Rip Engle and the winged-T are new innovations at Penn State this year, but the 1950 gridiron story will be the same as ever—nine teams will meet the Nittany Lions seeking to rub the Big White in the mud of Beaver Field and five other ballyards around the country.

Only two newcomers have been added to the 1950 card, with Georgetown and Rutgers replacing Michigan State and Villanova.

The schedule, from the first game with Georgetown at home on September 30, to the traditional ruckus with Pittsburgh, is calculated to give Engle and his charges trouble every Saturday. Pre-season writeups, the morning line of the football world, show no letups and some definite "hard ones."

Noted observers appear to have rated the teams on the Lions' schedule in the following fashion.

GEORGETOWN—Bob Margarita, in his second year at the helm of the Hoyas, finds himself in the unenviable position of losing 20 lettermen from last year's squad which boasted a 5-5 record and went to the Sun Bowl. End Bob Noppinger, All-East selection last year, is the team's big gun in the T attack. Margarita has two veteran quarterbacks, Frank Mattingly, and Captain Tom Hardiman, but will depend largely upon a sophomore line with veteran Bob Fortunato spearheading the forward wall at tackle. Gino Paglucia looks like the best of the rookies.

ARMY—Undoubtedly the class of the East. Despite the team being undefeated since 1947 and owning a win streak of 21 straight, and despite the fact that All-American quarterback Arnold Galiffa is gone, Coach Red Blaik and his Black Knights appear to be none the worse for wear. Bobby Blaik, son of the coach, appears quite able to take over Galiffa's position though he played in Galiffa's shadow last year and saw only limited action. Gil Stephenson, halfback, and Captain Dan Foldberg, at end, have already been selected on one All-American team—Bill Stern's Crystal Ball All-American for Sport magazine. Working with Stephenson and Blaik in the backfield will be veterans Frank Fischl and Jim Cain.

SYRACUSE—Floyd Schwartzwalder, in his sophomore year with the Orange, may have a hot team with Bernie Custis as his one man air force. Schwartzwalder, who brought his own formation, a split winged-T with an unbalanced line, to Syracuse, will have a hot hod in big Bill Wetzel, a fullback who has received rave notices. But, like many other schools, sophs will play a big part here with 25 listed for berths on the first three squads. A better line on the Syracuse eleven can be had after their meeting with Rutgers and Temple in the first two contests of the 1950 season.

NEBRASKA—State will be the only Eastern opponent that the Cornhuskers face this year. Rated as fourth in the Big Seven, but surprising no one if they do better, the Huskers figure to have only one man in the starting eleven without varsity experience. Bill Glassford, who starts his second year at the Nebraska helm, is depending on rookies to make the difference between a good and a mediocre season. He has seven first stringers back and a potential backfield star in sophomore Bobby Reynolds.

TEMPLE—Al Kawal will have 32 members of his '49 squad returning, but his two backfield guns, Paul Dubentzky and Bill Bernardo are gone. Gavin White, who played halfback last season, has been working out at the quarterback slot. The first string backfield seems to be White at quarter, Ed Bateman at full, and Bill Bonsall and speedster Nick Caterina at the halfback posts. Ralph Hanson, now in his fourth season for the Owls, is a handy man who is slated to see much action. Temple will also meet Syracuse and Rutgers this Fall.

WEST VIRGINIA—Art "Pappy" Lewis, erstwhile Cleveland Ram star, must rely heavily on sophomores in his rebuilding program in his first year with the Mountaineers. Lewis, who will guide the team in its first year as a member of the Southern Conference, has 31 lettermen back, but has lost 16 veterans. Bill Allen, who will work under center in Lewis' T attack, and tackle Joe Berkish, head the returnees.

RUTGERS—The Scarlet will have one outstanding man on the squad, if nothing else. Leon Root has been making everybody's pre-season All-American selections and is listed as a man to watch this Fall. Coach Harvey Harman looked over his smallest squad since the war, 43, in August, and found himself thin in offensive backs. However, he seems to have some promising young material, more now than in recent years.

PITTSBURGH—Len Casanova, who replaces Mike Milligan, comes up with the T formation. Though 19 lettermen are returning, he retains none of last year's offensive backfield. Guard Mike Boldin and tackle Nick Bolkovic are counted on to bolster the Panthers' forward wall.

Extension Of 14 Game Win Streak Is Goal Of Penn State Soccermen

Coach Bill Jeffrey and his 1950 version of the Penn State soccer team will have their eyes on one main objective for the coming campaign—the extension of their current 14-game winning streak.

Although Jeffrey has possibly lost All-American Dick Hannah, he will receive some unexpected help from another quarter. Gus Bigot, an All-American forward man in 1938, will return to State this year and be eligible for competition.

In addition to Bigot, a Venezuelan, the Edinboro Scot will have All-American Harry Little returning for action again. Little, captain of the 1950 squad, was picked at the inside right slot in 1949.

Beside Little, the list of returning lettermen includes Joe Lane, the Nittanies' leading scorer last year with 11 goals, Ron Coder, who gleamed at goalie, fullback Jack Yerkes, and forwards Clarence Buss and Ron Coleman.

Hannah might possibly return for another season, but Jeffrey said that having played a few minutes in games during his sophomore year, he could possibly be disqualified from further competition.

In addition to Hannah, Jeff has lost fullback Chuck Margolf, halfbacks Ralph Hosterman, and Will Kraybill, goalie George Lawther and outside left Ted Lieb. Hannah and Hosterman were both All-American choices in 1948, and Hannah received honorable mention last season.

Jeffrey, who took his team to the first collegiate soccer bowl game last year, and later piloted an all-star team in the World's Cup series in Brazil, must rely heavily on sophomores to fill in at the three halfback slots and as reserves.

For those spots he has his eye on newcomers Curt Klaus, Nugent, Yuksavage and Charlie Shilling.

Jeff anticipated a "fair team," with most of his trouble coming from Temple, Maryland, Navy, and North Carolina. The laughing Scot expects to pull no surprises, to which lacrosse Coach Nick Thiel, who was sitting in on the conversation, enjoined. "The only surprise will come when he loses another game," Jeff smiled unperturbedly, and it was hard to tell whether or not he thought that would be a surprise too.

Last year's booters tallied 33 points in winning eight straight and pulled off a last minute 2-2 tie in the soccer bowl game with San Francisco in St. Louis on New Year's Day. The last defeat was suffered at the hands of Navy

State Soccermen Honored In Guide

Not only is it not a Penn State publication, but from the way State is featured one would think so. All this referring, of course, to the 1950 edition of the NCAA Soccer guide, a book showing plays, rules, and pictures of top teams.

The coverboy is Ron Coleman, star of last year's undefeated team. Inside, a big picture of Coach Bill Jeffrey, and an article explaining the soccer award given to the Lion mentor are found, as well as a story on the State-San Francisco 2-2 thriller in the first annual soccer bowl last year.

Also included in the guide are the pictures of the Lions' Joe Lane and Harry Little, and a listing of last year's all-American team, of which Little was a member.

in 1948. Last season's victims included West Chester, Bucknell, Syracuse, Navy, Colgate, North Carolina, Maryland, and Temple. State was awarded the title of champion of the Western Pennsylvania area, and co-collegiate champion with San Francisco. Cornell was runner-up. Jeffrey was awarded the Honor Award of the National Soccer

Coaches Association of America, for "Outstanding Work in Promoting the Game of Soccer." He is entering his 25th year as head soccer coach with the Nittanies. Formal soccer practice will not start this week, Jeffrey said, but morning practice sessions will probably be held. He will be in his office during the week to talk to prospective candidates.
