Love and Ambition.

THE LAST INTERVIEW BETWEEN JOSEPHINE AND NAPOLEON.-The divorce, for the sake of starrings with another, was, however, a fearful subject for Napoleon to break to Josephine. The rumor of her approaching degradation had hir a long time filled the heart of the Empress with the most fearful forbodings. Still neither earty ventured to introduce the topic which now filled the ears and occupied the tongue of all Europe. They dined together one day in the deepest embarrassment, and not one word was spoken by either during the repast. Napoleon exhibited marks of the strongest agilation; a convulsive movement, accompanied Schuylkill Bank with a heetic flush, often passed over his fen- Sauthwark Bank tures, and he seemed afraid to raise his eyes to the Empress except by stealth. Josephine was countly embarrassed and agitated, and had all day been weeping. The dinner was finally removed untouched, neither having tasted a Bank of Commerce, large morsel. Josephine has thus described the scene which ensued: 'We dided together as usual. I struggled with my tears, which notwithstandmg every effort overflowed my eyes. I uttered not a single word during the sorrowful meal, and he broke silence but once, to ask an attendant about the weather. My sunshine I saw had parced away; the storm burst quickly.

Directly after coffee, Bonaparte dismissed every one, and I remained alone with him. I warched in the changing expression of his countenance that struggle which was in his soul. At length his features settled into stern resolve. I saw that my hour was come, His whole frame trembled; he approached and I felt a shuddering horror come over me. He took my hand, placed it upon his heart, gazed on me for a moment, then pronounced these fearful words: 'Josephine' my excellent Josephine! thou knowest if I have loved thee! To thee, to then alone I do owe the only momenta of happiness t have enjoyed in this world. Josephine? my destiny overmasters my will. My dearest affections must be silent, before the interest of France. 'Say no more.' I still had strength sufficient to reply, 'I was prepared for this, but the blow is not less mortal. More I Berke County Bank could not utter. I cannot tell what passed Office of Bank of U. S. w thin me. I believe my screams were loud. I thought reason had fled. "I became unconscious of every thing, and on returning to my senses, found I had been carried to my chamber. On recovering, I perceived that Corvisart was in attendance, and my poor daughter weeping over me. Not no! I cannot describe the horror of my situation during that night. Even the interest which she affected to take in my enfferings, seemed to me additional cruelty. O, my God! how justly had I reason to dread becoming an Empress!

The fatal day of separation at length arrived. After the painful scene was over, Josephine in silence and sorrow retired to her chamber .-The usual hour of Napoleon's retiring came. He had just placed himself in bed, silent and melancholy, while his favorite attendant waited only to receive orders, when suddenly the privite door opened, and the Empress appeared, her hair in disorder, and her face swollen with Bank of Washington weeping. Advancing with a tottering step, she stood as if irresolute about a pace from the bed, clasped her hands and burst into an agony of tears. Delicacy-a feeling as if she had no right to be there-scemed at first to have arrested her progress; but forgetting every thing e se in the fullness of her grief, she threw hers If on the bed, clasped her husband's neck, and subbed as if her heart was breaking. Napoleon also wept, while he endcavored to console her, and they remained for some time in each other's arms, silently mingling their tears together. After an interview of about an hour, Josephine parted forever from the man whom she had so long and so tenderly loved. On seeing the Empress retire, the attendant entered to remove the lights, and found the chamber as silvet as death, and Napoleon so sunk among the bed clothes as to be invisible. The next morning at eleven, Josephine left the Tuilleries forever. Rev. Mr. Abbott.

INTERESTING TO SHOEMAKERS,-We have seen an invention by Jonathan Rossel, last maker, in Cherry street, which is of considerable importance to shoemakers. He has succeeded in making a stretcher, which will stretch any or all parts of a boot or shoe, by simply turning a screw. The screw, by acting upon a lever a screw. The screw, by acting upon a lever Morris County Bonke in a boot-tree, will stretch the instep, heel or Monmouth Bk of N. J. leg of a boot just as it may be desired. It is a great and decided improvement over all the inventions of the kind which have yet been used in the trade. Specimens of it have been left at the Franklin Institute, where those particularly interested may have an opportunity of examining them.—Phila. Ledger.

> OAKLEY'S DEPURATIVE SYRUP.

THE valuable properties of Oakley's Deputa tive Syrup of Sarsaparilla, as a purifier of the that it is unnecessary to occupy much space in set-ting forth the advantages to be derived from its use; wherever the medicine has once been introduced, it takes precedence over all others; every one that has taken it, have derived so signal beneficial results from it, that it is recommended by them with the urmost confidence. Physicians of the highest standing in the profession, prescribe it to patients under their care; containing nothing deleterious, but being composed of the most mild, yet efficacious regetable materials, it is offered with confidence, as the cheapest and most efficient puoffer of the blood now known. The use of a few bottles, especially in the spring months, will be at-tended with a most decided improvement in the geperal strength of the system, eradicating any seeds of disease that may have been generated, besides giving health and vigor to the body.—For the cure Scrafula or Kings Evil, Rheumatism, Tetter, Pimples or eruptions of the Skin, White Swelling, Pistula, Chronic Cough Asthma, &c. The numerous certificates in the possession of the subscriber and his agents, from physicians and others, are sufficient to convince the most skeptical of its sueriority over all preparations of Sarsaparilla.

PRICADEL PRIA, February 10, 1838. FOR twenty years I was severely afflicted with commenced when I was seventeen years old, and continued until the Fatt of 1836, varying in violence, but without ever disappearing. During most of the time, great part of my face was covered with the eruption, frequently attended with violent itching; my head swelled at times until it felt as if it would turet-the swelling was so great, that I could scarcely get my hat on. During the long period that I was afflicted with the disease, I used a great many applications, (smong them several celebrated preparations) as well as taking inward remedies, including a number of bottles of Stonim's Panaceu, Extract of Surseparitle, &c. In fact, it would be impossible to enumerate all the medicines I used. was also under the care of two of the most dis-I was also under the care of two of the most dis-tinguished physicians of this city, but without re-ceiving much benefit, and I despaired of ever being cured. In the felt of 1836, the disease at the time being very violent, I commenced using the Rose Ointment, (prepared by Vaughan & Davis.) In a few applications the violent itching ceased, the swelling abated, the crustion began to disappear, and before I had need a jar the disease was entirely cured. It has now been nearly a year and a half since, and there is not a vestige of the disease remaining, except the scars from the deep pits formed by the disease. It is impossible for me to describe in a certificate the severity of the disease and my suffering, but I will be pleased to give a fuller account to any person wanting further satisfaction. who will call on me. At the time I commenced using the Rose Ointment I would have given hunireds of do lars to be rid of the disease. (among them my mother, who had the disease badly on her arm.) who were all cured by it.

Rose Ointment, for Tetter.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27th, 1839. THIS is to certify that I was severely afflicted with Tetter in the hands and feet for upwards of forty years; the disease was attended generally with violent itching and swelling. I applied to a number of physicions, and used a great many applications without effecting a cure. About a year since, I applied the Rose Ointment, which entirely stopped the itching, and a few applications immediately cured the disease, which there has been no return of, sithough I had never been rid of it at
