorable surface and rapid streams, 'notwithstanding its excellent soil,' is better adapted to herding and manufacturing purposes than agriculture. Very possibly, from indications, it will be found to be rich in minerals; though of this we have no certain knowledge or positive proof.

The Willamette valley, then, must be regarded as the largest connected portion, and most important agricultural district of the territory, and at present the heart and centre of operations in that country-four-fifths of the colony being comprised within a distance of sixty miles in length, and half that in breadth. And here, where twenty years ago naught was seen or heard but the busy ofter, the working beaver, the timid deer, or bounding elk, or wild fluttering fowls of heaven, or savage men, mingling the war-whoop with the dismal howling of beasts of prey, now are seen the fruitful fields, the flowery gardens, the domestic herds, the quiet homes, the cheerful school, Christian temples, and the voice of melody and thanksgiving in that delightful valley.

Yes, sir, we now grow all the fruits and grains peculiar to the Northern and Western States- Lilly, have the choicest gardens, with vegetables of every description; and the cheerful prairies are enlivened by thousands of domestic herds, roaming at pleasure, and luxuriating upon Nature's own bountiful provision, both Summer and Winter. We now number, in all, somewhere in the vicinity of seven thousand; have seven gristmills and ten saw-mills in operation; five neat church edifices, some S or 10 common schools. one large academical institution, well conducted; four American and two English stores; a valuable printing press; a town, at the falls of the Willamette, of five hundred inhabitants; and a peaceable, happy, orderly people in town and country, living without brandy or alcohol, under laws of their own making; and in obtaining the good things of this life, they are getting forward most commendably.

Onr foreign commercial relations are not well established, and a circulating medium is much needed, as gold and silver is scarce ; but in the absence of both, for reasons to be assigned hereafter, our colony in Oregon has more rapildly advanced their state than any heretofore planted.

PAINFUL RUMOR .- There was a rumor at New York on Saturday, that HENRY CLAY had died at Havana, which was noticed by the Evening Ledger.

BRANDRETH'S FILLS by cleansing the Blood from all impurities, gives power to every organ to John Hart, Fredetick Haar, perform its functions healthily; no matter whether externally or internally situated. Nature has formed the bowels for the evacuation of all unhealthy humors of the blood, and if man would but use common sense, he would take care they performed this office faithfully. If the bowels are out of order, if too slow or too fast, a few doses of Brandreth Pills will bring them to order. Ask the man who was dving from constinated bowels what cured him ; he tells you, Brandreth Pills. Ask him who has had the dysentery for six months, and every remedy had failed ; he will tell you that Brandreth Pills cur-d him in a week. So with other diseases. Twelve Brandreth Pills rubbed down in a holf pint of molasses, cured a little boy of an ulcer of the face which was rapidly spreading to his eyes, and which a dozen doctors had tried to cure ; the poor parents would have given half they were worth to have had it cured, but every thing they tried did no good, un. til they gave it a tea spoonful of molasses every day, in half a pint of which they had rubbed down tweive Brandreth's Pills ; before the whole of the molasses was taken, the ulcer was cured.
