

McBride claims USW victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Lloyd McBride, backed by the United Steelworkers hierarchy in the race for the union's presidency, claimed victory yesterday over defiant young challenger Edward Sadlowski.

Sadlowski would not concede defeat and his aides hinted that the election for top officers in the 1.4 million-member union would be unchallenged.

Based on unofficial returns gathered by his campaign staff, McBride said he had a 75,000-vote margin over his opponent. A Sadlowski spokesman claimed his candidate was ahead by a slim lead of about 5,000 votes.

An unofficial survey by The Associated Press put McBride ahead by 299,977 to 198,472 with about 4,000 of the union's 5,300 locals counted.

About 500,000 votes were cast in Tuesday's election, a turnout considered to be about normal.

The race to control the USW, the largest member of the AFL-CIO, was bitter. McBride, who had the support of retiring President I.W. Abel, called Sadlowski a stooge for "outsiders" intent on gaining control of the labor movement.

Sadlowski labeled McBride "a pathological liar" and accused him of being more interested in the welfare of corporations than the rank and file.

In claiming victory,

McBride made a gesture of reconciliation. "I want to assure the membership that we will work in harmony with all steelworkers and will do all we can to wipe away any scars of factional fights," he said in a statement released by his campaign headquarters here.

John Askins, a Sadlowski spokesman, declined to say definitely whether the election results would be challenged.

Birthright aids pregnant women

For the pregnant woman who chooses to have her baby, Birthright can provide emotional and financial support and counseling.

"Birthright feels that every woman has a right to give birth and every child has a right to be born. We want to find out how we can help a woman through her pregnancy," Birthright volunteer Becky Leggett said.

Birthright volunteers also try to help with personal problems. They also can help find baby clothes, furniture and other items for a child, as many of these items are donated to the center.

Birthright's responsibility is to the woman who wants her unborn child and has nothing to do with abortion, says Birthright Director Rita Kalinsky.

It isn't anti-abortion, but abortion simply has nothing to do with the organization's purpose, she said. If Birthright can't help directly with the problem, it can refer the woman to another agency.

In case a mother doesn't want to keep her child, Birthright can arrange for an adoption.

Birthright is an international organization started in 1968 to aid married and unmarried mothers.

The local Birthright, 108 W. Beaver Ave., has morning hours during the week and by appointment. Everything is kept confidential.
